Moose Lodge found guilty of gambling

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Liquor Control Commission found the Antioch Moose Lodge #525, located at 26020 W. Rte. 173, guilty of operating gambling devices, and permitting gambling at the lodge.

Lawyer for the county board and member of the liquor commission attorney Bernard Wysocki said, "Poker machines were found and taken by the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. The lodge's liquor license has been suspended for 21 days beginning one week from Thursday (April 26-May 17)."

Sgt. Gary Govekar of the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. said, "Detective John Byrne of our investigations unit answered a call of complaint about the machines. Six machines were seized, and are being held as evidence."

Scout House on the move

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Public Library Dist. purchased the property to the north to provide the room necessary to build a two-story addition complete with a gift shop/coffee shop to be run by the Friends of the Library. Not wishing to destroy the beloved Scout House, the Village of Antioch and the Library will have it moved to the Gage Brothers Park and Hiram Buttrick Sawmill on April 26.

"The (new) foundation hasn't been poured (for the Scout House)," said Kathy LaBuda director of the Antioch Public Library. "When the Scout House is set on the foundation, we have a $20,000 grant from the Schroeder Foundation to bring the Scout House up to code."

Bids for the construction of the addition and remodeling to the current library building will be accepted on April 30.

Alan Armbrust, an architect with Ruck/Pate of Barrington, designed the addition.

Lori Bruce, publicist and member of the Antioch Public Library Dist., said the remodeling project and addition is "a gateway to knowledge for business, for education and for pleasure." There will be T-1 Internet lines, and the "user friendly layout" will accommodate small groups for seminars and entertainment opportunities.

Bonds have been sold in the amount of $3 million, netting the library district $2,942,785.70 for the project.

"We've created a foundation (Foundation for the Development of the Antioch Public Library) for our fundraising," said LaBuda.

Those individuals, organizations or businesses interested in supporting the foundation should call LaBuda at the library at 395-0874.

Fire department issues warning after home fire

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

A lucky homeowner escaped an early morning fire in his home on April 13 despite not having working smoke detectors.

The fire occurred at 41602 S.

Pedersen Dr. in unincorporated Antioch at about 5 a.m. the Antioch Fire Dept. reported a large amount of fire coming from the second floor bedroom near the front of the house.

The homeowner met the crews upon arrival and told them everyone was out of the home. An aggressive interior attack was made in an effort to prevent the fire from spreading.

Fire Dept. Deputy Chief Leonard Sakalowski said, "The first engine company and squad company did a great job stopping the fire from spreading and quickly extinguishing the fire to minimize the damage to the home."

There was extensive damage to the second floor and to the basement directly below the area of origin, with the entire home sustaining smoke damage.

The fire was brought under control and crews remained on the scene until 7:24 a.m. checking for fire extension, and conducting an investigation into the cause of the fire. The cause remains under investigation.

Village board meeting to be held at larger location

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The board of directors of the village of Antioch voted three to one in favor of holding the May 7 meeting at the Antioch Senior Center that holds about 50 more people than the Village Hall.

Mayor elect Taso Maravelas wrote a letter requesting the location change. When trustee Dorothy Larson asked the reason, clerk Candi Rowe said, "The incoming mayor has dignitaries coming from the county."

Larson then asked, "Has a meeting ever been changed for this type of reason?" Village attorney Ken Clark responded, "It doesn't matter. If there's a reasonable expectation that a meeting will draw more people than this building will hold, it should be moved."

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug asked Maravelas, who was sitting in the audience, if he planned on conducting a business meeting or if it was just a celebration. Maravelas said there would be a business meeting.

Larson voted against the location change.

County planners seek input in comprehensive process

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Thirty years ago, the population of Lake County was at a comfortable 382,638. The latest census figures revealed 644,500 people call Lake County home.

Now with an eye on the next 10 years, the Lake County Planning Dept. is welcoming public input at a series of meetings. The meeting for southwest Lake County was held at Wauconda Township Hall.

"We are having these meetings to see what you would like in the new comprehensive plan. We are trying to gather information, for everyone like you has a vision for what Lake County should be," said Bill Hunt of the Lake County Planning Dept.

Two Lake County board members were in attendance and one staff member of Kane County. Also on hand were Grant Township Board member Nancy Nystrom and plan commission member Bill Brumbach.

Mike Beck, chairman of the advisory Regional Plan Commission which is gathering the data to be sent to Lake County Board members, said public participation is key to the plan's future.

"Lake County has such a diverse culture. It is rich with surrounding lakes, and there are skyscrapers," he said. "We at the RPC are volunteers, and are a resource for the county board," he said.

Beck said the needs of sub-regions that may not affect other sub-regions will be included in the final draft to the county board.

"We are working on a very aggressive, rapid pace," he said.

County planning staff members said the county is made up of 52 municipalities and 18 townships. The villages and cities have annexed 60 percent of available land. Still, about 80,000 people live in unincorporated areas.

Almost 10 years old, goals in a 1992 review, leading to the 1994 adoption of the comprehensive plan, included protecting Lake County's natural beauty and remaining rural character. These remain among residents' highest priorities.

"We are in a predicament. We are going backwards. There is no money for tax referendums. We have to find an alternative way to fund education. Density is what people are concerned about. We have to address the roads and the bigger journey to work issues," Jim Jackson, Wauconda Township resident, remarked.

Phil Rovang, director of Lake County Planning Department, said the department is asking municipalities how they would want areas surrounding their boundaries to be zoned. Many towns zone for the 1.5 mile legal limit beyond corporate boundaries.

"Annexation by cities has been pretty prolific. You are talking about thousands of acres," Rovang said.

Nystrom said her main reasons for attending included "preservation of natural resources. I am not against development, but it should be reasonable development. Not 200 townhomes on 40 acres. I care about the lakes and waterways and their responsible use."

FNBEO celebrates 75th anniversary

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBEO) opened for business in January 1926 as the First National Bank of Antioch and it has been moving and evolving ever since, and received a congratulatory award from the Comptroller of Currency for its 75 years of service.

"We appreciate this special recognition and are proud to be celebrating our 75th anniversary as a national bank. We are especially proud of our continuing commitment to providing quality banking services in a professional yet friendly way to our customers," said Ted Axton, president and chairman of the board of FNBEO. "Being a good corporate citizen is something we thoroughly enjoy and we look forward to continuing to serve our customers and communities in the years ahead."

FNBEO stayed in its formal building on the southwest corner of Lake and Main streets in Antioch until 1966 when it moved across the street to the northwest corner of the same two streets. In 1971 the bank broke ground for its current location at 485 Lake St.

The bank opened a second facility at 36044 N. Brookside Dr. in Gurnee in 1990.

In May 1994, the First National Bank of Antioch became "employee owned" when the bank's ESOP (employee stock ownership plan) purchased the majority of the bank's common stock. This purchase made it one of only five banks in the country to be owned by its employees. To reflect pride in its ownership, the bank officially changed its name to FNBEO in December 1996.

"It is a good feeling to know we have been a part of the Antioch area community for so long, and now Gurnee as well," said Karen Kubin, marketing officer for FNBEO. "We still hold the same values we did back in 1926, and that's to do our best to serve our customers and our community."

Since its inception in 1926, FNBEO has been a community oriented full-service bank through its involvement with service organizations, fund-raising and participation in local events.

For more information about the bank and its services call 838-2265 or access the web site at www.fnbeo.com.

Preparation is the key to a successful garden

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The timing is right to get out in the yard and clean up from the winter, prune shrubbery, till the soil, fertilize, but wait a while to plant flowers and vegetables.

"It's not that it's too early, but it's too cold," said Dick Hautzinger, owner of Floral Acres (the home of the gardening angel). "If the soil is cold, even if there is no freeze, you can get disease such as stem rot."

He added, "This is a good time to add soil amendments and to add fertilizers if the soil is not too wet. You add the amendments to produce bacteria that keeps the soil loose."

One product favorite of Hautzinger's is duck compost. He said it's sold in bags and is a nice product to add to the soil.

Janet Smith, owner of S&S Landscaping, said, "Now is a good time to be cleaning out the beds and mulching. It's important to prune out all of the dead wood from shrubs, and from perennials if it wasn't done last fall."

Smith said there are some hearty flowers like pansies that could be planted now as well as some perennials. "If you plant perennials, make sure they are hardened off or exposed to the cold so they won't die," she said. "Don't take something from a greenhouse, or that was started inside your house, and put it outside."

According to Smith, the biggest mistake people make is not cultivating the soil enough before planting. She concurs with Hautzinger that now is the time to prepare the soil with manure and fertilizers.

"It's easiest to prepare the soil now," she said. "The cultivating can be done with a rototiller, a spade, a shovel or a gardening fork. The depth you work the soil depends on what you are going to plant. For flowers, 6 inches is enough, for vegetable gardens go 8-12 inches."

Barb Schwind of Marty Schwind's Greenhouses said it is important to make sure that the soil preparations are done before buying plants. "When the soil is well prepared, then it's easy to bring plants home and plant them."

She added, "While pansies can go out early, you really need to wait until there is no frost at night anymore."

Schwind recommends doing a good job mulching once the plants are in the ground. "Mulch keeps the moisture in and the weeds out," she said.

For garden fanciers anxious to plant something now, a shrub or a tree is a good choice. "Put a $1 shrub in a $5 hole," said Hautzinger. "In other words, prepare the soil with a lot of amendments and that it will be there forever."

Agency on aging seeks Lake County volunteer for Advisory Council

The Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging is seeking a Lake County resident to represent Lake County as a volunteer on its Advisory Council. The position is to fill the remaining two years of an unexpired three year term. The primary qualifications required for this volunteer position are a sincere interest in benefiting senior citizens and a desire to make the public aware of the services available to older persons. Volunteers aged 60 and over are particularly encouraged to apply. Interested persons should contact Dawn Chapman at the agency by May 18 at P.O. Box 809, Kankakee, IL 60901; or phone (815) 939-0727 or (800) 528-2000.

The Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging is a non-profit organization responsible for developing and coordinating a network of services for older persons throughout an eight county area in northeastern Illinois. The Agency informs and advises public and private agencies and the general public of the needs of older persons living in the area, and acts as an advocate on their behalf. The Agency serves DuPage, Grundy, Kane, Kankakee, Kendall, Lake, McHenry, and Will Counties. Other information about the agency and other topics of interest to the elderly and links to other resources are available at the agency's web site: www.ageguide.org.

Thanks for a great first year working as your reporter

This week marks the one-year anniversary of my working as a staff reporter for the Antioch News and, for the record, it's been a lot of fun. The more I get to know about Antioch, the better I like it.

The people who live and work around the town are among the nicest I've ever met. Nearly all I've encountered are friendly and helpful, and that makes my job a lot easier.

It's rare to find a place today where family roots go back for generations, and a town's heritage is highly valued. It's rare to find a place today where people walking along the town's main street know at least 80 percent of those they pass - and take the time to greet them when they do.

I want to thank everyone who has called in with a story idea or to recommend a "Neighbor" for the paper. I'm always open to ideas. I want to thank all of the clubs and philanthropic organizations for keeping me posted on upcoming events and fundraisers, largely for the benefit of others.

OUR TOWN

I want to thank all of the schools staffs and administrations and the many parent volunteers who keep me informed and up to do date on what is important to Antioch's youth and those who care about them.

I would also like to thank the village and township employees as well as elected officials whom without their help I could not have done my job.

Again, thank you all. I look forward to continuing on as your reporter.

The PM&L Theatre will present a one-act reader's theater production on April 22 at 2:30 p.m. at the PM&L Theatre located at 877 Main St. in Antioch.

The director Fran Jansta adapted this work of Bradbury's, a sci-fi story about an electric grandmother, for this PM&L Theatre production. Bradbury lived and worked in Waukegan for many years.

The cast is made up of Antioch residents Trish and Fran Jansta, Dee Baum and Gene LeFave, as well as Dianne Hosken of Lindenhurst.

Admission is free, and the performance should last about one hour. After the show, stay for cookies and conversation with the cast.

For more information, call 838-1032.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Julie Murphy at 223-8161, ext. 600 or e-mail, jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

CLC recognizes election and award winners

During their regular monthly meeting, the Lake County Board of Trustees canvassed the April 3 election results and adopted a resolution to declare results.

Barbara Oilschlager, Incumbent candidate from Grayslake and newcomer Robert Anderson, also of Grayslake, were elected to a six-year term.

Rosa Reyes-Proseni of Beach Park was elected to a four-year term.

First year CLC student Piotr K. Majewski of Island Lake was seated as the CLC student trustee for the 2001-02 academic year. He replaces outgoing student trustee Rob Bradsaw.

Majewski is a Wauconda High School graduate and holds a 4.0 grade average. He is pursuing a double major in accounting and Spanish and is currently the managing editor of the "Chronicle" newspaper.

The board recognized four CLC award winners nominated for the Illinois Community College Trustees Association awards for 2001.

Art instructor Robert Lossmann of McHenry was named the recipient of the Outstanding CLC Faculty Member Award. Lossman was selected by a student committee who reviewed nominations of full-time instructors submitted by students.

The award recognizes his contributions as an effective teacher in and outside of the classroom, leadership within the college and community involvement.

A 1971 graduate of CLC, Lossmann taught part-time at the college for about seven years and has been full-time instructor since 1995, teaching painting and sculpture to a diverse community of students.

He has provided leadership in developing on-line courses. A professional artist, Lossmann has received more than 150 regional and national awards and has exhibited his work at art galleries throughout the country.

ABC 7 news weekend weather anchor Mike Caplan of Green Oaks was the recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award. The distinguished alumnus award recognizes the success and achievements of an outstanding student who graduated from CLC five or more years ago.

Winner Caplan graduated in 1984, earning an associate in science degree.

While attending CLC, Caplan was the announcer on the college radio station, WCLC, and played in the CLC jazz band.

Caplan continued his studies at Illinois State University in Normal, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in communications. He joined ABC 7 as a weathercaster in 1994.

Entrepreneur Roseanne Zink of Mundelein was the recipient of the Pacesetter Award. The pacesetter award recognizes a recent CLC graduate who has overcome obstacles and demonstrated academic success and continued interest in education.

Zink earned a certificate in food service management from CLC in 1998 and an associates in applied science degree in food service management in 1999.

She is co-owner of the Highland Park-based "Sault & Pepper & Co.," one of the largest catering operations on the North Shore. Zink is a single mother of three and attends CLC while working full-time.

Jennifer Gould of Gurnee the recipient of the Paul Simon Student Essay Contest Award. Her essay entitled "How My Community College Has Changed My Life," was chosen by a team of faculty and staff. Her essay will be entered into the ICCTA statewide contest.

The board also recognized George Fossell of Lake Bluff, a long-time mathematics instructor, as the recipient of CLC's Outstanding Part-time Faculty Member Award. Fossell is a retired mathematics instructor and former football coach at Lake Forest High School.

In other news, Chairman Richard Anderson announced that Dr. Patricia Pickles, superintendent of North Chicago Public Schools, has been selected to receive CLC's Illinois Outstanding Citizen award for this year.

She will be recognized at the annual commencement ceremony on May 12, when she will deliver the commencement address.

In other action, the board approved the addition of a 38-credit-hour Surgical Technology certificate to prepare students for the examination to become certified surgical technologists. The curriculum will be to the Illinois Community College Board for approval.

In purchasing, the board accepted a bid from J & J Contractors, Inc. of North Barrington, for $442,500 to complete renovations to the Physical Education Center.

In personnel matters, the board granted sabbatical leaves for the 2001-02 academic year instructors David Groeninger, history; Jerry Pinkham, multimedia and mass communications; Dale Warnke, economics; and Mary Winter, English.

Finally, the board renewed contracts with Magellan Behavioral Health to provide an employee assistance program through March 2002 and with Health Risk Management to administer the college's flexible compensation plan for full-time employees through June 2002.

DUI

Mark A. Frey, 34, of 919 1/2 Main St. in Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on April 13 at 2:25 a.m. on the 900 block of Toft.

While on a patrol, police observed Frey slumped over in the driver's seat parked along Toft with the engine running. The officer knocked on the window twice before Frey was able to roll down the window a little at a time.

The officer asked if he needed any assistance, and Frey replied that he lived across the street. He told police he did not have his driver's license with him.

While speaking to Frey, police detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on his breath. Frey told police he had been drinking.

The officer requested he turn off the engine and Frey put it into drive and rolled forward. The officer reached in, put the vehicle in park and took the keys. Frey refused to perform field sobriety tests.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he refused all chemical testing. He was additionally issued a citation for operating an uninsured vehicle. Frey was released on bond pending his May 8 court date.

No valid driver's license/warrant

Amy C. Bronge, 20, of 434 Donin in Antioch, was arrested for driving without a valid driver's license and on an outstanding warrant on April 11 at 5:55 p.m. at the intersection of Johella and Joren.

Police observed a vehicle disobey a stop sign as it turned from Johella onto Joren.

A check of Bronge's identifiers confirmed her Indiana driver's license was suspended. Dispatch further confirmed an active warrant through Lake County for domestic battery for $10,000, 10 percent applies.

She was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where she was put through booking procedures and issued additional citations for disobeying a stop sign, expired registration sticker and operating an uninsured vehicle.

Bronge was released on personal recognition for these charges pending her May 23 court date, but she was unable to post bond on the active warrant and was transported to Lake County Jail.

Suspended license

Scot A. Johnson, 36, of 39431 N. Oak in Antioch, was arrested for driving with a suspended driver's license on April 10 at 8:51 p.m. on Rte. 173 at Grimm Rd.

Police observed a vehicle cross over both the fog line and the centerline. Johnson told police he did not have insurance and that he had a suspended driver's license.

The officer ran his identifiers through LEADS and confirmed what Johnson had said.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for improper lane usage, operating an uninsured vehicle, and driving while suspended.

Johnson was released on a signature bond pending his May 23 court date.

Walkathon benefits American Cancer Society

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Jr. Woman's Club will be holding a walkathon to honor cancer survivors, victims and their loved ones on May 5 beginning at 9 a.m. at Grant Woods located at Rte. 59 and Monaville Rd. in Lake Villa. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m.

"This is a new location," said member and publicist Karen Kubin. "We think it will be easier for people to get to this location."

All of the money raised will be donated to the American Cancer Society. "This walkathon isn't just about one type of cancer," said Kubin. "It's to recognize all forms."

The walkathon will cover two miles of trails through Grant Woods, but one does not have to commit to walking the whole two miles. Walkers will have an opportunity to place a star along the path to honor those loved ones who have been lost to cancer. Those unable to attend the walkathon are invited to sponsor a star that will be placed on the path for them.

Amy Henning, president of the Jr. Woman's Club is encouraging the participation of Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops in the walkathon.

Donations for participation are being requested in the amount of $12 for adults and $2 for those 18 years old and under.

"We set the donation at $12 because our club had been around for 12 years when we started the walkathon," said Kubin. "We thought it was too much to ask for from children, though."

Refreshments will be served after the walkathon.

Anyone interested in more information about the walkathon or about becoming a sponsor should contact the Antioch Jr. Woman's Club health committee chairwoman Deb Kerr at 395-7805.

Teddy bear tea draws seven artists to Antioch

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

On April 28 from 11 a.m.-4 p.m., Josie Rizzo of Josie's Dolls and Teddy Bears will host a teddy bear tea party at her store, with seven artists available to give signatures and offer exclusive bears for the event.

"Last year was the first time I had one of these parties," said Rizzo. "Tea and cookies were served, and there were feathered hats. Grandmothers brought granddaughters, and picked out their favorite bears."

Rizzo added, "And last year I only had one artist here. This year, the artists have heard about it and they are calling me and asking if they can be part of the tea party."

Sandy Null of Spare Time Bears is one of the artists who will be in attendance. One of her creations has been nominated for teddy of the year.

Cindy Kalnow of Victorian Bearlooms will be in attendance and will be introducing her new line of bears. Additionally, she will bring a limited number of special bears created for this tea party only.

Heather and Stacey Stanley (Antioch Community High School alumni now living in Tennessee) of Memory Makers Bears will come to the party and visit with old friends during their visit. Stacey created a bear (and dog) called "Me & Pepino" using Josie's yorkie, Pepino, as a model for the piece. Only 12 of the pairs are being made, five are already spoken for and will be going to new homes.

Sue Van Dyke of Embrace A Bear, Jo Martenson of Bearfoot Alley will be in attendance. These two women and Kalnow are also conducting bear making classes later this spring and summer through the store.

Finally, Johni Jacobsen, an artist for the Barton's Creek collection, will make a special appearance at the tea.

This is a wonderful opportunity to meet the gifted artists behind the bears.

LOCAL DIGEST

The Board of Directors of the Village of Antioch voted unanimously with two absent to continue the April 16 meeting to April 30. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Village Hall.

The purpose of the continuation of the meeting is two-fold: it allows for the board to finish out the fiscal year, and the outgoing mayor and trustees will be recognized for their service to the village.

Board members tender resignations

Curt Denny and Jim Portalski, both long-time members of the combined planning and zoning board, and Marvin Oldenburger, a redevelopment commission member, sent letters of resignation from their posts to the Board of Directors of the Village of Antioch.

Oldenburger decided not to remain with the redevelopment commission since he opted not to run for reelection as village trustee. Denny said he was unwilling to devote the time necessary to remain with planning and zoning board since he is now retired. Similarly, Portalski said he had family commitments.

All of the letters expressed gratitude at having been able to serve the community, and thanked people like village administrator Tim Wells, village attorney Ken Clark and director of planning and zoning Bob Silhan for their efforts.

No replacements for the vacated positions were named.

Board supports post-prom activities

The A.L.L. Parent Network wrote a letter to the Board of Directors of the Village of Antioch seeking sponsorship of the post Prom activities. Authorization was approved granting the group $1,000.

"We've always sponsored these post Prom activities," said Trustee Dorothy Larson. "It's been a good way for students to celebrate in a nonalcoholic, supervised way."

Budget approved

The Board of Directors of the Village of Antioch voted unanimously with two absent to approve the 2001-2002 budget.

Trustee Barbara Porch asked if the mayor elect and the two new trustees would have an opportunity to comment on the budget.

Village administrator Tim Wells said, "The new administration will have the opportunity to look at this, and to make line item changes. This can be done through our appropriation ordinance."

NEIGHBORS

Name: Julie Murphy

Home: Spring Grove

Occupation: Staff reporter, Antioch News. It's my one-year anniversary.

Community involvement: Providing the best news coverage I am capable of for the Village of Antioch.

I'm originally from: Creve Coeur, a western suburb of St. Louis.

I graduated from: Columbia College, but I attended Knox College for three years.

My family consists of: My husband, my daughter, my parents, my two sisters and their families.

My pets are: Marvin, a black lab; Samson, an orange mutt; Mabel, a stray cat turned bon-bon-eating princess; Cielo, an azteca horse; Brass, a morgan horse; Matisse, a sun conure; Penelope, a quaker parrot; and the three cats that visit our barn on occasion for a meal.

What I like best about my town: The people in Antioch are so friendly and helpful. It makes my job a lot easier, and a lot more fun.

The secret to my success: I used to think success meant a big, prestigious job. Now I define success as always doing the best I am capable of in whatever I do, and being happy with that.

I relax by: Riding horses and motorcycles, camping and studying martial arts — all enhanced by the presence of family, friends and pets.

My perfect day in Antioch would be: They are all pretty good, but I prefer sunny days to gray ones.

Last book I read: "On Writing, a Memoir of the Craft," by Stephen King

Favorite TV show is: "Andy Griffith"

Favorite movie: There are three movies that I am happy to watch any time and all of them star Kevin Costner: "Dances with Wolves," "Tin Cup" and "Bull Durham."

Favorite band or musician: Jerry Garcia and The Grateful Dead. Jerry wasn't a very positive role model, but the music was varied and offered something for all tastes and the common thread of appreciation brought very different people together.

Favorite restaurant: Roditys in Greek Town

If I won the lottery, I would: I would make sure my daughter and all my nieces and nephews had money for college, grad school and/or a good down payment on a house, and then I would move to a warmer climate better suited for horseback and motorcycle riding.

My greatest accomplishment is: I'm really proud of my daughter

St. Peter Auctioneer's Night

It is once again time for Antioch's very own St. Peter Parish to put on one of its annual events. Like the Rummage Sale in June, and Footlights in November, April brings out the annual Auctioneer's Night. This year the big event will be held on April 21 and the planning committee has decided to deck out the school "Hawaiian" style. The night begins with a big Aloha welcome at 6 p.m. with a social hour. At 7 p.m. a buffet dinner, provided by "The Picnic Basket," will be served up to include tasty morsels like Beef Brochette, Teriyaki Chicken, garden and fruit salads, vegetables, dinner rolls and dessert. Dinner tickets are $12.50 per person and may be purchased at St. Peter School or Realty World Tiffany.

After a sumptuous dinner, the highlight of the evening, the auction itself, will get started at 8 p.m. as the auctioneer steps up to the podium and the bidders start bidding on all the fine merchandise available. Some of the items up for the live auction are: a one year Gymnastics Zone membership, Stanley Tool chest and tools, Toro Lawn Mower, Cedar Patio Set, Lladro figurines, a week stay in Hawaii, a week in the Bahamas, a trip to Door County, a men's Schwinn Bike, Jeff Gordon gear, a Hot Air Balloon ride, a week in Orlando and golf clubs.

Some of the items available through the silent auction include: Corian cutting boards, Turtle Wax gift basket, a microwave oven.

kitchen and bathroom faucets, Teenie Beanie Baby Baskets and a Pampered Chef gift basket.

There will also be an opportunity to purchase raffle tickets for free tuition for one year at the very fine St. Peter School. Even if you don't have a child attending the school, it sure would make a nice gift for somebody who does. The tuition raffle tickets are $10.

Now don't think that once the auction is over, it will be time to pack up the car with all your newly purchased treasure and head home—oh no the fun has just begun. Starting at around 10 p.m. the school will be filled with the music from the group "Celebration Sounds" for your dancing pleasure. So why not don your wildest Hawaiian shirt and your little grass hula skirt for a night of fun under the palm trees.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Tree pick-up set for Williams Park

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

As is tradition in Antioch on Arbor Day, 800 free Austrian Pine seedlings will be distributed to the residents who have reserved them. This year, the trees can be picked up on Arbor Day at the pavilion at Williams Park from 10 a.m. - noon.

The Arbor Day celebration will take place at the Metra Station from 9 a.m. - noon. National Junior Honor Society members of the Antioch Upper Grade School will help with planting, mulching and general clean up.

Village employee Tom Dvorak is credited by parks and recreation director Laurie Stahl for both doing a good deal of the ground work for this year's event, and for soliciting the help of the Antioch Garden Club in helping to plant flower beds.

Dominos Pizza and Big Bites, both in Antioch, will provide pizza and hot dogs to volunteers.

FOOT NOTES

Dr. Lee M. Tisa, Podiatrist

FACTS ABOUT BUNIONS

Both men and women can develop a bunion. A bunion is a swelling or enlargement of the large toe joint on the inner side of the foot. The deformity usually develops gradually and continues to develop until it will cause pain from shoes rubbing against the enlarged bone. There may be swelling, redness and a deep aching pain associated with the bunion joint causing a bursitis.

Bunions develop from a weakness in the bone structure of your foot. Because the instability of the bones and ligaments which form various joints and arches in your foot, the joints have a tendency to move out of proper alignment. There is also a strong hereditary tendency to develop this deformity. Bunion deformities can be seen in very young children as well as the adult population. Bunions are not caused by improper shoe gear, but are significantly aggravated by improperly fitting shoes which place an unusual degree of pressure at the bunion joint. As the bunion becomes more severe, the joint moves out of proper alignment and eventually arthritis will damage the joint. Several treatment options are available which help in controlling the cause of the bunion deformity so that symptoms do not arise or become more severe. These include alteration of shoe gear, prescription orthotics. If the bunion deformity becomes progressively worse, surgery may be recommended. If you are suffering from this condition, feel free to contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a no-cost consultation to discuss your condition.

The Grant Jr. Bulldog's participated in the McHenry boys basketball tournament for sixth through eighth-grade levels.

The Jr. Bulldog sixth-graders finished fourth, the seventh-grade 1-4, and the eighth-grade 3-2 in the round-robin format. There was a free-throw and three-point shooting contest. Jr. Bulldog Mike Shields from St. Bede's school claimed the title after making 19-of-20. Meanwhile, Justin Miller of Stanton school took the title in the three-point shooting contest, converting on 11-of-30 attempts. The Grant Township Amateur Athletic Association (GTAAA) would like to thank coaches Dan Miller, Ed Jager and Ron Stochl for their commitment and dedication towards the Jr. Bulldogs.

Olympic Bronze medalist and World Champion diver Wendy Williams will address the topic of depression at The Athlete's Foot store in Gurnee Mills on April 28 from 12 noon-1:30 p.m.

Depression is a clinical condition that affects over 20 million Americans each year.

Through sharing her personal experience with depression, Williams hopes to de-stigmatize this serious, yet underrecognized condition.

Attendees will have the opportunity to speak about depression with a Chicago-based physician, join Williams in participating in a group exercise routine and receive a free backpack, including information about depression and gifts from the program sponsors.

For more information about this topic and its treatments, please call the Minds in Motion Depression Awareness hotline at 1-800-890-1100.

With the golfing season upon us, outings seem to be the buzz word.

The College of Lake County Foundation is presenting the Joan Legat Memorial Golf Outing slated for Thursday, May 24 at Thunderhawk Golf Club off Lewis Ave. in Beach Park.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the CLC Foundation Scholarship Fund.

The itinerary includes a scramble format, awards reception, contest prizes, door prizes, hors d'oeuvres, cocktails, a silent auction and an evening cookout.

Winning members of each flight team (three flights) will receive the popular Titeist Scotty Cameron putter.

Registration for the event will begin at 10 a.m., followed by lunch at 11. A shotgun start for golf will commence at 12 noon, with cookout, awards reception and silent auction taking place at 5:30 p.m.

The donation is $250 per person ($1,000 for a foursome). For the reception only, the cost is $50 per person.

Play is limited, so please respond early. Interested parties can register by calling 543-2400. You must R.S.V.P. by May 11. May 31 has been designated the rain date.

Speaking of CLC, the athletic department has announced it has coaching openings for men's basketball, men's tennis, women's tennis and women's volleyball. Interested parties should contact Athletic Director Gene Hanson at 543-2046.

Also, Opening Day ceremonies for the Grayslake Youth Baseball will take place Saturday, April 19 for the in-house 13-year-old travelling teams. The Grand Opening Day will take place Sat., April 28 at 9:45 a.m. at Jaycee Park in Grayslake.

Sequoit boys starting to click on all cylinders

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

After two wins, two postponements, and a tournament victory in their last five outings, the wheels on the boys tennis teams train are beginning to move rapidly in a positive direction.

On April 11, the Sequoits match against Johnsburg was cancelled due to weather. The following day, Antioch defeated the North Chicago Warhawks 5-0. Two days later, the team hosted the Antioch Quad consisting of four teams; Antioch, St. Edwards, Rockford East and North Shore Country Day.

The Sequoits took first-place in the quad, edging out St. Edwards 12-11. North Shore Country Day finished third with Rockford East bringing up the rear.

"We had a strong showing. Our singles players went 3-0 and we went 2-1 last being the set that closed the tournament and gave us a win over St. Edwards," said senior Buzz Leffelman.

The Sequoits earned their 12 points with their No. 1 and 2 singles players - each posting 3-0 victories. The remaining six points came in the fashion of all three doubles teams winning 2-1.

"The doubles did a good job after losing a match and then coming back. They showed good toughness," said No. 1 singles player Jason Love.

Love, who has played at the No. 1 spot the last two seasons, believes that his game is beginning to come around and that he is playing a higher quality of tennis as of late.

"I think I played well (in the quad)," he said. "I did a good job staying tough all three matches."

On April 17, the Sequoits swept the Round Lake Panthers, 5-0.

Love won his match 6-0, 6-0 by making few mistakes in dominating his opponent. Number 2 singles player Mike Baba followed in Love's footsteps, shutting out his opponent 6-0, 6-0.

The No. 1 doubles team of Leffelman and Nelson also overwhelmed their counterparts by winning with ease, 6-1, 6-0.

More important than these three victories is what lies ahead. On April 19, the Sequoits will do battle with Lake Forest, the top-ranked team in the county.

Lake Forest brings to the table a dominating singles game as well as a strong doubles game in their quest for state glory. Playing number one for Lake Forest is Brian Stecko.

"Playing against Stecko I think I have a good shot at winning," said Love, who qualified for the state tournament last year and believes that the match against Lake Forest will be a defining point in the early stages of the season.

"Playing against Lake Forest is always a good measuring stick," he added.

We're going into (the match) with the idea that we think we can play with anybody. We'll see what happens."

The match kicks off at 4:30 p.m. in Antioch. The Sequoits will then host Grant in a NSC crossover match April 20, also beginning at 4:30.

Bad back and all, Sequoits Malec stays hot

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

Like clockwork, when junior ace Chris Malec hit the mound April 17 against Lake Forest, the only thing the Scout hitters had to look forward to was the heated bus and the long ride home. The young Antioch ballclub beat Lake Forest by the slimmest of margins, 2-1.

The Scouts weren't the only one's effectively being retired. Chris Hayes of Lake Forest sent Antioch to the bench more times than not, giving up only four hits in his seven-inning outing.

The game remained scoreless until the third inning when sophomore Scott Coles got the first hit for the Sequoits. The next batter junior Trent Domel was hit by a Hayes pitch, putting runners on first and second with no outs. After a Finkelberg fly out, Coles advanced to third with one out to put runners at the corners. Justin Kent then laid a textbook bunt down the first base side, scoring Coles from third.

A strikeout by Hayes left two runners stranded and ended the inning for Antioch.

After blanking Lake Forest once again in the top of the fourth, the Sequoits put the leadoff man aboard in the bottom of the frame on a base hit from junior Sean Schuler. After two straight fly outs, Coles beat out an infield hit to put runners on first and second with two outs. Domel lined a single into right field, scoring Schuler from second giving Antioch a 2-0 advantage.

"I had a 1-2 count and I was just trying to put the ball in play with two outs," said Domel.

Lake Forest would score its lone run in the top of the fifth when Malec (6-0) walked in a run. Malec pulled a muscle in his back while batting. Head coach Paul Petty questioned removing him from the game but opted to leave his lefty in.

With hurt back and all, Malec came through for Antioch. He fanned the first two hitters but gave up a base hit to the third. The next batter grounded out to end any threat.

After retiring the side 1-2-3 in the bottom of the sixth, junior Chris Kocinski came on to finish the game for the Sequoits on the mound. Malec's line included giving up only four hits and one run in six innings of work. He also fanned eight while giving out four free passes.

"Malec really stepped up. His back was hurting bad in the sixth-inning but he still threw hard - he just bared down and got it done," said Kent.

Kocinski preserved the win for Malec and earned the save for himself by fanning two of the three batters he faced in the seventh.

"He (Malec) had a sore back muscle and it showed in the sixth. Kocinski came in and did exactly what we asked of him," said Petty.

The Sequoits travel to Libertyville April 21 for a double header with the first game beginning at 10:30 a.m.

The right direction

The Antioch volleyball team is just beginning to make the impact in the county that they had expected to make from the start of the season.

After losing several matches early in the season to beatable teams, Antioch has showed improvement in their play as well as their record. They currently have a 6-9 record to go

'Passing was our biggest problem (at County). When you don't pass, it makes it hard to win'

ACHS head coach

along with a ninth-place finish in the Lake County Invitational the weekend of April 13-14.

"Passing was our biggest problem (at County). When you don't pass, it makes it hard to win," said head coach Heather Coleman.

The Sequoits most recent loss came to a Mundelein team that has played exceptionally well this season. They won the first set 15-9 before dropping the next two by scores of 11-15 and 11-15.

ACHS then faced Stevenson High School earlier in the week.

However, scores were unavailable at press time. They will do battle against Waukegan High School on April 19 beginning at 6 p.m.

Despite losing to the Bulldogs in the County Invite, Coleman believes that this game will yield a different result.

"When we play them (Waukegan) this time, we'll have a different lineup. Our new lineup is just starting to work and we're really beginning to mesh - the result should be a little different this time," said Coleman.

COLLEGE REPORT

AREA ATHLETES MAKING THE GRADE

Augustana College
Baseball

Former Antioch Sequoia Reggie Hughes belted an eighth-inning home run as the Vikings men's baseball team bombed Millikin 12-2 in CCIW action. For the season, Hughes has six hits, including a homer, to go along with five RBIs. Defensively, Hughes has 19 putouts while maintaining a 1.000 fielding percentage. The Vikings are currently 21-8 overall and 7-4 in the College Conference of Illinois & Wisconsin.

Mens golf

Libertyville native and former Wildcat Brian Sayers fired rounds of 77-77 as the Vikings men's golf team finished second (598) in the 20-team Buena Vista Classic in Spencer, Iowa. For his first 10 rounds of competition this spring, Sayers is averaging 79.7, including a season-beat 73.

Elmhurst College
Men's track and field

Former Wauconda Bulldog and Island Lake resident John Hartmann automatically qualified for the NCAA Division III National Tournament after taking first-place at last week's Chicagoland Track and Field Championships. Hartmann's jump of 6-feet, 9.5 inches ranks him third on the Bluejays all-time list. As a team, the Bluejays finished placed fifth while the women's squad was 11th in the 16-team event.

Meanwhile, Al Connelly of Mundelein is a returning member of the men's track and field team. Connelly, a junior middle distance runner, is a computer science major.

This year, he earned all-conference honors in cross country after placing 11th. Connelly has thus far earned three varsity letters in cross country and two in track. He also voluntarily creates and updates the Elmhurst College track and cross country team web pages.

While at Mundelein High, Connelly participated in track and cross country.

He is the son of Joe and Rosa Connelly of Mundelein.

Joining Connelly is new track team member Peter Bebbber of Island Lake. Bebbber is also a graduate of Wauconda High School. He is a freshman pole vaulter. He competed in cross country and track during high school.

He is the son of Thomas and Mary Ellen Bebbber of Island Lake.

University of Wisconsin-Whitewater

The Warhawk men's track and field team finished fifth (71 points) in the 19-team Washington University (Missouri) Invitational. Antioch's Paul Arnold, a freshman, finished eighth in the long jump (19 feet, 10.5 inches).

Women's softball

Stevenson grad and Vernon Hills native Jen Weller went 2-for-4 with two runs scored as the Lady Bluejay women's softball team edged Augustana College, 6-2 in CCIW action.

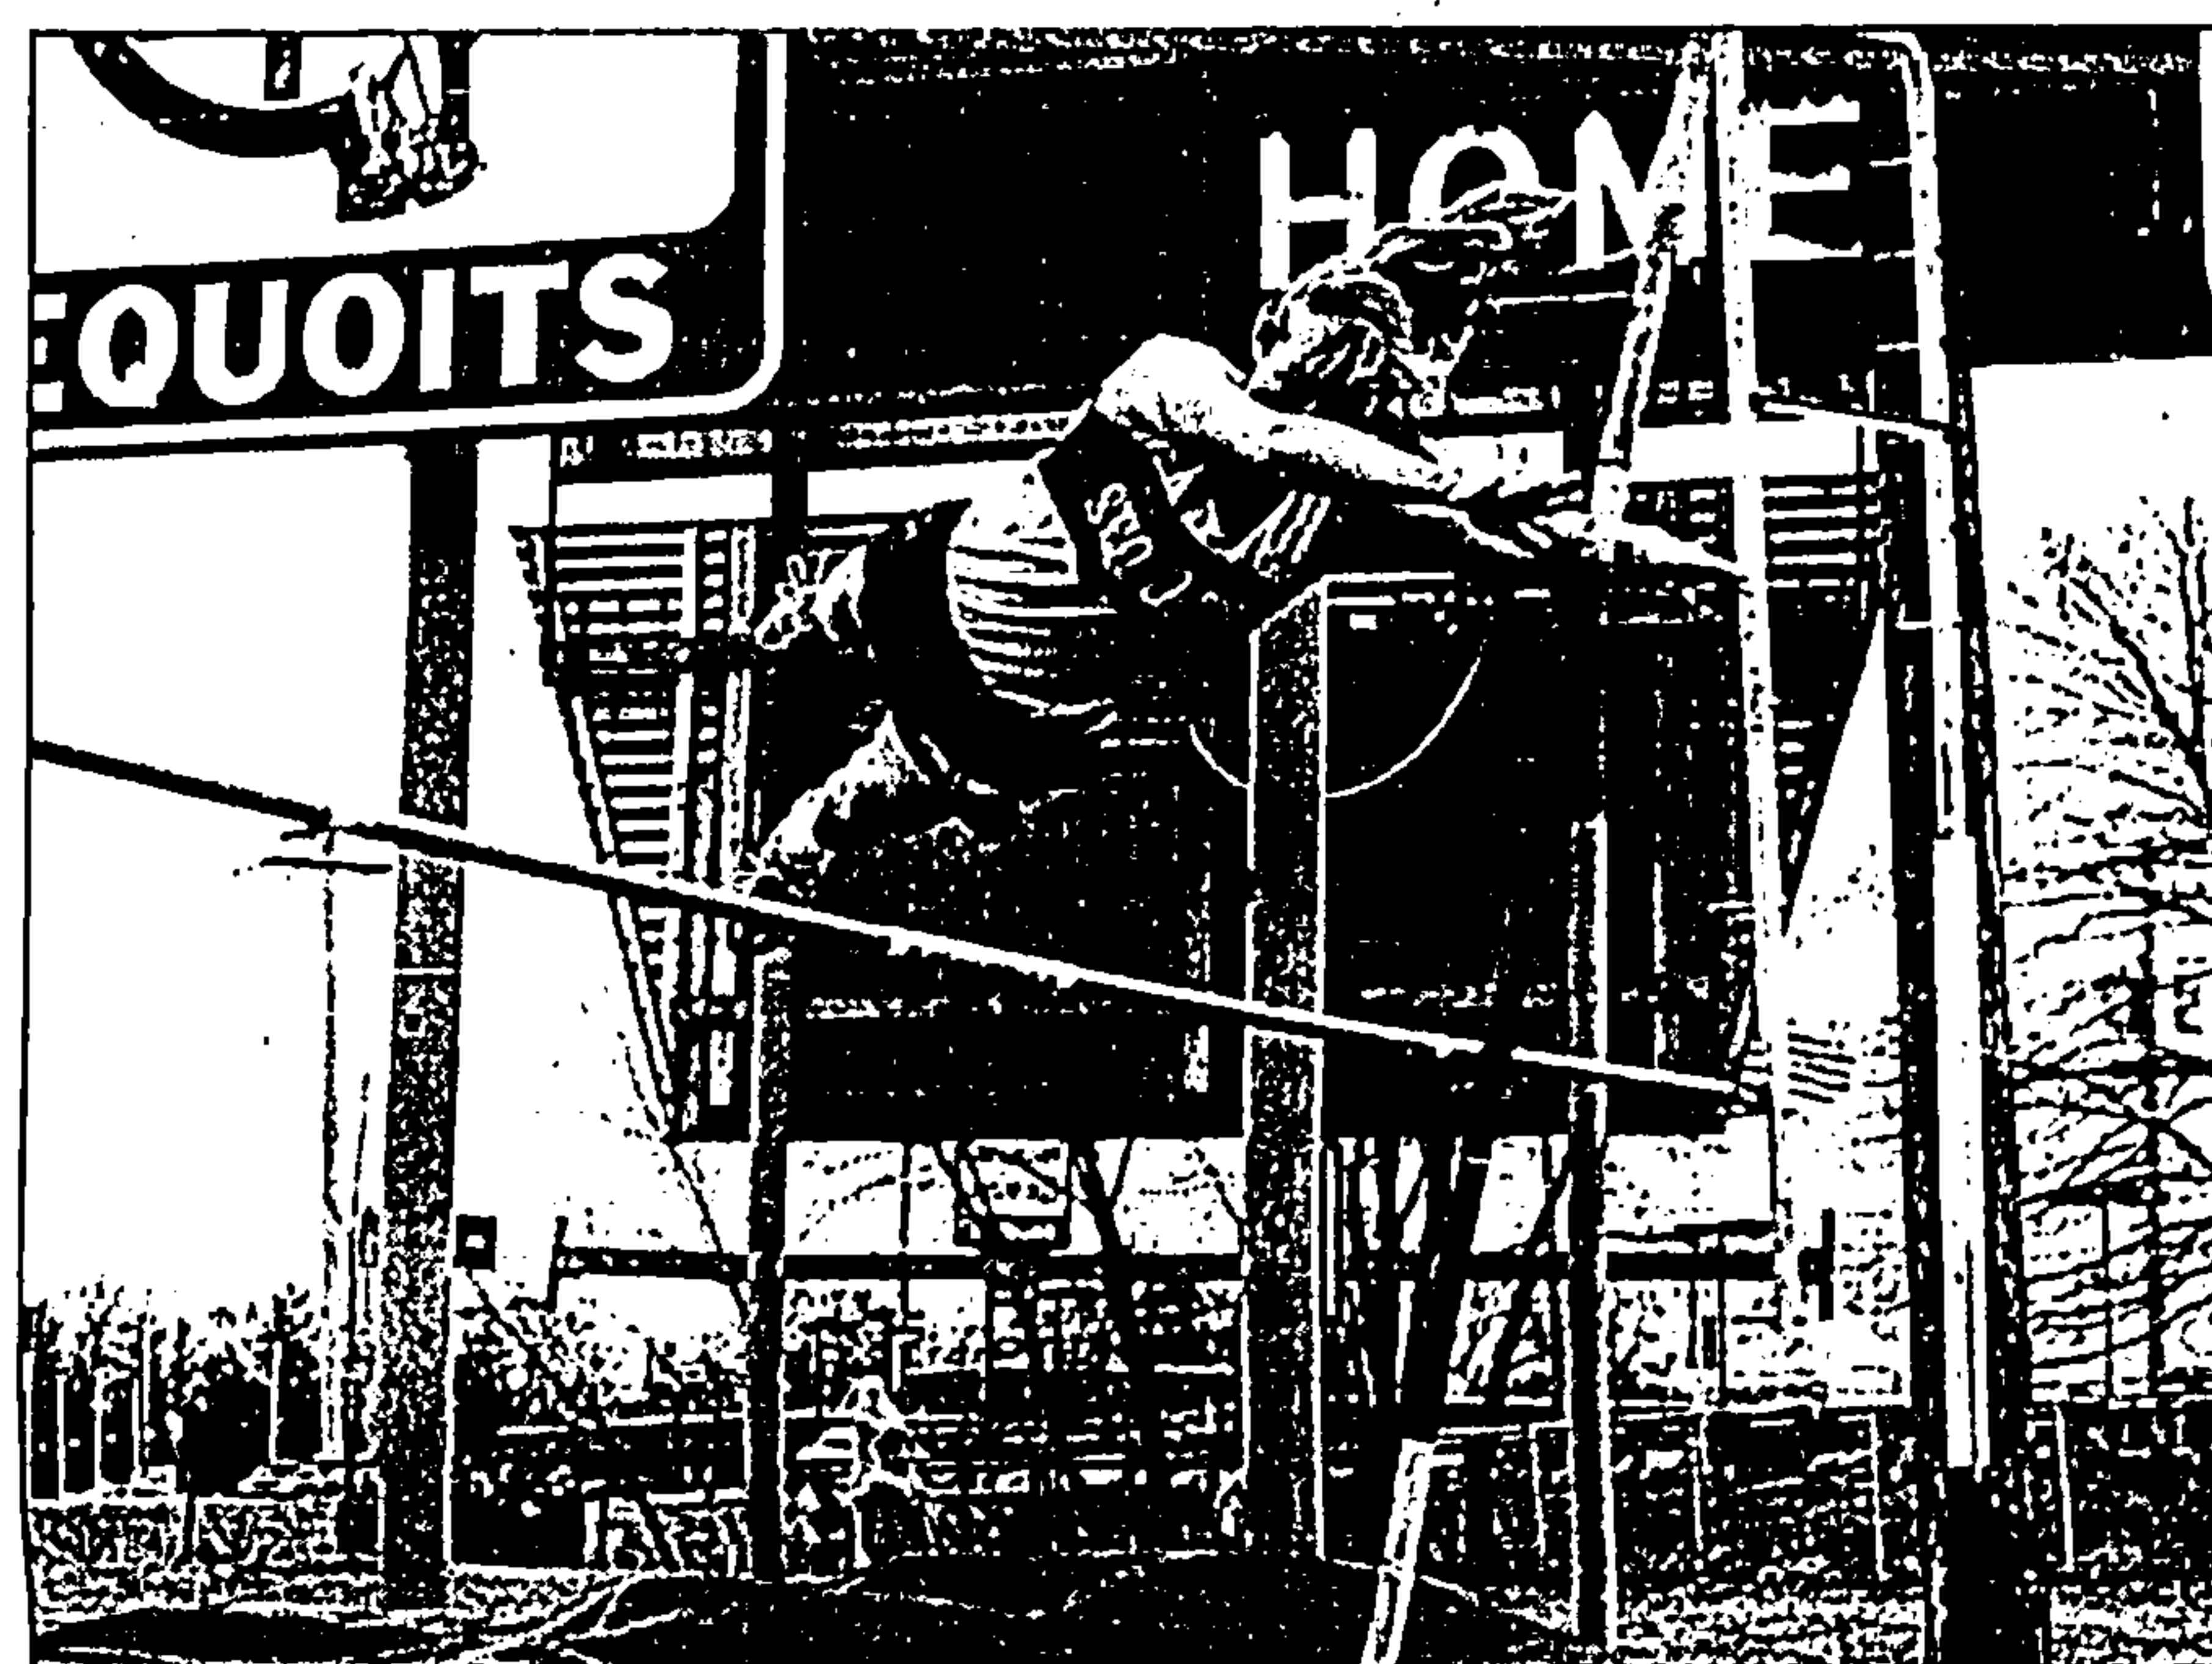

William Penn University

Libertyville's Mike Osmund (junior,

Libertyville H.S.) smacked a three-run triple to go along with an RBI single as the Statesmen men's baseball team cruised past Upper Iowa 14-1 in the second game of a doubleheader last weekend. The Statesmen improved to 14-12 overall and to 5-3 in the league. Upper Iowa fell to 13-11 overall and to 5-3 in the Iowa Conference. Penn, coached by Mike Laird, hosts Coe College April 19 at 3:30 p.m. for a conference doubleheader.

News and Notes

A reminder that former Grayslake High standout tennis player Sarah Lesinski will be officially inducted on to the Rams Wall of Fame May 23. Lesinski was a four-time conference champion at No. 1 singles. She was also a three-time state qualifier and picked up a sectional title along the way. Lesinski then earned Junior College All-American honors in 1997 while playing for The College of Lake County. She then went on to become Carthage College's first-ever No. 1 singles champion.

Drag racing. The images that come to mind probably started with the infamous "chicken race" scene in "Rebel without a Cause."

The adjectives that come to mind are "reckless, dangerous, unlawful."

All those descriptions are accurately applied to street racing, but for teenagers who love fast cars, there is a safe and legal alternative in the "Beat the Heat" race program.

One of the program mentors, Lindenhurst Police Commander Joe Moravec knows first-hand what it is like to be in love with speed.

"I've been racing cars since I was in high school in Palatine, in 1984-85," Moravec said. At that time, he was introduced to a racing program for youth in Union Grove, Wis.

"I didn't even know there were police involved until I got here," he recalled. "I won my very first time out, and was hooked on the sport ever since."

What he found was a safe place to race, where he could literally race against police officers—the very people who would arrest him for the same thing on the streets.

"We have a zero tolerance for street racing," he said.

The hazards of street racing are not present in the controlled environment of the track, where there are no obstructions, pedestrians, stray animals or other typical safety threats.

Safety precautions are observed, such as requiring seatbelts on all drivers, and helmets on those who will exceed certain speeds, or who drive high-performance vehicles or motorcycles.

Additionally, medical personnel are on hand in case of an emergency.

At the Great Lakes Dragaway (sanctioned by the International Hot Rod Association), every other Friday night teens ranging in age from 16-21 have the opportunity to race in a safe, controlled environment.

"If you like speed, it's safe and cheaper than a ticket," said Nicholas Dokman, 16. Nicholas' father, Nick, has been involved with auto racing and race cars for a long time, so it was natural for his son to want to follow in his footsteps.

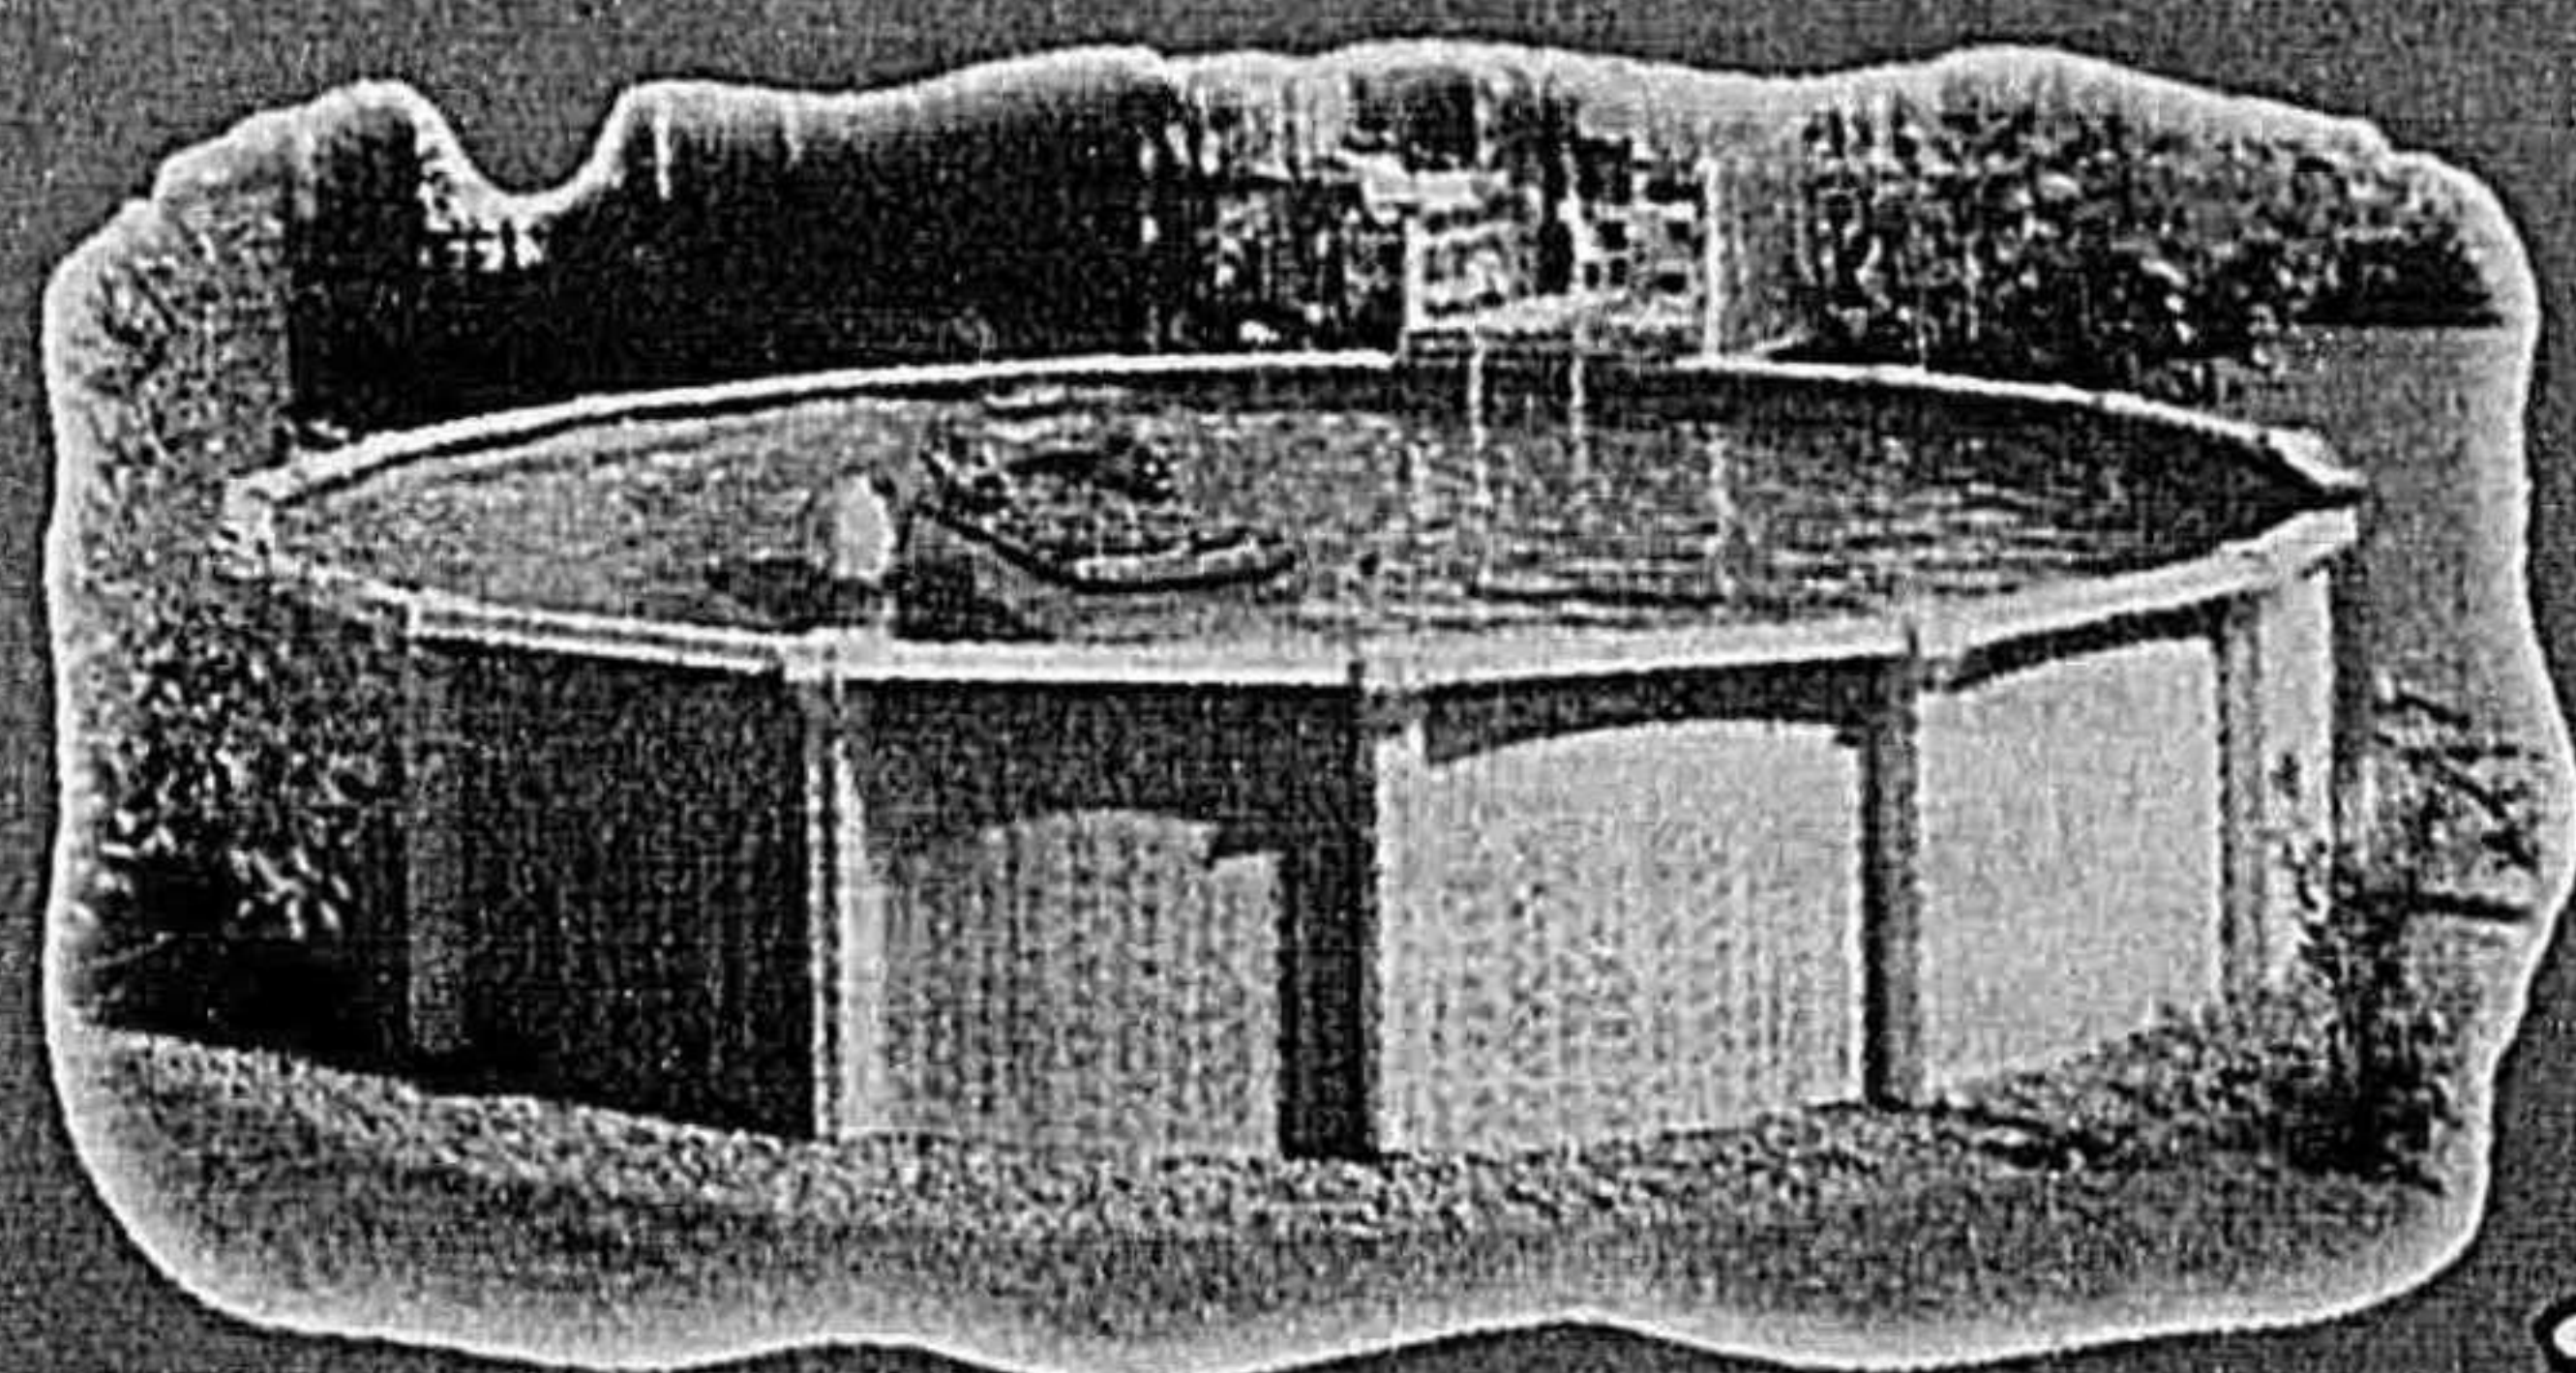

In fact, Nicholas was not the only Dokman offspring to get involved in racing.

Older sister Gina, 18, has also been racing at the Great Lakes Dragaway

New beginning for the KPM

Every Ending is a New Beginning" will be the last exhibition at the present location of the Kenosha Public Museum, 5608 Tenth Ave. in Kenosha. This exhibit features original artwork donated to the Museum by area artists and collectors. Many of the artists and collectors have been long-time friends of the Museum and have made the dream of a new Kenosha Public Museum a reality. The works will be on display from May 1 through June 15, when a silent and live auction of all the donated works will take place.

The proceeds from the auction will be used to fund the permanent fine and decorative arts gallery in the new Museum. For the first time in the Museum's history, the publicly owned art collection will have a permanent display space. The donation of artwork for this last exhibit is a fitting tribute to the commitment to KPM. Tickets for the auction are available by calling (262) 653-4140.

After June 15, the Kenosha Public Museum will no longer be opened at the present location. A great number of events and activities will take place at other venues.

The new Museum will celebrate its grand opening on Saturday, Sept. 15 at 5500 First Ave. in Kenosha.

For more information, call the Museum anytime throughout the summer at (262) 653-4140.

for two years.

Although in the minority gender-wise, Gina noted that, at the junior level, the ratio of girls to boys is about 50-50.

Nicholas has been racing in the junior division, for ages 8-17, in a half-scale dragster running with a five-horsepower engine.

"It's like a lawnmower motor," he laughed. More like a lawnmower on steroids, as the little open-frame cars can reach speeds up to 85 mph on the one-eighth-mile straightaway course they run.

Gina races her own car, an unmodified bright red 2000 Chevy Cavalier. Her best time on the regular quarter-mile straightaway course is 15.7 seconds.

At that speed, a helmet is considered optional.

"I wear it when I remember," she said.

Helmets are not optional for Ryan Fasano, 18, who races a heavily modified 1985 Z-28 Chevy Camaro.

The car made a racket as it pulled up.

"Yes, it's probably too loud," he admits.

Ryan has a breakaway exhaust system that he can remove at the racetrack. He's also replaced his gear shifter with one that has a safety device to prevent accidentally shifting into reverse.

Another safety device is a fuel cut-off switch that can be activated in an emergency to avoid a fire.

The car bears a more powerful engine than the original, and has other modifications that put it just on the cusp of what is considered "street-legal."

Ryan has reached times up to 11.9 seconds on the quarter-mile track, and a top-end speed of 110 mph. His is one of only two cars currently racing in the program capable of reaching such speeds. Most of the other cars are ordinary "street" cars.

Cars are raced two at a time, on a closed, straight course. In order to keep the races fair, allowing for the different capabilities of the vehicles, faster cars are handicapped.

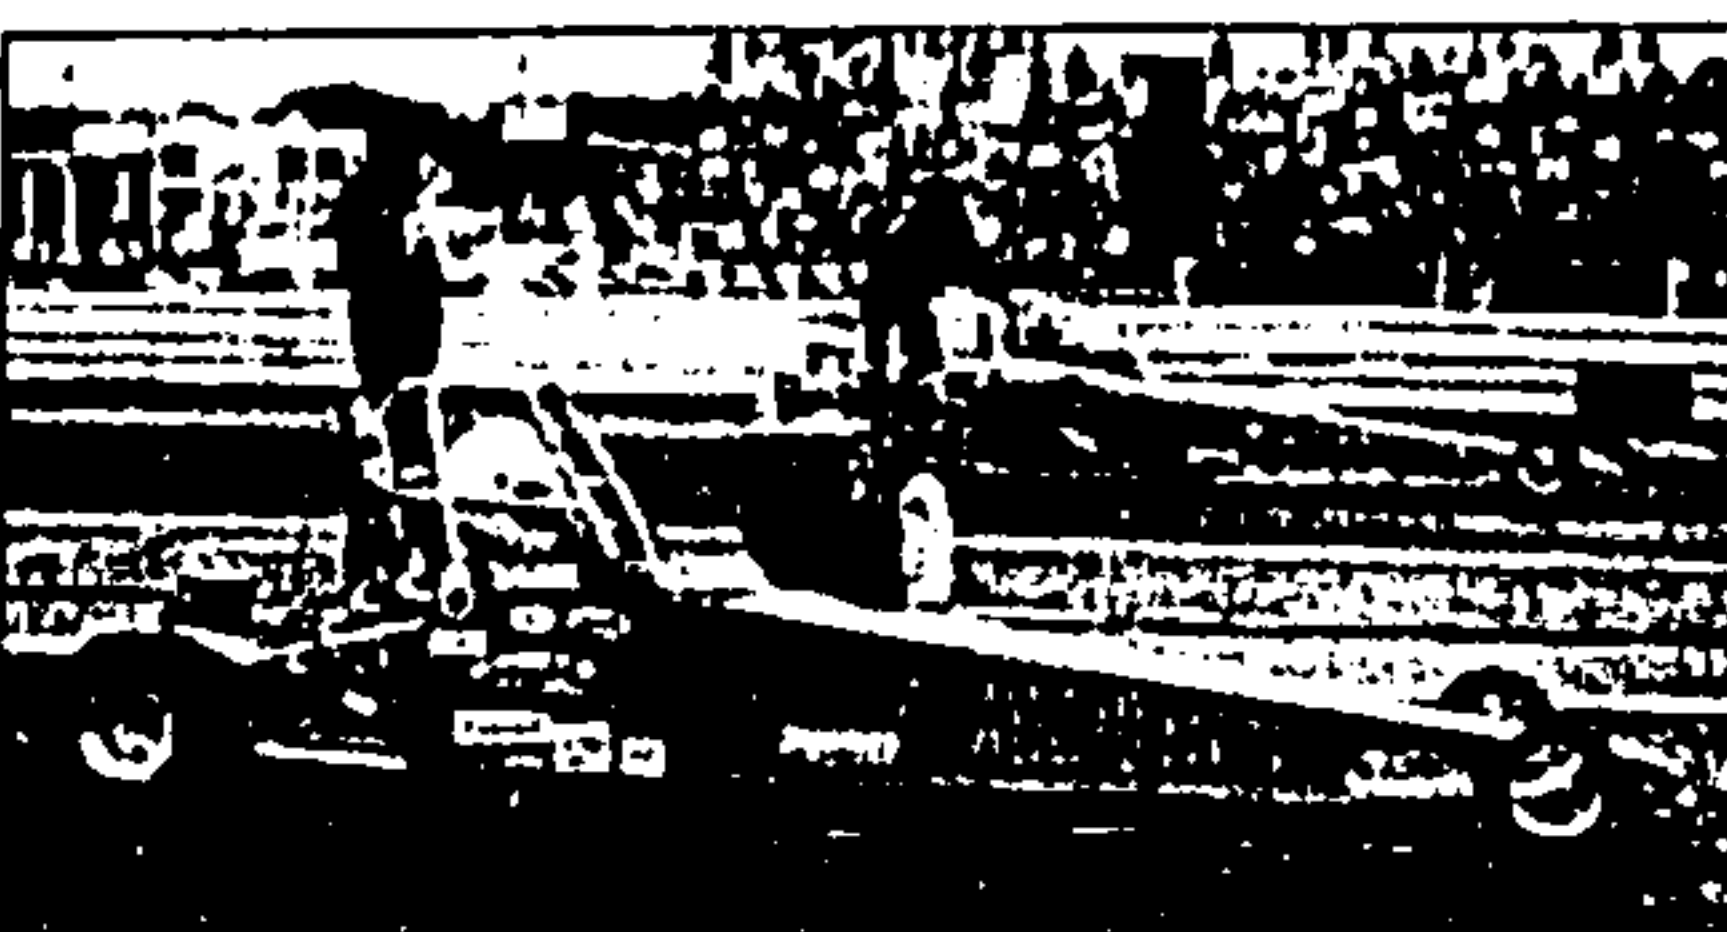

After time trials, average speeds are determined. If a car that usually has an 11-second time races one with a 15-second time, the faster car must wait four seconds before starting. The slower car may not exceed its handicapped speed.

"The idea is that, all things being equal, both cars should finish the course at the same time," explained Moravec. In reality, driver's individual skills factor into the final results.

The races are run on an elimination basis, with the last car left considered the event winner. All racers earn points, and the leaders at the end of the season compete in October at Cordova Raceway against other high school drivers.

Trophies are awarded, but there are no cash prizes.

"If we took money, that would make us professionals, and we couldn't compete in school sports," Nicholas noted.

One of the incentives to race in the program is the chance to "Beat the Heat." Besides racing against peers, teens also get the chance to race against police officers.

Moravec races his own intensely modified Ford Maverick. The car must be transported to the track in a van, because it is no longer street-legal.

Moravec runs the program with Geneva, Wis., Police Officer Tom Giovanni, who re-introduced Moravec to the program four years ago.

Other officers racing with the teens include Antioch Police Sergeant Jim Ruth, driving his Ford Mustang. His son, T.J. Ruth, also participates.

Drivers come from all over northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

The rewards of the program go far beyond the obvious.

According to Moravec, teens and police get to interact informally, building mutual respect.

There is an unlikely side effect as well: the participants are actually better drivers than most of their peers.

Alcohol awareness is high. There is zero tolerance for alcohol while driving, but aside from that, the effects of alcohol are a disincentive for serious racers.

"You don't want to lose your edge," Ryan remarked.

The young drivers said they tended to be more aware of street speed, as well.

"You get into the habit of checking your speed on the track," Gina said.

Probably the most important benefit of the program was summed up by the Dokman siblings, who quoted their father telling a critical neighbor, "I know where my kids are and what they are doing."

"We stay out of trouble," Nicholas said.

Recognizing the community value of the program, a number of local businesses subsidize track expenses, including the Alston Group, Emerald Transportation, RJ's Eatery, The Transmission Shop, Dokman Performance (run by Nicholas's father), Guaranteed Airfreight and Jacobson Excavating. Other sponsors are always needed.

The season officially opens with the first race night on April 27, and continues every other Friday night thereafter. The last race of the season is on Sept. 21.

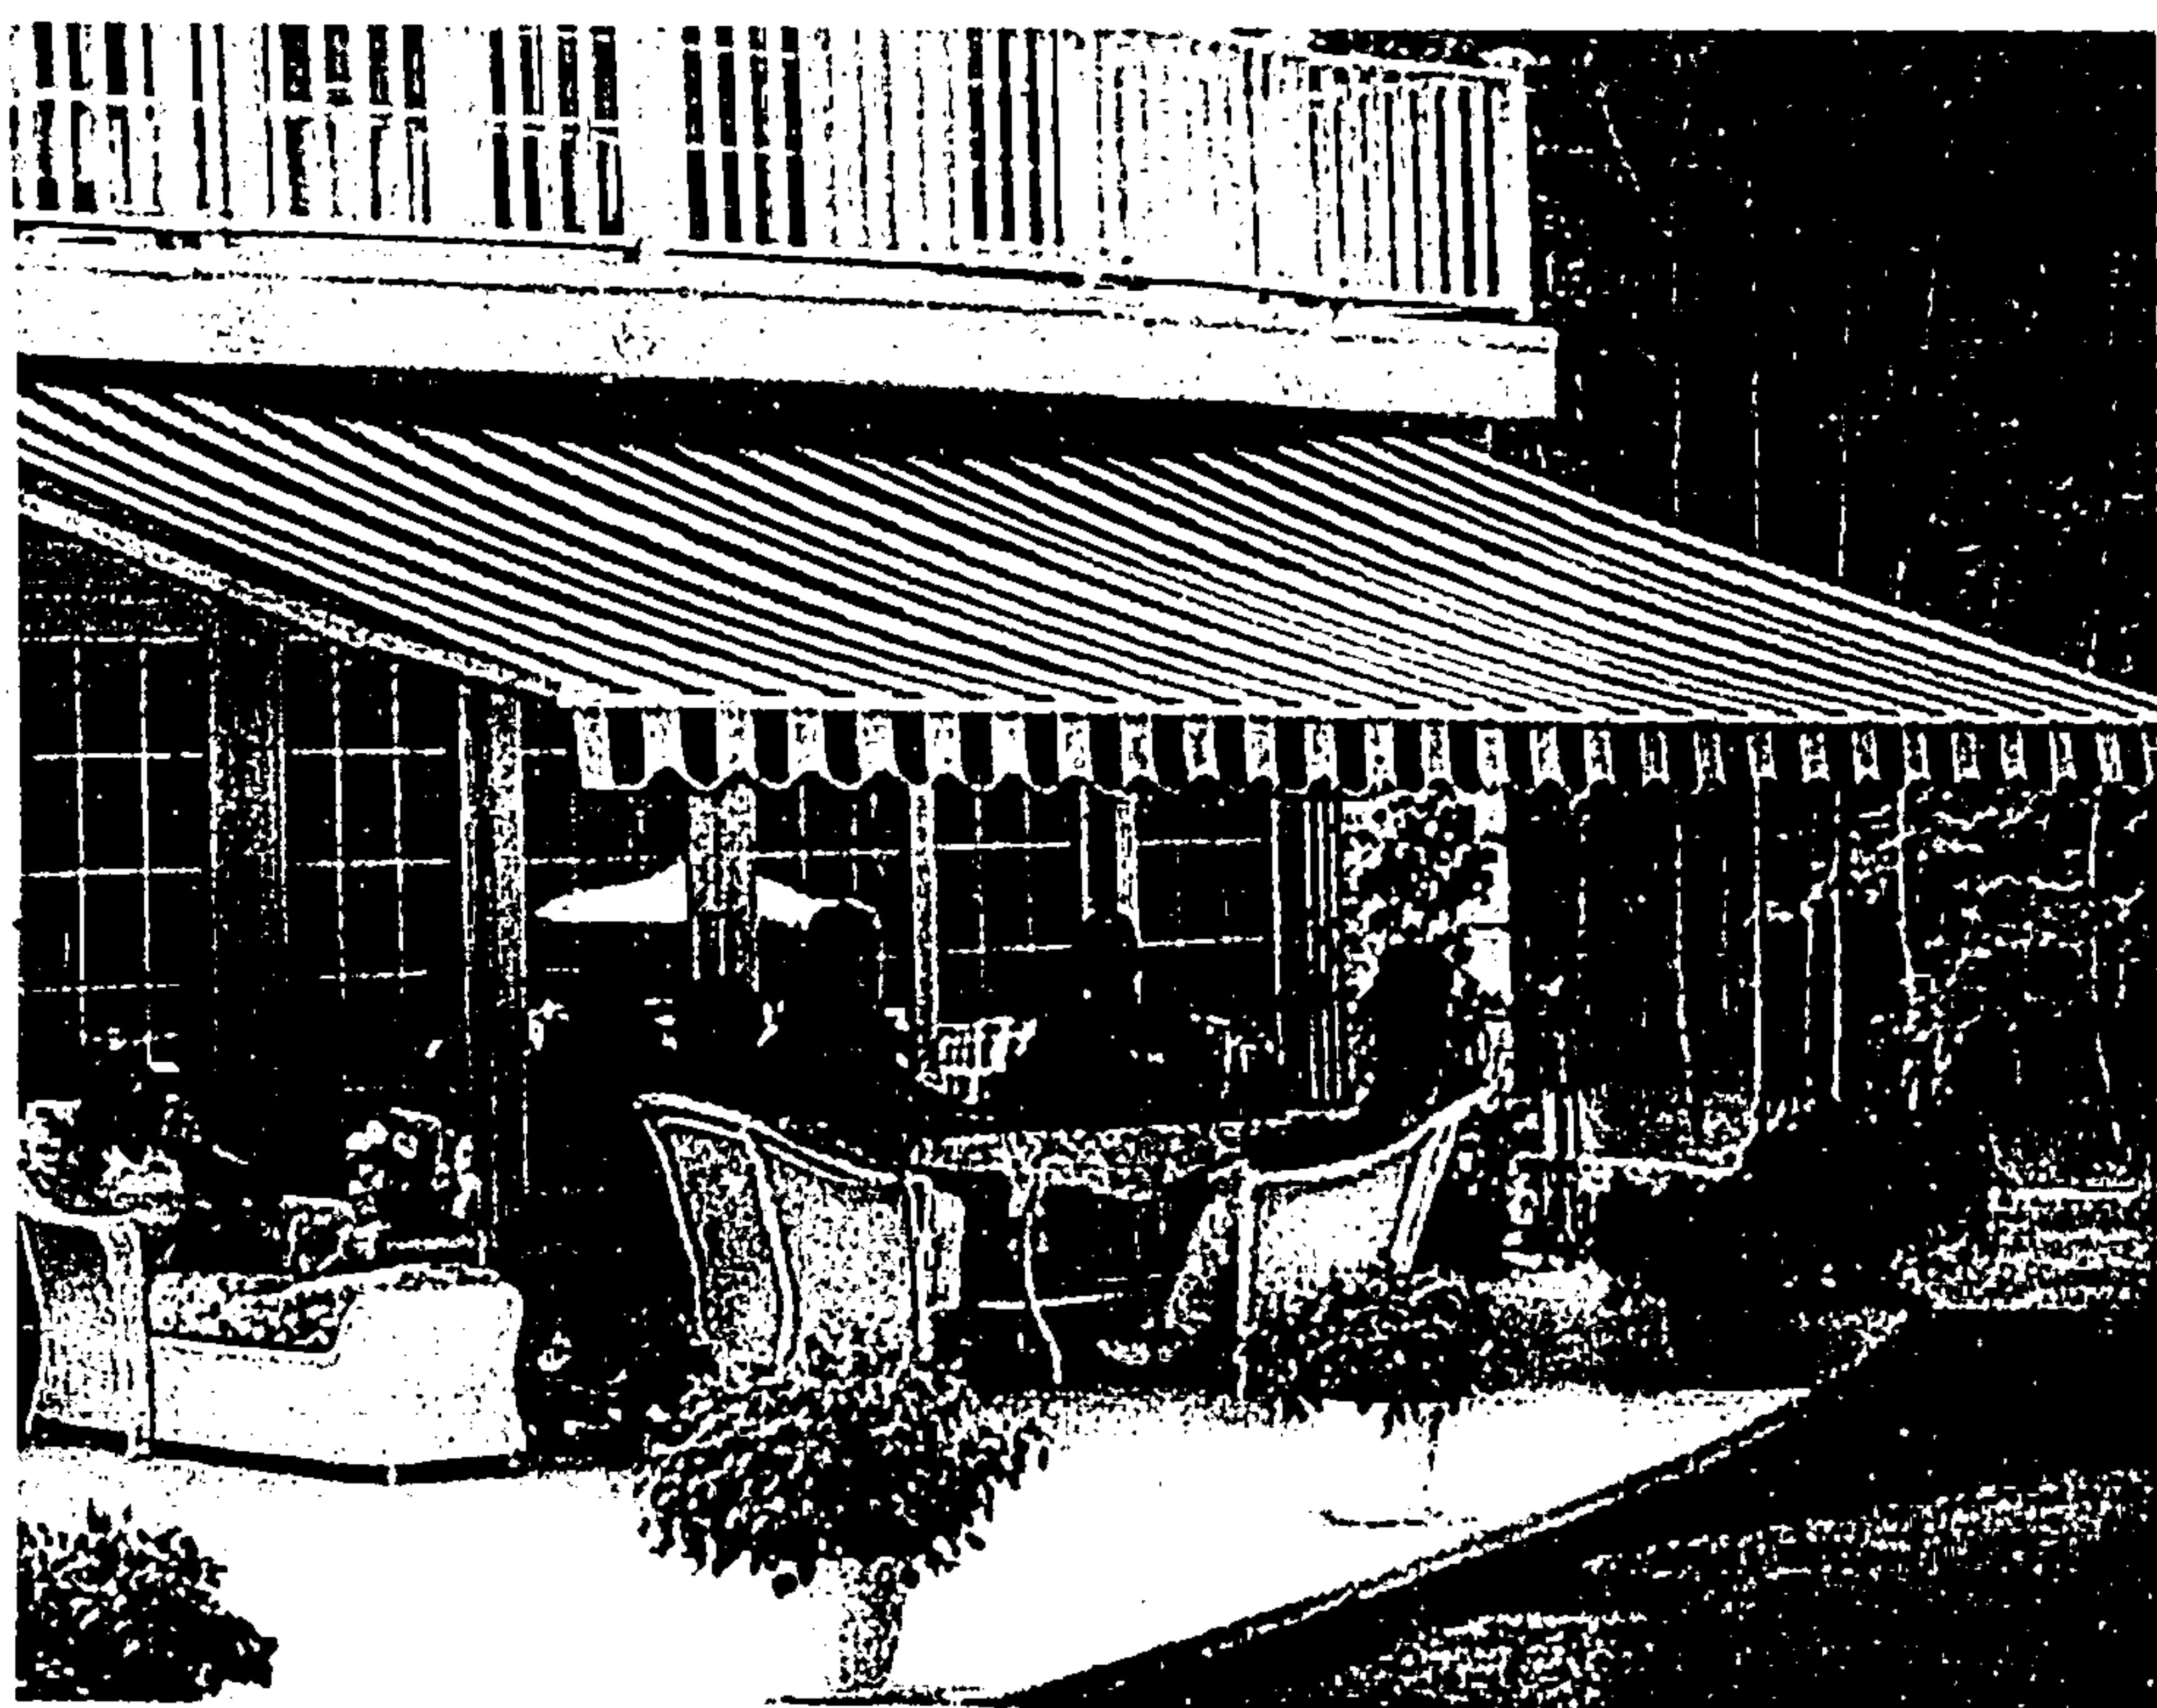

The track opens at 5 p.m. Time trials start at 5:30 p.m., and racing begins at 7:30 p.m.

Admission is $15 for each driver and vehicle, $5 for student spectators and $11 for parents and all other spectators.

Drivers may be from anywhere in Illinois or Wisconsin. They may race cars, trucks or motorcycles. They must hold a valid driver's license in their state.

For more information, call Comdr. Moravec at the Lindenhurst Police Dept. at 356-5400.

Cancer research benefit plans 2001 car rally

Planning is well underway for the 24th renewal of the Lake Geneva Classic Car Rally, the Midwest's largest and a must for Lake County classic car buffs.

The rally is presented by the Corinne Kreissl Memorial Foundation Inc., and the Midwest Region of the American Cancer Society.

Interlaken Resort again will host the event Sept. 29-30. Since the original rally, a total of $354,347 has been raised for cancer research.

The foundation was formed by George and Janice Kreissl as a memorial to their daughter. Kreissl is a former Fox Lake area businessman who once lived in Grayslake.

The weekend kicks-off with a "Taste of the Car Rally" party on Friday evening, Sept. 28 at Craig and Samantha Richardson's home "Vagabond" on the south shore of Lake Geneva. A car show on Saturday morning by the lakefront in Lake Geneva is planned before the dealing around the lake begins.

At 11 a.m. vehicles will parade through Lake Geneva on the way to Interlaken where a hospitality hour runs from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. At the Abbey Resort a wood boat show and antique outboard motor display will be staged from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. sponsored by the Blackhawk Chapter of the Classic Boat Society. Yerkes Observatory will again be featured this year with an open house for all participants from 1:30-3 p.m. A photo opportunity with the observatory dome in the background will make interesting memorabilia photos. Eddie Cash will do a show for all participants at 3 p.m. at the Eddie Cash Theater in Williams Bay.

On Saturday evening, as in the past, the Riviera Ballroom will be the site of the Hubcap-Runningboard Dance, this year featuring Johnny Star and the Meteors with old-time rock 'n roll. On Sunday, as rally participants complete their around-the-lake tour, a car show will be staged on Interlaken grounds on Lake Como and weather permitting, a fly-over by antique aircraft and Warbirds from the World War II era will take place before the awards program and finale at 2:30 p.m. at the Chalet.

For additional information about the 2001 Car Rally events, contact Corinne Kreissl Memorial Foundation Inc., P. O. Box 732, Lake Geneva, WI 53147 or call (262) 248-2764. Visit the web site at www.classicarrally.net.

CRITICS CHOICE

'Amen Corner' a fine Baldwin revival

The Amen Corner," initially performed in the mid-'50s, represents the first professional play of the late playwright and novelist James Baldwin.

A period piece set in a black Harlem storefront church, it holds up well in its revival at Chicago's Goodman Theatre in large measure due to Baldwin's timeless plot and finely chiseled characters—and aided immeasurably by a cast of strong performers directed by Chuck Smith.

It's a story about a devoted middle-aged pastor, Sister Margaret Alexander, who brings inspiration to her small congregation, beautiful music and a fierce sense of piety ("The Lord comes before all things.")

However, her world hits a speed bump when Luke, the hard-drinking jazz musician husband she had forsaken a decade earlier, returns. In rapidly deteriorating health, Luke arrives and awakens feelings of resentment among some of the back-stabbing parishioners, who begin to see Sister Margaret's status as less-than-elevated. She has a "no-account" husband to contend with, plus a teenage son who has turned from religion to music and "worldly ways."

As one of the elders, Brother Boxer, now sees things, the pastor is something of a loose cannon, a woman who needs direction from a man. "Sister Margaret is not leading the life of a holy woman," in his judgment.

Pat Bowie is electrifying as the dedicated preacher who is torn between her calling to the church and the man she still loves.

Other heartfelt performances come from Phillips Edward Van Lear, as the dying husband; Nikkile DeSimone as the son who makes a painful decision; and Jacqueline Williams, as Margaret's steadfast sister. Percy Littleton portrays a cutthroat Brother Boxer and Felicia Fields is perfect as the two-faced Sister Moore.

Original music by William Kilgore and a realistic two-story set by Felix Cochren add impact to this already-potent drama.

"The Amen Corner" truly brings into perspective the gulf separating black men and black women, and black fathers and black sons.

See it through April 28. Ticket information is available at (312) 443-3800.—By Tom Witom

Multi-cultural memorabilia on display at Greenbelt Cultural Center

A unique multi-cultural memorabilia exhibit, titled "Together We Are The World," will be on display at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Greenbelt Cultural Center near North Chicago starting Wednesday, April 25. Learn about cultural traditions, kings and queens, native costumes, music, the military and more.

The exhibit is presented by Nathaniel Hamilton, a Retired Navy Chief Petty Officer, Educator, School Administrator and Director of the nationally acclaimed Angel Drill Team. Representing over 25 years of collecting by Hamilton, the exhibit showcases a variety of cultures including Native, Hispanic, African, Asian and European Americans. Special sections within the exhibit focus on music, military, history and civil rights memorabilia.

An extensive music area features jazz, pop, gospel, blues, rock and roll, country and classical memorabilia and other offerings from around the world. Special treasures include videos and autographed pictures of The Temptations, The Supremes and Frankie Lane.

An in-depth military section showcases the accomplishments of the men and women of all ethnicities from the American Armed Forces. Additionally, the civil rights section has an impressive array of memorabilia and features a distinctive section devoted to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., including photos of his home and the Ebenezer Baptist Church.

"The Together We Are The World" exhibit is free and open to all ages weekdays April 25-27 and April 30, May 2 from 9-11 a.m. and noon to 2 p.m.; Saturday, April 28, from 9 a.m.-noon, and 1-4 p.m.

The Greenbelt Cultural Center is located on the east side of Green Bay Rd., south of Belvidere Rd. (Rte. 120) and north of 14th St., near North Chicago and Waukegan. For more information about the exhibit, call the center at 689-1600.

Former CLC student and novelist to read April 26

Don De Grazia, a former College of Lake County student who recently published his first novel "American Skin," will present a reading at CLC on April 26. A question and answer session will take place from 3 to 5 p.m. in Room D101 and the reading will begin at 7 p.m. in Room C002 at CLC's Grayslake Campus. De Grazia will be available to sign books following his reading.

De Grazia, 32, is a professor of creative writing at Columbia College in Chicago, where he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees. "American Skin," written as De Grazia's master's degree thesis, is set in and around Chicago in the mid-1980s, exposing a defiant underworld of anti-Nazi skinheads. De Grazia unfolds a poignant coming-of-age tale, tracing two turbulent years in the life of 17-year-old Alex Verdi, an ill-fated young man longing to belong.

"American Skin" was first published in the United Kingdom in 1998 after De Grazia used his last $75 to send his unsolicited manuscript to publisher Jonathan Cape. The book was released to resounding acclaim from the literary community and caught the attention of publishers around the world. It was published in the U.S. in April 2000 by the Scribner Paperback Division of Simon & Schuster and is now in its fourth printing. Casting is underway for a feature film directed by Scott Kalver (The Basketball Diaries).

Although currently a Chicago resident, De Grazia grew up in the Gurnee area, attending Warren Township High School where he was editor of the school newspaper and class president. He left home at age 16 and moved to Chicago, working as a factory worker, bouncer and newspaper reporter to support himself. Following his passion for writing, he took writing classes at CLC in 1986 and continued his education at Columbia College where he became an award-winning scholar and a popular teacher. Recently his students nominated him for the "Teacher of the Year" award.

The reading is free and open to the public. For information, call English instructor Larry Starzec at 543-2557.

Fishing guide

The Lake County Forest Preserves offers a free fishing guide that profiles more than one-dozen Forest Preserves lakes and ponds with directions. The guide also gives detailed bottom maps and illustrations of the fish to find. Information on ice fishing, creel limits, boat launches and wheel chair access points are included.

To obtain a guide, call the 24-hour automated hotline at 968-3212 or visit the web site at www.co.lake.il.us/forest.

Postcard art exhibition opens

Celebrate art in a postcard format as the Lake County Discovery Museum opens the fourth bi-annual Postcard Art Competition and Exhibition (PACE 2001) on display now at the Discovery Museum through June 30.

The unique PACE 2001 competition honors the postcard as an art form and challenges artists from around the world to create original art in the four-by-six-inch postcard size. The colorful exhibit showcases 36 designs selected as finalists from over 200 entries. A variety of mediums are represented in this interesting and eclectic group of tiny artworks. From the finalists, 12 winning designs were chosen and printed as a set of reproduction postcards that are available for sale. Proceeds help support the Lake County Discovery Museum.

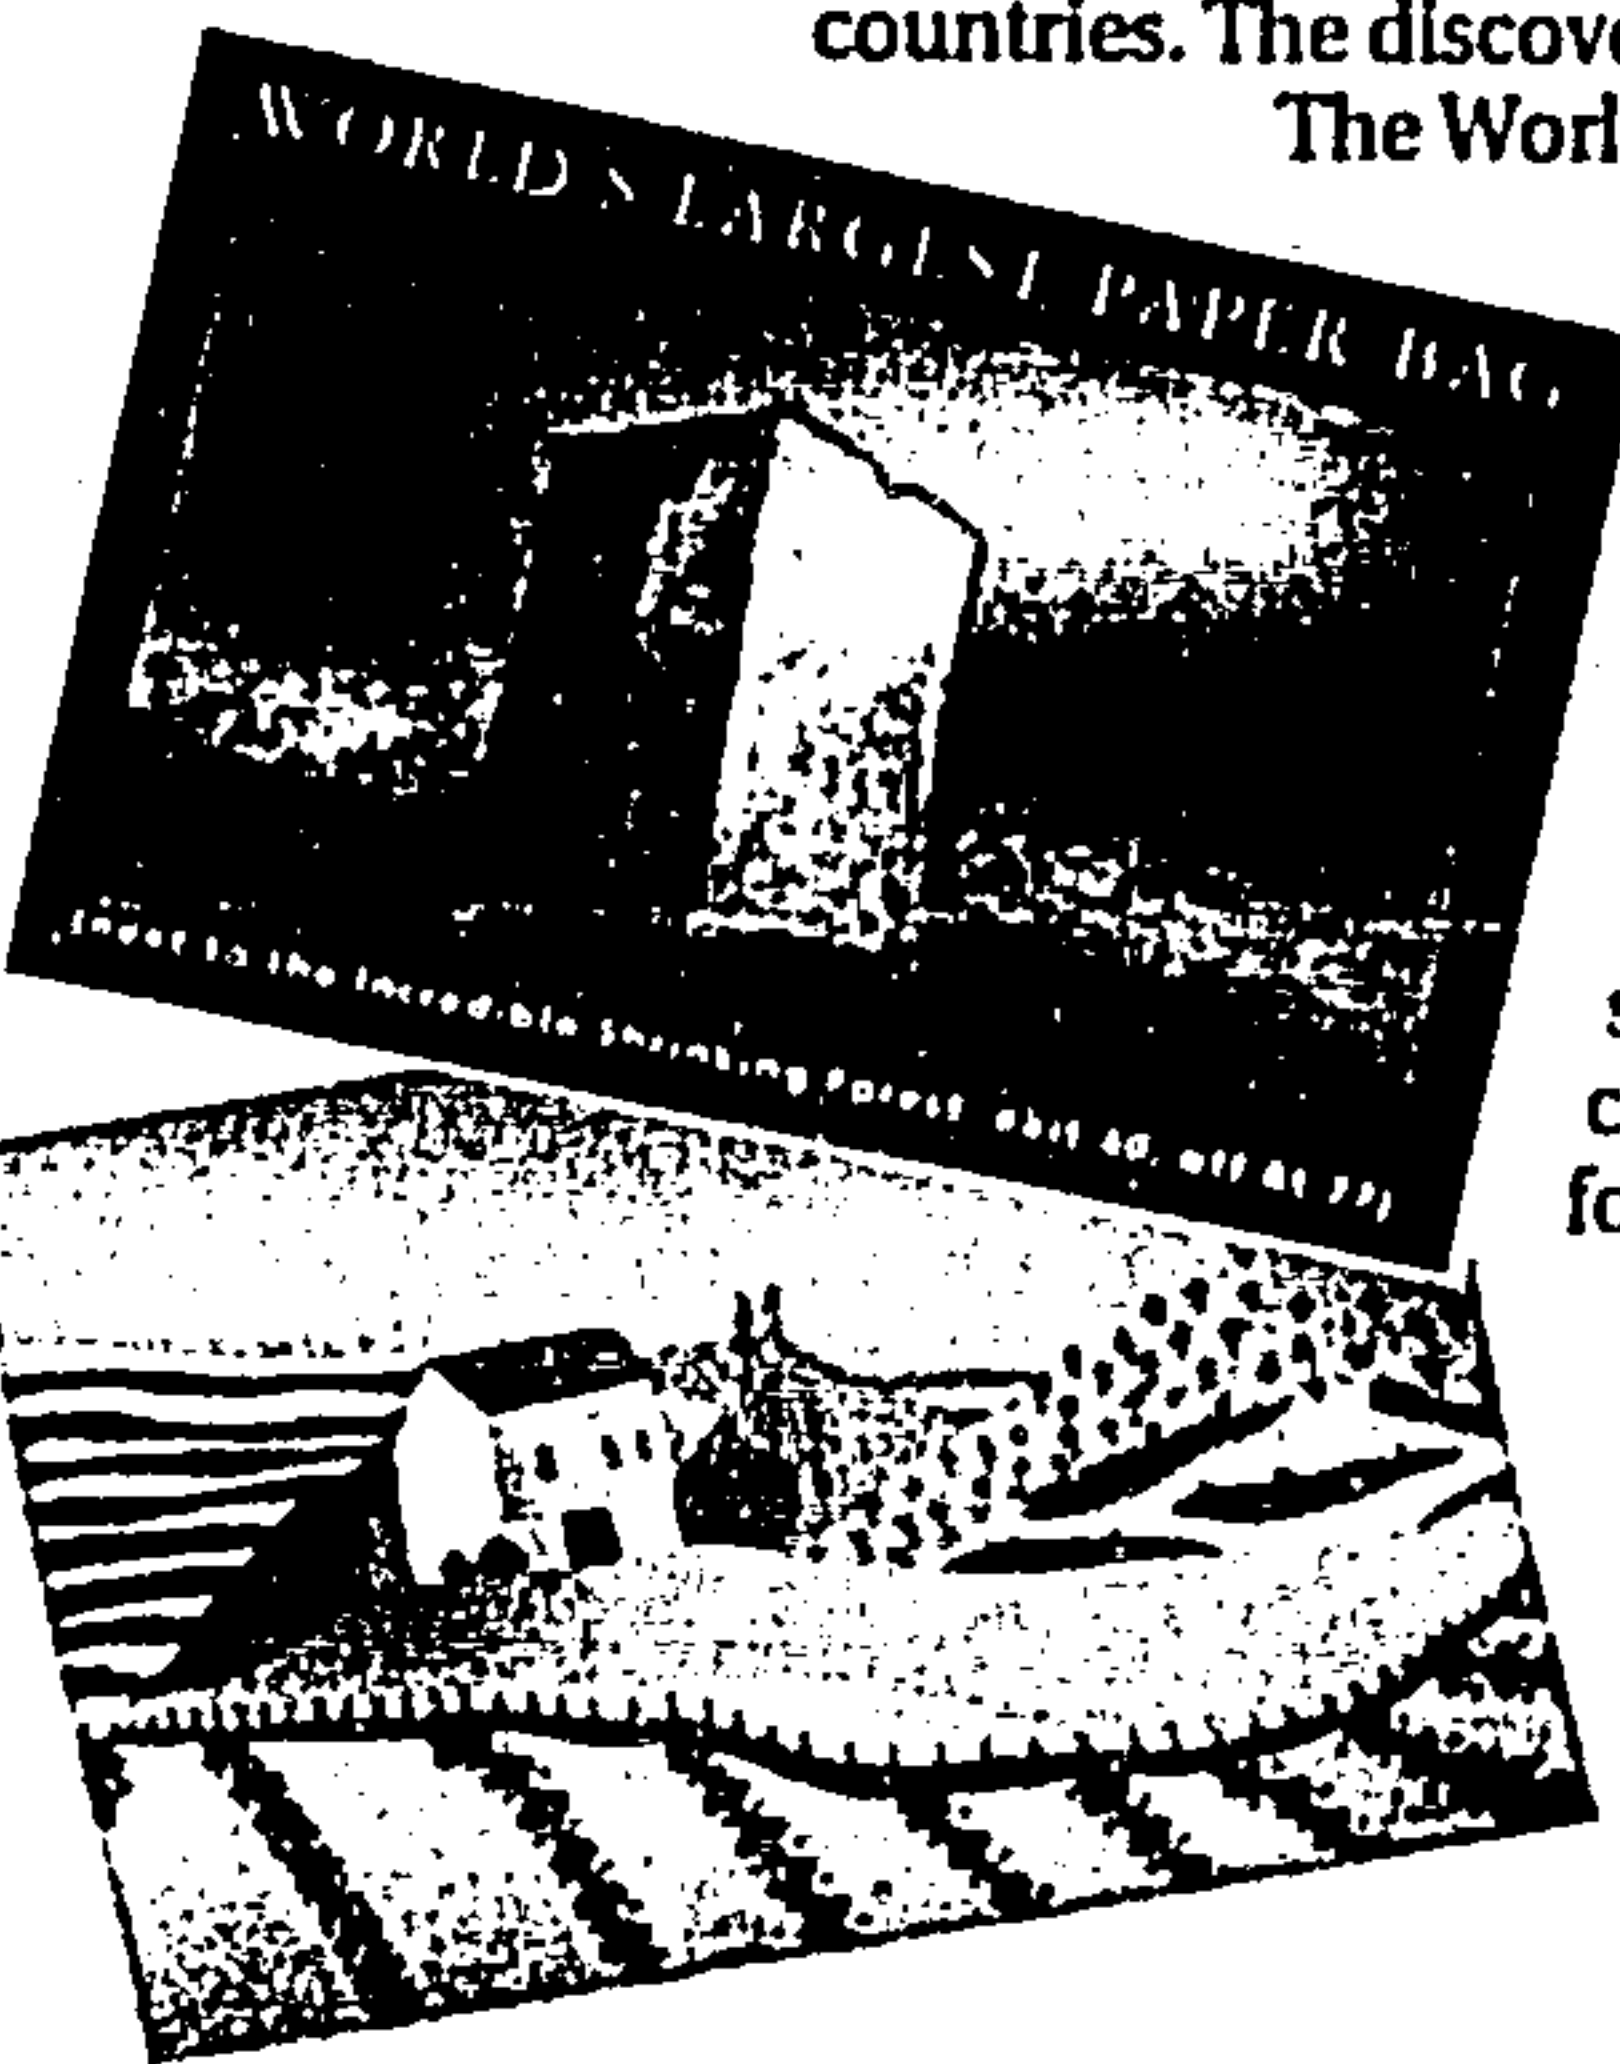

After June 30, the exhibit will travel to the Columbia Center for Book and Paper Arts in Chicago, the McHenry Community College Art Gallery and other locations throughout Illinois.

Opening along with PACE 2001 is a companion invitational exhibit, The Art is In the Cards II. This art show features over 100 postcard-sized artworks in an exciting mix of styles and themes created by 33 former PACE winners and finalists, including world-renowned tapestry artist Archie Brennan.

The Lake County Discovery Museum's Curt Teich Postcard Archive contains the nation's largest collection of postcards and related materials. The Archive's core collection consists of over 360,000 catalogued images, dating from 1893-1978, that relate to 10,000 towns and cities in the United States and Canada and more than 75 foreign countries.

The discovery Museum's on-going exhibit, "Bringing The World Home," showcases many of the postcards in a fun interactive exhibit.

The museum is located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Rte. 176 just west of Fairfield Rd., near Wauconda. Gallery hours are Monday-Saturday, 11 a.m.-4:30 p.m. and Sunday, 1-4:30 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children four to 17. Children three and under are free. Admission is discounted on Tuesdays: Adults $5.00, children 17 and under are free. For more information please call 968-3400.

Showcase house selected

"Rimwold," a graceful 1914 English country home, is the site of the ninth biennial Lake Forest Infant Welfare Showcase House and Gardens. Forty-two top interior and landscape designers are participating in this premier showhouse event.

Built as a summer retreat for Lake Forester Charles Morse, Sr. and his family, "Rimwold," Old English for "rimmed by woods," is located at the end of a private country lane surrounded by acres of prairie and forest. The main house, which is of the Tudor style of stucco and timbers, features a vaulted living room ceiling with dual minstrel galleries, paneled library, new kitchen, great room, and billiards room. An underground bowling alley in the guest house has been fully restored. Refreshments and a boutique of decorative accessories will be featured in the coach house.

The Showcase House and Gardens will be open to the public from Saturday, April 28 to Sunday, May 20. Hours are 9:30 a.m. - 3 p.m. on weekdays and 11 a.m. - 4 p.m. on weekends. Tickets are $20 at the door. Advance purchase and group rates are available.

A series of special events is also being planned, including luncheons with Gail Gand, chef at Chicago's highly acclaimed Tru restaurant and book dramatist Barbara Rinel-la. For information on parking, tickets and special events, please call 604-3479 or visit the website at www.lakeforestshowhouse.com.

The Lake Forest Infant Welfare Showcase House and Gardens has been ranked by national press as one of the most prestigious and noted decorator showhouses in the United States and attracts the finest interior and landscape designers.

Proceeds benefit the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, a not-for-profit organization which has provided medical, dental, educational, and social services to women and children since 1911.

Variety of events celebrate importance of Earth Day

Trash treasures

Celebrate Earth Day's 30th anniversary with a morning of eco-fun! Solid Waste Agency of Lake County, along with Waste Management, invites the Lake County community to come to the Educycle Center, located in the Waste Management Recycling Processing Center on Rte. 83 in Grayslake, any time between 9 a.m. and noon on Saturday, April 22.

Not only will citizens be able to learn more about Earth Day, but also learn a little more about how to help out the environment while making fun treasures. Plus, the winners of the elementary poster contest, "Picture a World with Less Waste" will be featured, along with the other poster contest entries.

The entire family is invited to join in the celebration. Visit the EduCycle Center to learn about the lifecycle of garbage, and how the 4Rs (Reduce, Reuse, Recycle and Recover) play a big role in properly managing our waste-line. Participate in hands-on activities and leave with a trash to treasure project you make yourself! Call 548-1755 for more information.

Earthfest celebration

Games, crafts, wagon rides and nature exhibits await visitors at the Lake County Forest Preserves' annual Earthfest celebration on Saturday, April 21, from 1 to 4 p.m., at the Greenbelt Cultural Center in North Chicago.

The theme of this year's Earthfest is Nature in Your Own Backyard. A variety of free, family-oriented activities are offered throughout the afternoon, including a children's All Species parade at 2:30 p.m., hands-on Earth Day activities, storytelling, nature walks, games, a raffle, kids crafts and more.

Admission and parking is free. Wagon ride tickets and refreshments will be available for sale at the event. The Greenbelt Cultural Center is located on the east side of Green Bay

Rd. south of Belvidere Rd. (Rte. 120) and north of 14th St. near North Chicago.

Additional overflow parking is available on the west side of Dugdale Ave., south of 10th St. A free wagon ride shuttle will take guests to the Cultural Center from the overflow parking area. For more information about the Lake County Forest Preserves' Earthfest event, please call 968-3333.

Earth-Arbor Day festivities

Lindenhurst's Earth-Arbor Day festivities are scheduled for Saturday, April 21, from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. This is an all volunteer, non-profit event for the benefit of Lindenhurst and surrounding communities. Last year several hundred area youths and their parents attended our exhibits.

The day begins with a supervised recycling and Village clean-up supported by local youth groups and other volunteers at 9-11 a.m. Coffee, hot dogs and refreshments will be provided free from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. The public is invited to see, touch and learn about domestic and exotic wildlife animals from our experts. Speakers will be on hand to educate the public on abandoned and injured animal friends that are exhibited in the heated Village public works garage.

Don't miss the first 5K Family Run/Walk, organized by the Lake Villa District Library. The 5K Family Run/Walk will begin at 9 a.m. and finish at 10:30 a.m. Register at the Library or Lindenhurst Park District office. Registration is free and includes a T-shirt (first 200 registrants). Registration will also be done on-site from 8:15 to 8:45 a.m. The non-competitive event will start and finish at the old Eagle parking lot in Linden Plaza.

From 11:30 a.m.-2 p.m. visit with a Canadian Lynx, two Columbian Wolves, a friendly raccoon and Greyhounds. Also listen to Jim Nesci from Cold Blooded Creatures and see "Godzilla" a large Monitor Lizard, a rare Albino Burmese Python and a pet alligator.

A plan for our water resources

Water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink? Not a place to swim? Not a dry basement when it rains? How do we avoid this in the future? How do we begin to treat water as a resource not a waste product?

Our region is faced with numerous important water resource management challenges and issues, including:

1. How to prevent increases in flood damages as new development occurs in outlying counties.
2. How to restore the numerous degraded streams and lakes in urban and suburban areas, and protect those in rural areas.
3. How to assure the adequacy of groundwater and surface water supplies as the regions grows.

The Strategic Plan for Water Resource Management aims to develop a blueprint for the region to address these issues.

Water has shaped northeastern Illinois. The glaciers created Lake Michigan, broad river valleys, small lakes and wetlands, and the gravel ridges of McHenry County. An easy portage from the Great Lakes to the Illinois River attracted both Native American and European traders and settlers. Preservation of the lakefront has given us one of the most spectacular cityscapes in the world. Lake Michigan and plentiful groundwater have supported steady growth in population and employment.

Our waterways and adjoining lands comprise one of the great recreational opportunities in the country. Our wetlands are part of an extraordinarily diverse ecological heritage.

Yet as surely as water has shaped the region, so have we altered this great natural resource. Development in our uplands and flat valleys has increased the rate and volume of flood waters while reducing the space available to store them. More and more households and businesses place additional pressure on groundwater supplies in parts of the region not served by Lake Michigan. Treated wastewater, industrial discharges, and polluted runoff from parking lots and farm fields have impaired the quality of many streams, limiting their recreational use and biological integrity. We can continue to be a region in which rich abundant water sustains a strong economy, high quality of life, and healthy environment. But we will not accomplish this without persistent, coordinated effort.

Plan Background

The Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) is conducting a strategic planning process to identify issues and strategies to address the complex and interrelated water resource issues facing the region. The goal is to develop a regionwide consensus to influence state policy on behalf of the region, to improve management and to enhance public understanding of water issues.

The resulting Strategic Plan for Water Resource Management is intended to guide the region in responding to its interrelated water resources issues: water quality, flooding and water supply. In each of these areas, the plan recommends a series of strategies and identifies the entities to implement them. Recommendations include new legislation, funding for research, changes in agency practices or funding allocations and improved public education. The three issues are as follows:

Water Supply

As land is consumed by an increasing population, greater demands will be placed upon available surface water and groundwater supplies. The Commission predicts that the six-county Chicago Metropolitan Area will grow by 1.3 million people between 1998-2020. Water supply resources may become inadequate to meet the region's future needs.

Water Quality

Historical accounts describe a region with clean and abundant water resources. Rivers, lakes and wetlands teemed with fish, birds, and aquatic plants. While agriculture can impair water quality due to the effects of erosion, channelization and wetland loss, more severe impacts are caused by urbanization and associated discharges of pollutants from wastewater and stormwater sources.

Stormwater and Flooding

Ongoing and future development pose new challenges due to the reduction of the landscape's ability to absorb precipitation and the continuing pressure to develop floodprone areas.

For further information on the Strategic Plan for Water Resource Management, please contact the Commission's Natural Resources Dept. at (312) 454-0400. Also, see the Commission's website <http://www.nipc.org.il.us> for updates on the public information meeting and public hearing process.

Homeowners against Loosestrife

A biological control program for homeowners and community representatives to be held at Volo Bog State Natural Area

Purple loosestrife is taking over our wetlands! Brought over from Eurasia, by accident in ships, and naively for use in gardens, purple loosestrife has no natural enemies or diseases in North America. Without these natural controllers, it has grown out of check, virtually swallowing up millions of acres of marshes and other wetlands around the country. Cutting, digging and herbicides have had little to no effect in controlling it. The best hope lies in a biological control program that was developed in the 1990s.

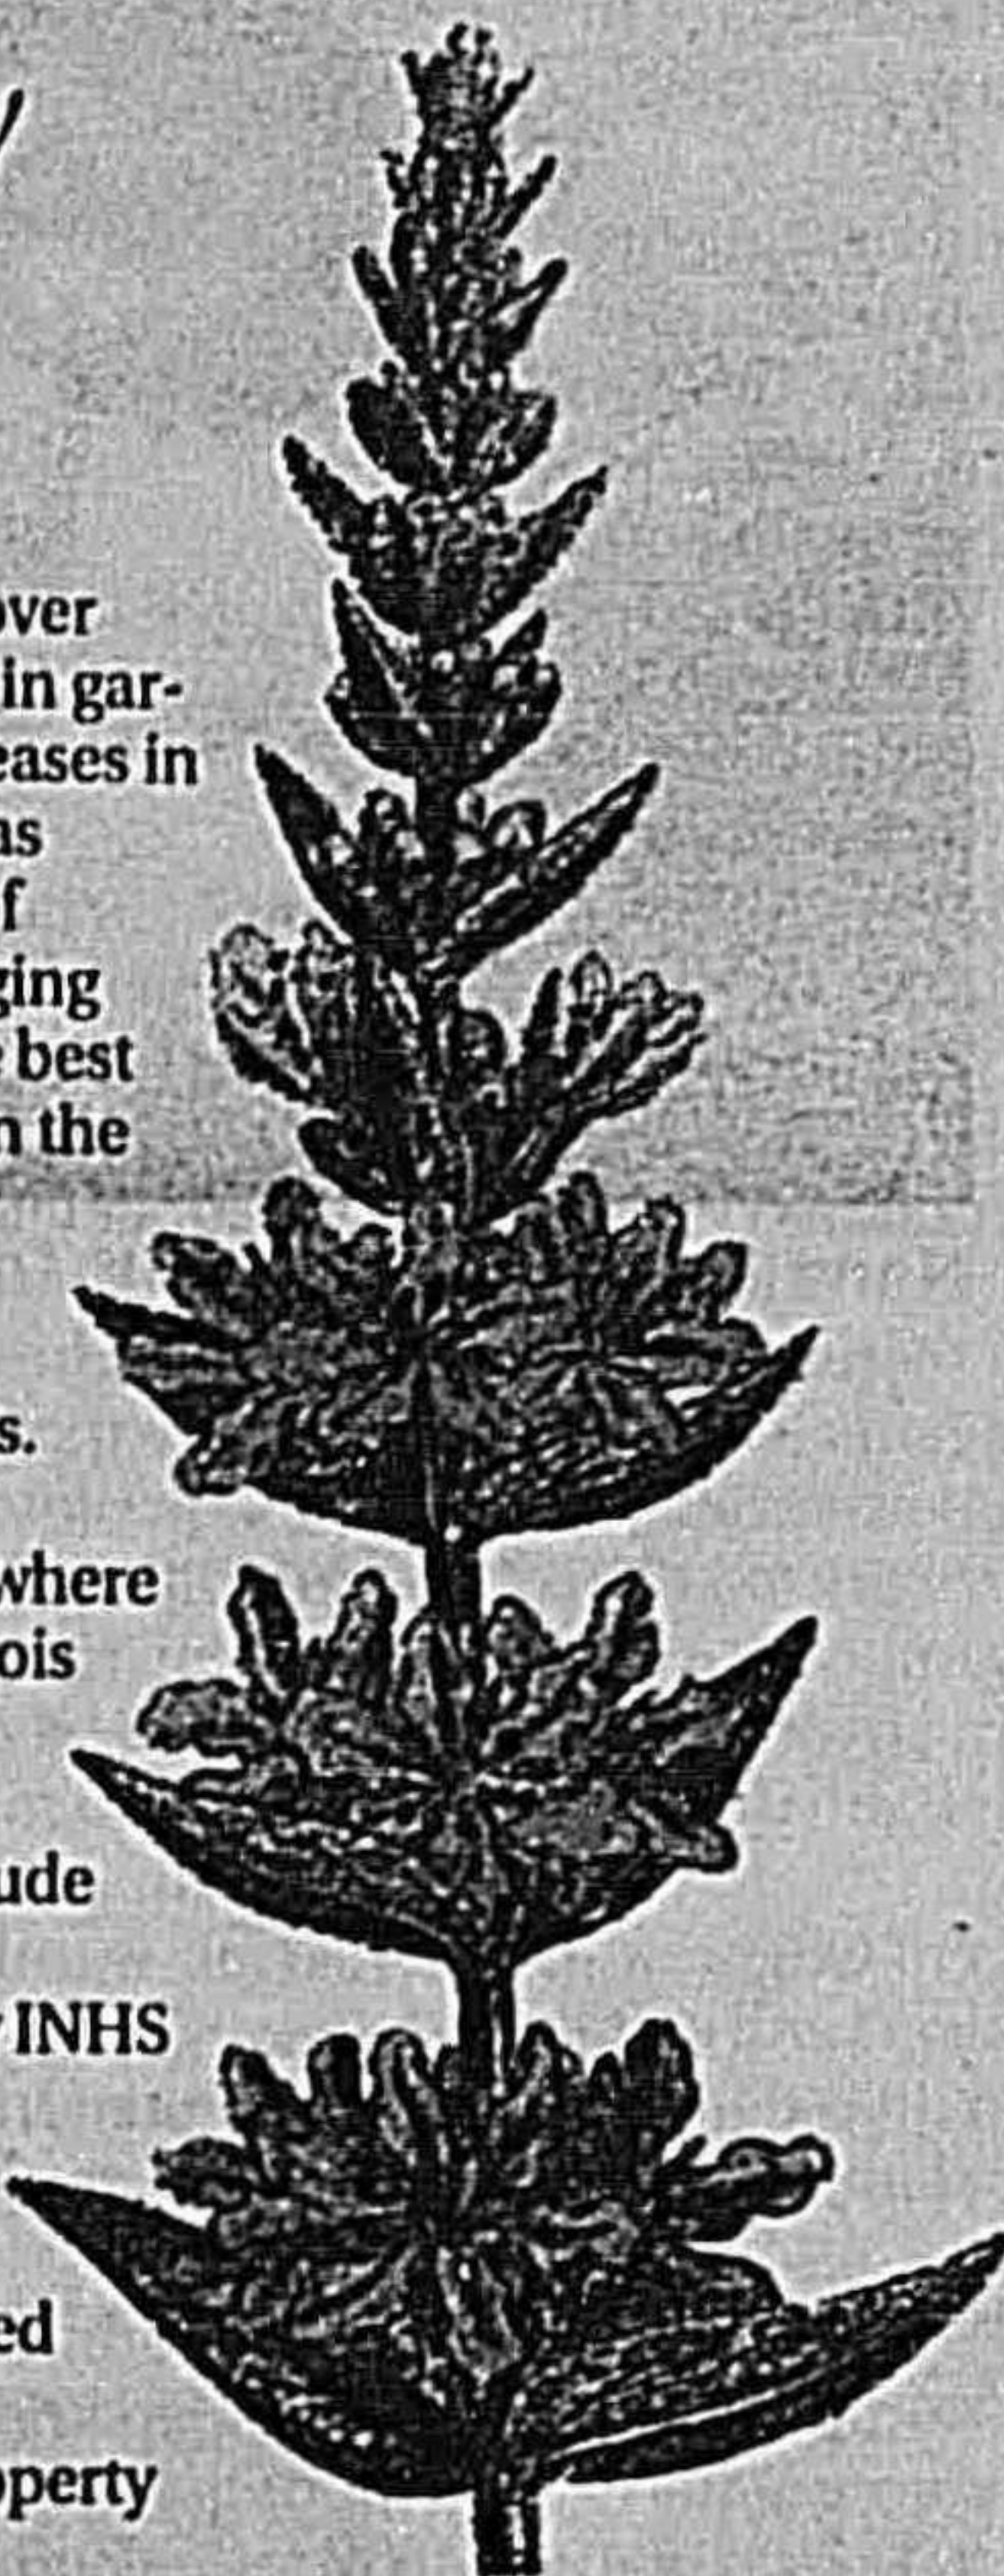

In 1994, after years of extensive study, beetles from the same parts of Europe and Asia where purple loosestrife originated, were first introduced as a biological controller in Illinois. Feeding on only purple loosestrife, these beetles have already demonstrated an ability to keep purple loosestrife "in check" where it can be a small part of our landscape. Scientists with the Illinois Natural History Survey have been training teachers who, with their students, have been a part of the beetle release program for several years. Now the INHS is expanding its efforts to include private homeowners and community representatives.

The program, presented at Volo Bog State Natural Area by INHS entomologist Robert Wiedenmann, will discuss the history of purple loosestrife and various efforts to control it. Participants will be given materials at the workshop to get started in "at home" beetle rearing (optional, participants will be required to acquire additional materials). All participants will later be mailed beetles for wither rearing and/or release onto their property or onto lands for which they have landowner's permission.

The Biological Control Program for Homeowners and Community Representatives will be held on Saturday, April 28, from 12:30 - 3 p.m. at Volo Bog State Natural Area in Ingleside.

Reservations are required. Please phone Volo Bog at (815) 344-1294. Ameritech Relay number for the hearing impaired is (800) 526-0844.

Volo Bog State Natural Area is an Illinois Department of Natural Resources site located in Ingleside west of U.S. Highway 12 between State Highways 120 and 134.

FACTS ON PURPLE LOOSESTRIFE

Description: Purple loosestrife is an erect perennial herb in the loosestrife family, with a square, woody stem and opposite or whorled leaves. Leaves are lance-shaped, stalkless, and heart-shaped or rounded at the base. Plants are usually covered by a downy pubescence. Loosestrife plants grow from four to ten feet high, depending upon conditions, and produce a showy display of magenta-colored flower spikes throughout much of the summer. Flowers have five to seven petals. Mature plants can have from 30 to 50 stems arising from a single rootstock.

Ecological threat: Purple loosestrife adapts readily to natural and disturbed wetlands. As it establishes and expands, it out-competes and replaces native grasses, sedges, and other flowering plants that provide a higher quality source of nutrition for wildlife. The highly invasive nature of purple loosestrife allows it to form dense, homogeneous stands that restrict native wetland plant species, including some federally endangered orchids, and reduce habitat for waterfowl.

Distribution in the U. S.: According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, purple loosestrife now occurs in every state except Florida.

Background: Purple loosestrife was introduced to the northeastern U.S. and Canada in the 1800s, for ornamental and medicinal uses. It is still widely sold as an ornamental, except in states such as Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois where regulations now prohibit its sale, purchase and distribution.

The photograph shows a mature stand of purple loosestrife in full bloom in northern Illinois. These plants are growing on a floating mat and access to them is difficult if not dangerous. Management by any other method but biological control is not really possible.

'Along Came a Spider' weaves tangled web

Morgan Freeman stars in "Along Came a Spider," the action/suspense prequel to "Kiss the Girls" (1997).

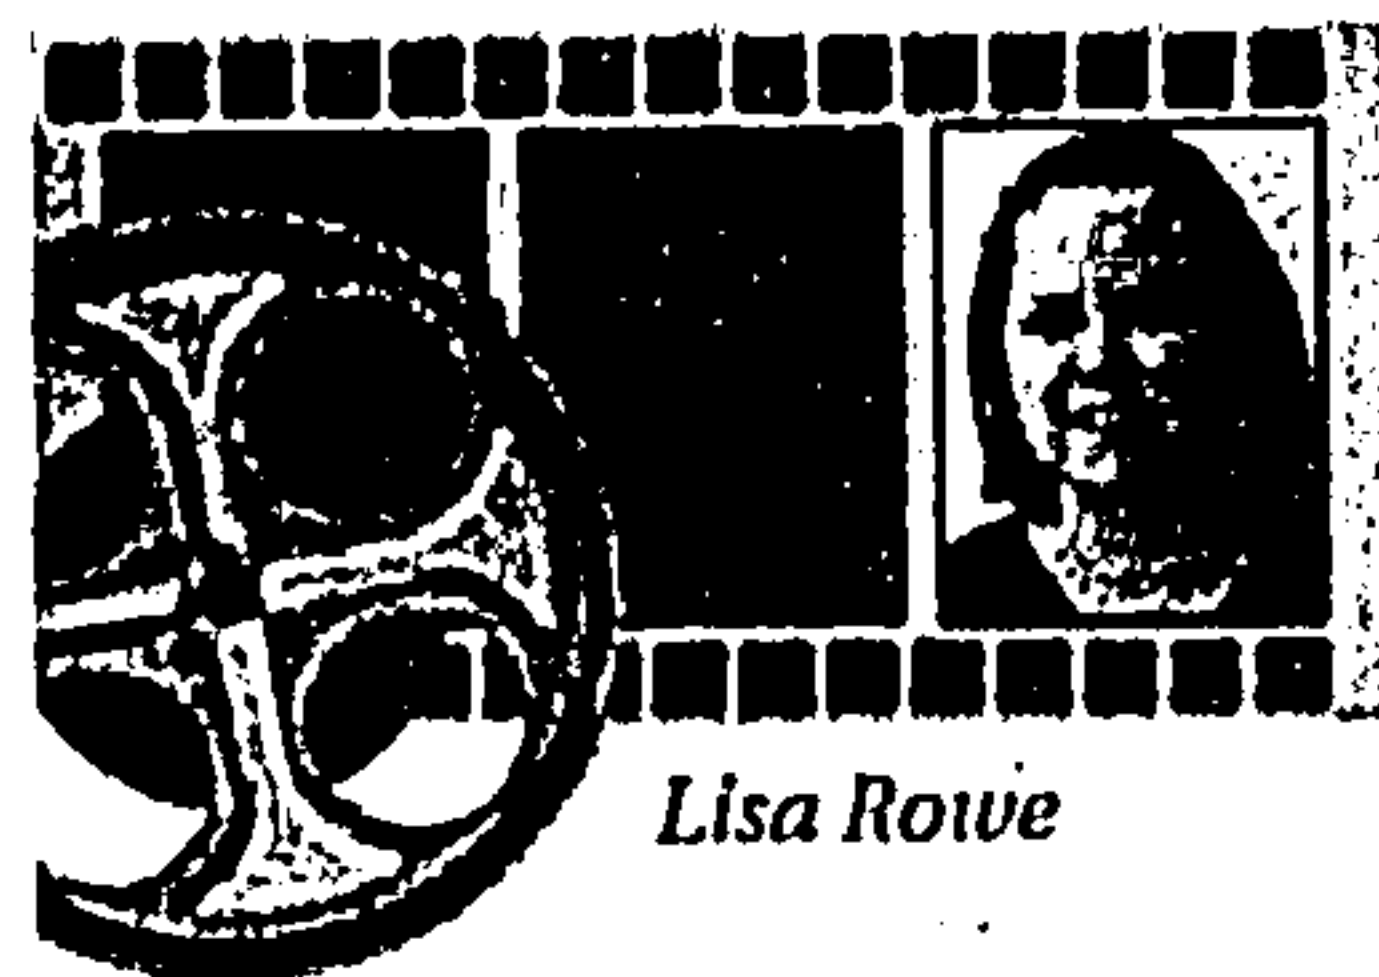

Morgan Freeman gives a great performance, while the movie, "Along Came a Spider," falls apart around him. Even though this pre-quel had its moments, it can't quite compare to its previously released sequel "Kiss the Girls."

Eight months after seeing his partner die during an undercover operation, D.C. detective Alex Cross (played by Freeman) attempts to forgive himself for her death and get on with his life. With the kidnapping of 12-year-old Megan Rose (Mika Boorem), daughter of Senator Rose (Michael Moriarty) and Mrs. Rose (Penelope Ann Miller), Cross is suddenly thrust into the case when he receives vital clues from the kidnappers.

A schoolteacher named Gary Soneji (Michael Wincott) kidnaps Megan Rose from a secret-service-run school, where agents Jezz Flannigan (Monica Potter) Ben Devine (Billy Burke) work to keep the children of very important political figures safe from anyone who might want to harm them or their family.

Government agent Ollie McArthur (Dylan Baker) and agent Cross starts work on investigating the case. Cross asks that Jezz be allowed to help the investigation due to her close involvement for several years with both Megan and Soneji. During their case work, the kidnapper demands money for Megan's safe return but Cross believes that he is up to something else. The movie continues to take different plot twists, incorporating multiple double-crosses between the main characters.

If you have seen Kiss the Girls (1997), you might be tempted to see the prequel Along Came a Spider. Just fair warning, after the intense opening scene, the movie suspense and action drops off dramatically, even dragging at some points. However, Freeman and Potter make an excellent crime-fighting duo.

If you are planning to see the movie and haven't seen the sequel, I would suggest renting it and watching it before you go so you understand more about Alex Cross and his background. Otherwise, viewers might not understand Cross's background because not a lot of details about his career are given during the movie.

The MPAA has rated this movie 'R' for violence and action/suspense scenes. There is some profanity and smoking in this movie, but not a great deal. Along Came a Spider receives two popcorn boxes for not completing its web fully and leaving a huge gap between its previously released sequel.

Pinocchio a big hit with young audiences

Musical is a great family activity

By LISA ROWE
Staff Reporter

The Northbrook Musical Theatre for Young Audiences, 3323 Walters Ave. in Northbrook, is performing a musical version of Pinocchio through May 19.

Pinocchio is a story about a lonely toymaker named Gepetto (played by Tom James) who has no children of his own. He makes a puppet made of wood and names him Pinocchio. The Blue Fairy (Meaghan Hurley) brings Pinocchio to life to relieve Gepetto's despair.

Pinocchio (Gerald Keel) must pass a series of tests before he can become a real boy. With the guidance of Cricket (Julie Crossen) as his conscience, Pinocchio is tempted to stray from becoming a real boy, but must learn to make the right decisions so that he can.

The production sequence and lyrics were written by Northbrook Theatre's Artistic Director Gregory C. Dennhardt. Musical Director Lori Norton composed the score to accompany the musical.

Don't be confused by this classic children's tale. It isn't just for kids! This musical is a great family activity. Issues, such as staying in school, good behavior, listening to what parents say and other values, are incorporated in song and dance.

After the musical, children can meet the cast and ask them questions in the lobby. Showtimes are on Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Advanced seating is available for $7, otherwise tickets are $8 the day of the performance. For more information contact the Northbrook Theatre at 291-2367.

Nominations sought for Outdoor Hall of Fame

The Illinois Conservation Foundation is inviting nominations for the new Illinois Outdoor Hall of Fame, established to honor individuals who have made significant commitments to natural resource protection and outdoor recreation in Illinois.

"Illinois today is a better place to live, work and play because dedicated citizens who are invested in the cause of enhancing the outdoors have made it so," said Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources Director Brent Manning, who serves as chairman of the Illinois Conservation Foundation Board of Directors. "Some of them you know, some of them you don't know. The Illinois Outdoor Hall of Fame will serve to bestow upon them the recognition they so richly deserve."

The first members of the Outdoor Hall of Fame will be inducted at the Illinois Conservation Foundation Annual Dinner and Hall of Fame Banquet on Friday, Feb. 1, 2002 at Drury Lane in Oak Brook.

"Nominees to the Illinois Outdoor Hall of Fame should include those select few outdoor sportsmen and women who truly have made significant contributions or exhibited unparalleled dedication in preserving, promoting, enhancing or supporting natural resources or outdoor recreational opportunities in Illinois," said John D. Schmitt, executive director of the Illinois Conservation Foundation.

Nomination forms are now available and completed nominations should be submitted no later than May 1. A selection committee will review the nominations and announce the inaugural class of Illinois Outdoor Hall of Fame members this summer for induction at the banquet next Feb. 1.

To receive a copy of the official nomination form and a postage-paid return envelope, please call the foundation at (312) 814-7237 or (217) 785-9371, or check the ICF web site at <http://www.llcf.org>.

For more information on the program and the ICF Annual Dinner and Hall of Fame Banquet, contact Ron Allen, Illinois Conservation Foundation, 524 South Second St., Springfield 62701-1787, phone (217) 785-9371.

The Illinois Conservation Foundation raised nearly $10 million in support of programs and projects of the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources since 1995.

'Daily Vault' founder to lead discussion on MP3 technology

The Warren-Newport Public Library in Gurnee, will present "Beginner's Guide to MP3" on Monday, April 30, at 7 p.m.

The discussion will be led by Christopher Thelen, the founder and webmaster of "The Daily Vault" Album Reviews. Thelen, who is a resident of Gurnee, has been an outspoken critic of the music industry's attempts to shut down Napster, the controversial file-sharing software, and is a proponent of MP3 technology.

The discussion will cover all aspects of MP3 technology, including history, how to get and create the files, and the legality of their use. Recent events surrounding Napster will also be covered. All participants will receive a special CD-ROM at the conclusion of the evening, which will contain MP3s from independent artists, as well as other surprises.

Admission to this discussion is free, but requires prior registration. For more information or to register for this discussion, please call Warren-Newport Public Library at 244-5150. The library is located at 224 North O'Plaine Rd., just south of Grand Ave.

Antique Toy and Doll World Show at Kane County Fairgrounds

One-thousand exhibitors will be present at the Antique Toy and Doll World Show Sunday, April 22, at the Kane County Fairgrounds in St. Charles.

A wide variety of collectible toys and dolls will be displayed and for sale at this event.

The Kane County Fairgrounds are located on Randall Rd. between Rtes. 64 and 38.

Admission is $6 for adults, and children 12 and under are free when admitted with an adult.

Additional shows will be June 24 and Oct. 28.

For more information please write the Antique World Shows, P.O. Box 34509, Chicago, IL 60634 or call (847) 526-1645.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

A co-worker tries to help you with a problem, but creates confusion instead. Don't get frustrated; it won't help the situation. Just work together to resolve the problem. Love is in the air at the end of the week. A friend of a friend reveals his or her true feelings for you. Scorpio plays an important role.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Your tendency to keep quiet pays off in the beginning of the week. A close friend needs to talk and reveals personal information. Your confidence will be appreciated. When it comes to romance, you'll have to make a decision. Think about where you stand in that special relationship and where you want to end up.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Be patient at work this week. While your boss may seem too conservative for you, he or she really has your best interest at heart. You need to look out for yourself when it comes to your personal life. It will feel like everyone is against you. Be cautious when making decisions.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Don't be the first to volunteer for a new project at work. Wait to see everything that's involved, because it may be more than you've bargained for. However, you should take a chance when it comes to romance this week. Don't wait for that intriguing person to ask you out. Make the first move.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Your sympathetic side will be called on early in the week. A loved one needs you to listen and give moral support. Be honest, but caring. Give in to your desires, and shower yourself in luxury this weekend. It's going to be a hectic week at work, so you deserve to pamper yourself.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

While you usually like to be alone, working as a team at work this week will make things so much easier. You'll share a lot of good ideas and actually make some close friends. Loved ones will rely on you to take care of a family matter. Aquarius is involved.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Seek harmony in the workplace this week. Don't become involved in an office disagreement. Family matters become hectic this week. Loved ones will look to you for advice and support. Take a deep breath. You'll be able to help everyone out and still have time for yourself.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Follow your instincts in the business world this week. It's your nature to tell the truth, so stick to it. Don't be tempted to embellish; it will backfire. Love takes center stage as the week draws to a close. An old friend will resurface and want to begin a relationship. Follow your heart.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Be frank when a close friend asks for your opinion. While the truth may not be what he or she wants to hear, it's what he or she needs to hear. Your romantic life slows down this week, but don't get discouraged. This break will give you time to relax and focus on yourself for a change.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Now's your chance to shine at work. You'll be given the opportunity to lead a new project; your intelligence and efficiency will shine through. Don't be shy when it comes to meeting new people this week. Your sweet, sensitive side will endear you to someone with a lot of connections.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Let your practical side lead you in your decision making as the week begins. While it may seem like a good idea to make an impulsive purchase at first, don't do it. Finances will be tight by the week's end. A relationship will move into high gear when you realize how much you have in common with that special someone.

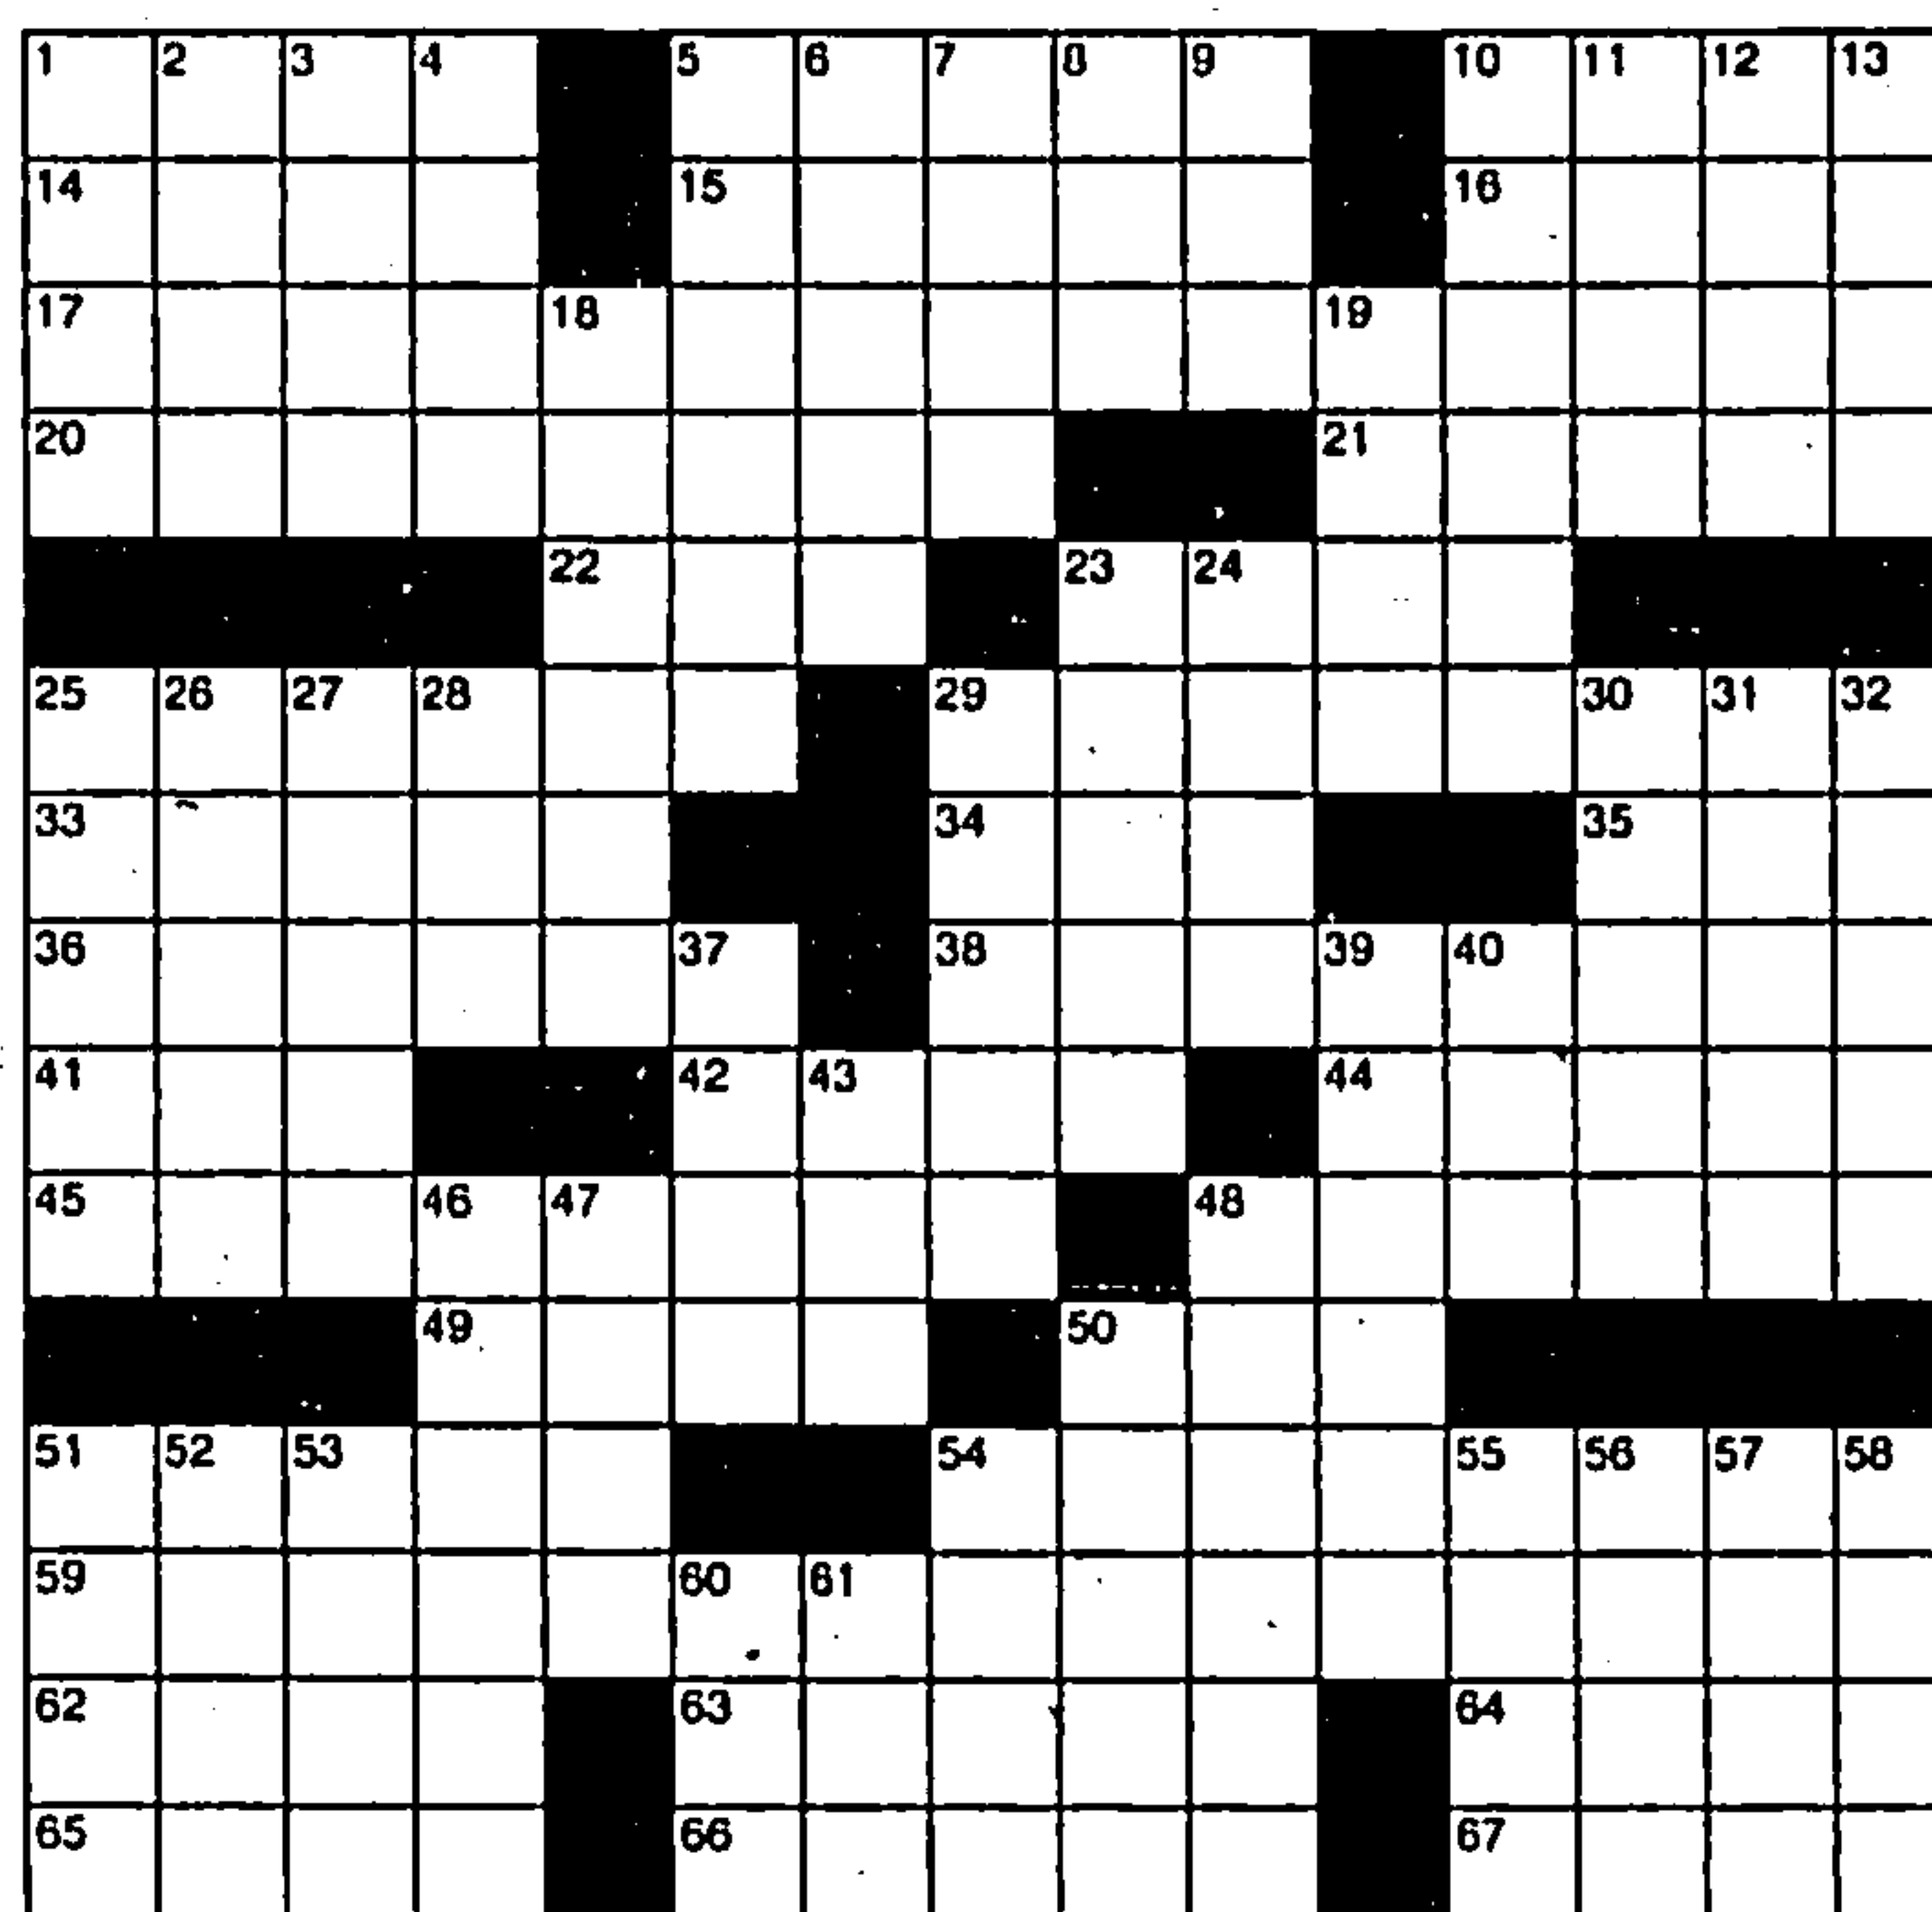

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Slow down this week, because it will feel as if your entire world is closing in on you. A few days off of work will help you relax, and time with loved ones will show you that you're still in control of your life. Virgo and Sagittarius play important roles.

Waukegan Community Players presents 'Once Upon A Mattress'

Waukegan Community Players present "Once Upon A Mattress," a story based on the fairy tale of the "Princess and the Pea," on Friday and Saturday, April 20, 21, 27 and 28 at 8 p.m. and Sunday April 22 at 3 p.m. Performances will be at the San Damiano Auditorium in Provena St. Therese Medical Center, 2615 Washington St. in Waukegan.

The musical is about Prince Dauntless the Drab, played by Matt Schuster, a newcomer to the Waukegan area, whose mother, Queen Aggravain, Jan Graves of Skokie, seeking to keep the boy to herself, has declared that he will wed only a true princess of royal blood. When Princess Winnifred, Jackie Stevenson, former "Miss Waukegan," arrives dripping wet and declares herself a contender for the Prince's hand, the Queen devises a clever test to determine whether the self-proclaimed princess is worthy of her son.

Jennifer Stewart, a recreation supervisor for the Waukegan Park District will direct a cast which includes many veteran WCP members, as well as new faces. Jennifer says, "I am extremely happy to be working with a group of actors/actresses who are very talented and dedicated to the work they are doing." Peter Ullmann is musical director and Liz Viau is the accompanist. Bekki Weinburg and Matt Schuster are co-choreographers. Technical director Chuck Rizzo has transformed the stage into a medieval castle.

Ticket prices are $10 for adults, $8 for students, seniors and military and $4 for children 12 and under. For further information, call 662-0181.

Lake County dedicates new residential facility

Will treat mental, emotional, substance-abuse problems

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Lake County entered a new phase of health care service with the opening of a new Behavioral Health Services building at 3002 Grand Ave. in Waukegan.

The facility boasts 34 beds, 22 staff offices, four activity rooms, craft center, 600-square-foot courtyard, multi-purpose room, five group rooms, two conference rooms and a video monitoring system.

The newly remodeled facility will allow a comprehensive, holistic approach to meeting the needs of adults with mental, emotional and substance abuse issues.

Originally opened in 1977 as the Lake County Juvenile Detention Center, the single-story building has undergone a total renovation and expansion, increasing in area from 15,000 square feet to 24,150 square feet.

The building came under the auspices of the Coordinated Area Treatment Services (CATS) program of the Lake County Health Dept./Community Health Center in 1996, when the 15-bed juvenile detention center was moved to a new facility.

In 1999, the County Board approved approximately $1.5 million for the expansion and renovation of the building.

The new facility will be able to serve clients with a wide range of addiction services including a 5-15 day residential detoxification program, residential rehabilitation and individual and group therapy.

Up to 26 people can be served in the residential unit. "This is the only inpatient (detoxification) addiction service in Lake County," said Health Dept. Executive Director Dale Galassie.

Mentally ill clients will be served with an equally extensive scope of service.

The CATS program provides a 24-hour emergency hotline where callers can speak with a crisis-intervention counselor.

Problems ranging from temporary stress to more serious and enduring problems will find solutions in the form of psychotherapy, medication and counseling.

An eight-bed respite program will be available for chronically mentally ill people in crisis.

Community day treatment will be provided, helping clients to meet the demands of daily living.

Vocational services will offer job coaching, as well as refer clients for placement in community jobs, vocational training or sheltered workshops.

All these programs have been in place in one form or another for many years, but this is the first time the county will be able to offer them under one roof.

Dale W. Galassie right, executive director of the Lake County Health Dept. and Community Health Center, displays a plaque acknowledging the contribution of the Lake County Board in providing funds for the rehabilitation and expansion of the new Behavioral Health Services facility in Waukegan. He is accompanied by, from left, Loretta McCorley, chairwoman for health and human services on the County Board, David Schanding, director of behavioral health services for the Lake County Health Dept. and Suzi Schmidt, Lake County Board chairwoman. —Photo by Brenda Balin-Beitscher

Sheriff's Marine Unit patrols set to resume

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re announced that the Lake County Sheriff's Office Marine Unit will be activated for the 2001 boating season on Saturday, May 5.

Sheriff Del Re emphasized an ongoing commitment to promote safe and fun boating for all who use the waterways in Lake County this season. To achieve this goal, the Sheriff's Office Marine Unit is authorized to enforce state laws, local and county ordinances and United States Coast Guard regulations.

During the course of the boating season, the Marine Unit works closely with land-based units of the Sheriff's office as well as other law enforcement agencies including the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, the McHenry County Sheriff's Office, the U.S. Coast Guard and the Fox Waterway Agency.

While on-duty, Marine Unit deputies carry many responsibilities. These can include re-

Open Hearts Awards to honor faith communities

To identify and honor faith communities that are taking steps to include persons with disabilities in all aspects of spiritual life, Pathways Awareness Foundation is calling for nominations for its Open Hearts Award. Cash prizes of $1,000 will be granted to three Chicago-area houses of worship that show outstanding leadership in one of the following categories:

Affirmation—How the faith community recognizes and affirms the gifts of children and adults with disabilities by including them in a full life of faith and participation in worship. Examples: participation on the altar/chancel/bema; training ushers/lay leaders as role models; surveying members needs; creating a box for inclusion suggestions.

Communication—The ways a faith community makes it easier for people with physical, sensory or mental disabilities to participate in the worship and life of the community. Examples: using large-type (14 pt.) bulletins and prayers; quality FM wireless sound systems;

Habitat for Humanity seeks homebuyers

Habitat for Humanity Lake County will hold four information meetings for families interested in applying to purchase a Habitat house. The homes are sold in the mid $70,000s with a 30-year, interest-free mortgage. Habitat is seeking applicants for houses to be built on the south side of Waukegan or in North Chicago in the year 2001.

The meetings will take place on Thursday, April 26 from 7-9 p.m. and Saturday, April 28 from 9:30-11:30 a.m. or for Spanish-speaking applicants on Saturday, April 28 from noon-2 p.m. and Thursday, May 3 from 7-9 p.m. All meetings will be held at the Waukegan Public Library, 128 N. County St.

Families interested in a Habitat house must attend one of the meetings in order to receive an application. Applicants must be permanent residents of Lake County, whose current housing is substandard, overcrowded or otherwise seriously inadequate. A yearly income of $25,000-$35,000 is required and families must be willing to be partners with Habitat by working 500 hours on the construction of their house or other Habitat needs.

Habitat for Humanity International is a non profit, ecumenical Christian housing ministry which seeks to eliminate poverty housing by building and rehabilitating simple, decent houses using volunteer labor and donated materials. House payments are recycled to build more homes for struggling families in our community.

Sen. Geo-Karis advances emission testing bill

Area vehicle owners gained a victory in the Senate Transportation committee, Senators Adeline Geo-Karis advanced legislation to hold emission testing facilities liable for damages during mandatory emission testing.

"My constituents have had problems with the testing company for years," said Geo-Karis (R-Zion). "The companies simply claim they aren't liable and don't have to pay for damages. This legislation will make them liable and let the courts decide who pays."

According to Geo-Karis, the treadmill test used in the emission inspections and the lack of care used by the employees of the testing facility, have led to extensive vehicle damages, including transmission damage, ruined clutches, and damaged tires.

Envirotest, the company who perform the emission tests for the Environmental Protection Agency, has set up a process for claims, but in most cases vehicle owners must prove how the car was damaged by Envirotest. Geo-Karis says this poses a burden for the average car owner who does not have enough knowledge of the test of the vehicle.

"This isn't just one instance where a vehicle owner has complained of damages," said Geo-Karis. "With this many constituents calling my office, something has got to be wrong with the test or the employees are simply negligent. With the company's current policy, car owners would need to videotape their car being tested to prove any damages were Envirotest's fault."

Geo-Karis also indicated that Envirotest currently videotapes the tests, but will not permit the vehicle owners to see the tapes.

The Auditor General is currently investigating whether or not Envirotest's employees are properly trained and exercising due care, whether Envirotest has an effective process to record and resolve complaints. They are also comparing the vehicle emission test used in Illinois with those used in other states. The audit should be completed in a few months.

Senate Bill 30 is co-sponsored by Senator Kathy Parker (R-Northbrook) and now moves to the full Senate for further consideration.

Annual statewide spring litter pick-up day planned

The third annual spring statewide litter pick-up day will be held Saturday, April 21, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT). Adopt-A-Highway groups from around the state will be out picking up trash and litter from Illinois roadways and streets.

"Hundreds of groups are expected to pick up thousands of bags of trash as they kick off another season to keep Illinois clean," said Kirk Brown, secretary of IDOT. "More than 300 groups turned out last spring for this wonderful community service effort to improve the environment."

More than 12,000 volunteers with 1,250 local groups have adopted about 2,400 miles of highway in Illinois. The groups have two-year contracts with IDOT, which provides the signs identifying the groups, safety vests, and trash bags. Groups clean the highways several times a year, and IDOT picks up the bags for disposal. The department also urges groups to recycle any trash, such as aluminum cans.

"We urge motorists to watch out for groups walking along the roadsides this weekend," Brown said, "and encourage other groups to help out in the future by becoming involved with this special program."

For additional information about the Adopt-A-Highway program, visit the IDOT web site: www.dot.state.il.us.

One-day-only compost bin sale is May 19

Last year, 4,000 homeowners across Lake County took advantage of a Solid Waste Agency of Lake County program and bought a popular home compost bin at a greatly reduced price. These residents are now composting their food and other organic wastes at home. Due to the interest in these bins, Swallowco will hold a third compost bin truckload sale at 10 Lake County locations on Saturday, May 19 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For $20 per bin, including tax, residents can take home an Earth Machine home composting bin to turn kitchen scraps, yard waste, grass clippings and garden waste into a rich soil amendment. The bins are commercially available for a retail price of $79.95. Under this program, the discounted compost bins will be available at the locations noted below on May 19 only, rain or shine.

Prep News and Notes

Boys Lacrosse

The Libertyville-Vernon Hills varsity boys

Lacrosse club put on an offensive show, cruising past Fremd 16-4. The game was hard-hitting from the opening quarter until the end. Ben Mosko and Greer Hanlon each tallied three goals, while Luke Thompson added two. Nick Zare, Eric Raup, Ken Ormsby, Dan Yates, Matt Hudson, Andy Sassin, Phil Trimble and Tyler Labrum each added one goal apiece. Libertyville-Vernon Hills then fell to Lake Forest 15-9. Continual rain throughout the contest made it difficult for both teams. In the losing effort, Greer Hanlon scored five goals, Ben Mosko two and Matt Hudson and Paul Richau one apiece. Andy Kapral was again solid in goal.

And, the Mundelein Athletic Boosters Club announces their second annual MHS Athletic Booster Golf Outing featuring the MHS Hall of Fame Banquet. It will be held Tuesday, June 19 at the Steeplechase Golf Club in Mundelein. Banquet will follow immediately at the Crown Plaza Hotel, formerly the Mundelein Holiday Inn.

Last year's outing saw 124 golfers take to the links to help raise $19,000 which was used to purchase athletic equipment for the training room and will be used by all Mundelein athletes.

Packages of Golf only, golf and dinner or dinner alone tickets will be available. Former MHS students and staff will be inducted at the banquet ceremony.

The committee is accepting volunteers to help plan and coordinate this year's event. Solicitation for sponsors and donations of Silent Auction raffle items is also needed.

For information regarding golfing, dinner, donations or volunteering time call Tom Rogan at (414) 558-9914.

Transactions

Gurnee's Jonathan Smanz of Warren High School has signed a letter of intent to play soccer for Loyola University next year. Last fall, Smanz was an all-conference and all-sectional player who also earned honorable mention all-state recognition.

Last season, the Ramblers captured a share of its first Midwestern Collegiate title after being picked to finish seventh in the pre-season. Leading scorer Chris Gradilla returns for a team that posted an 11-8-1 record, their best since winning 11 matches in 1996.

And, Warren boys basketball standout Mark Klemm, a 6-4 forward, has accepted a full basketball scholarship to attend St. Edwards University in Austin, Texas beginning next fall. Klemm was a leading scorer and rebounder for the Blue Devils the past two seasons. He was also named all-conference and all-county as both a junior and senior as Warren compiled a 44-13 overall record. During that time, Warren claimed two North Suburban Conference titles, two regionals and one sectional crown. He is the son of Mark and Michelle Klemm of Gurnee.

Youth Beat

North American Youth Sports (NAYS) announced that they still have openings for their youth basketball tournament June 15-17 at Batavia High School. The event will also feature 10 different brackets. The entry fee for this one is $250 and guarantees each team a minimum of five games. Awards will also be presented in each bracket. Entry deadline is May 25.

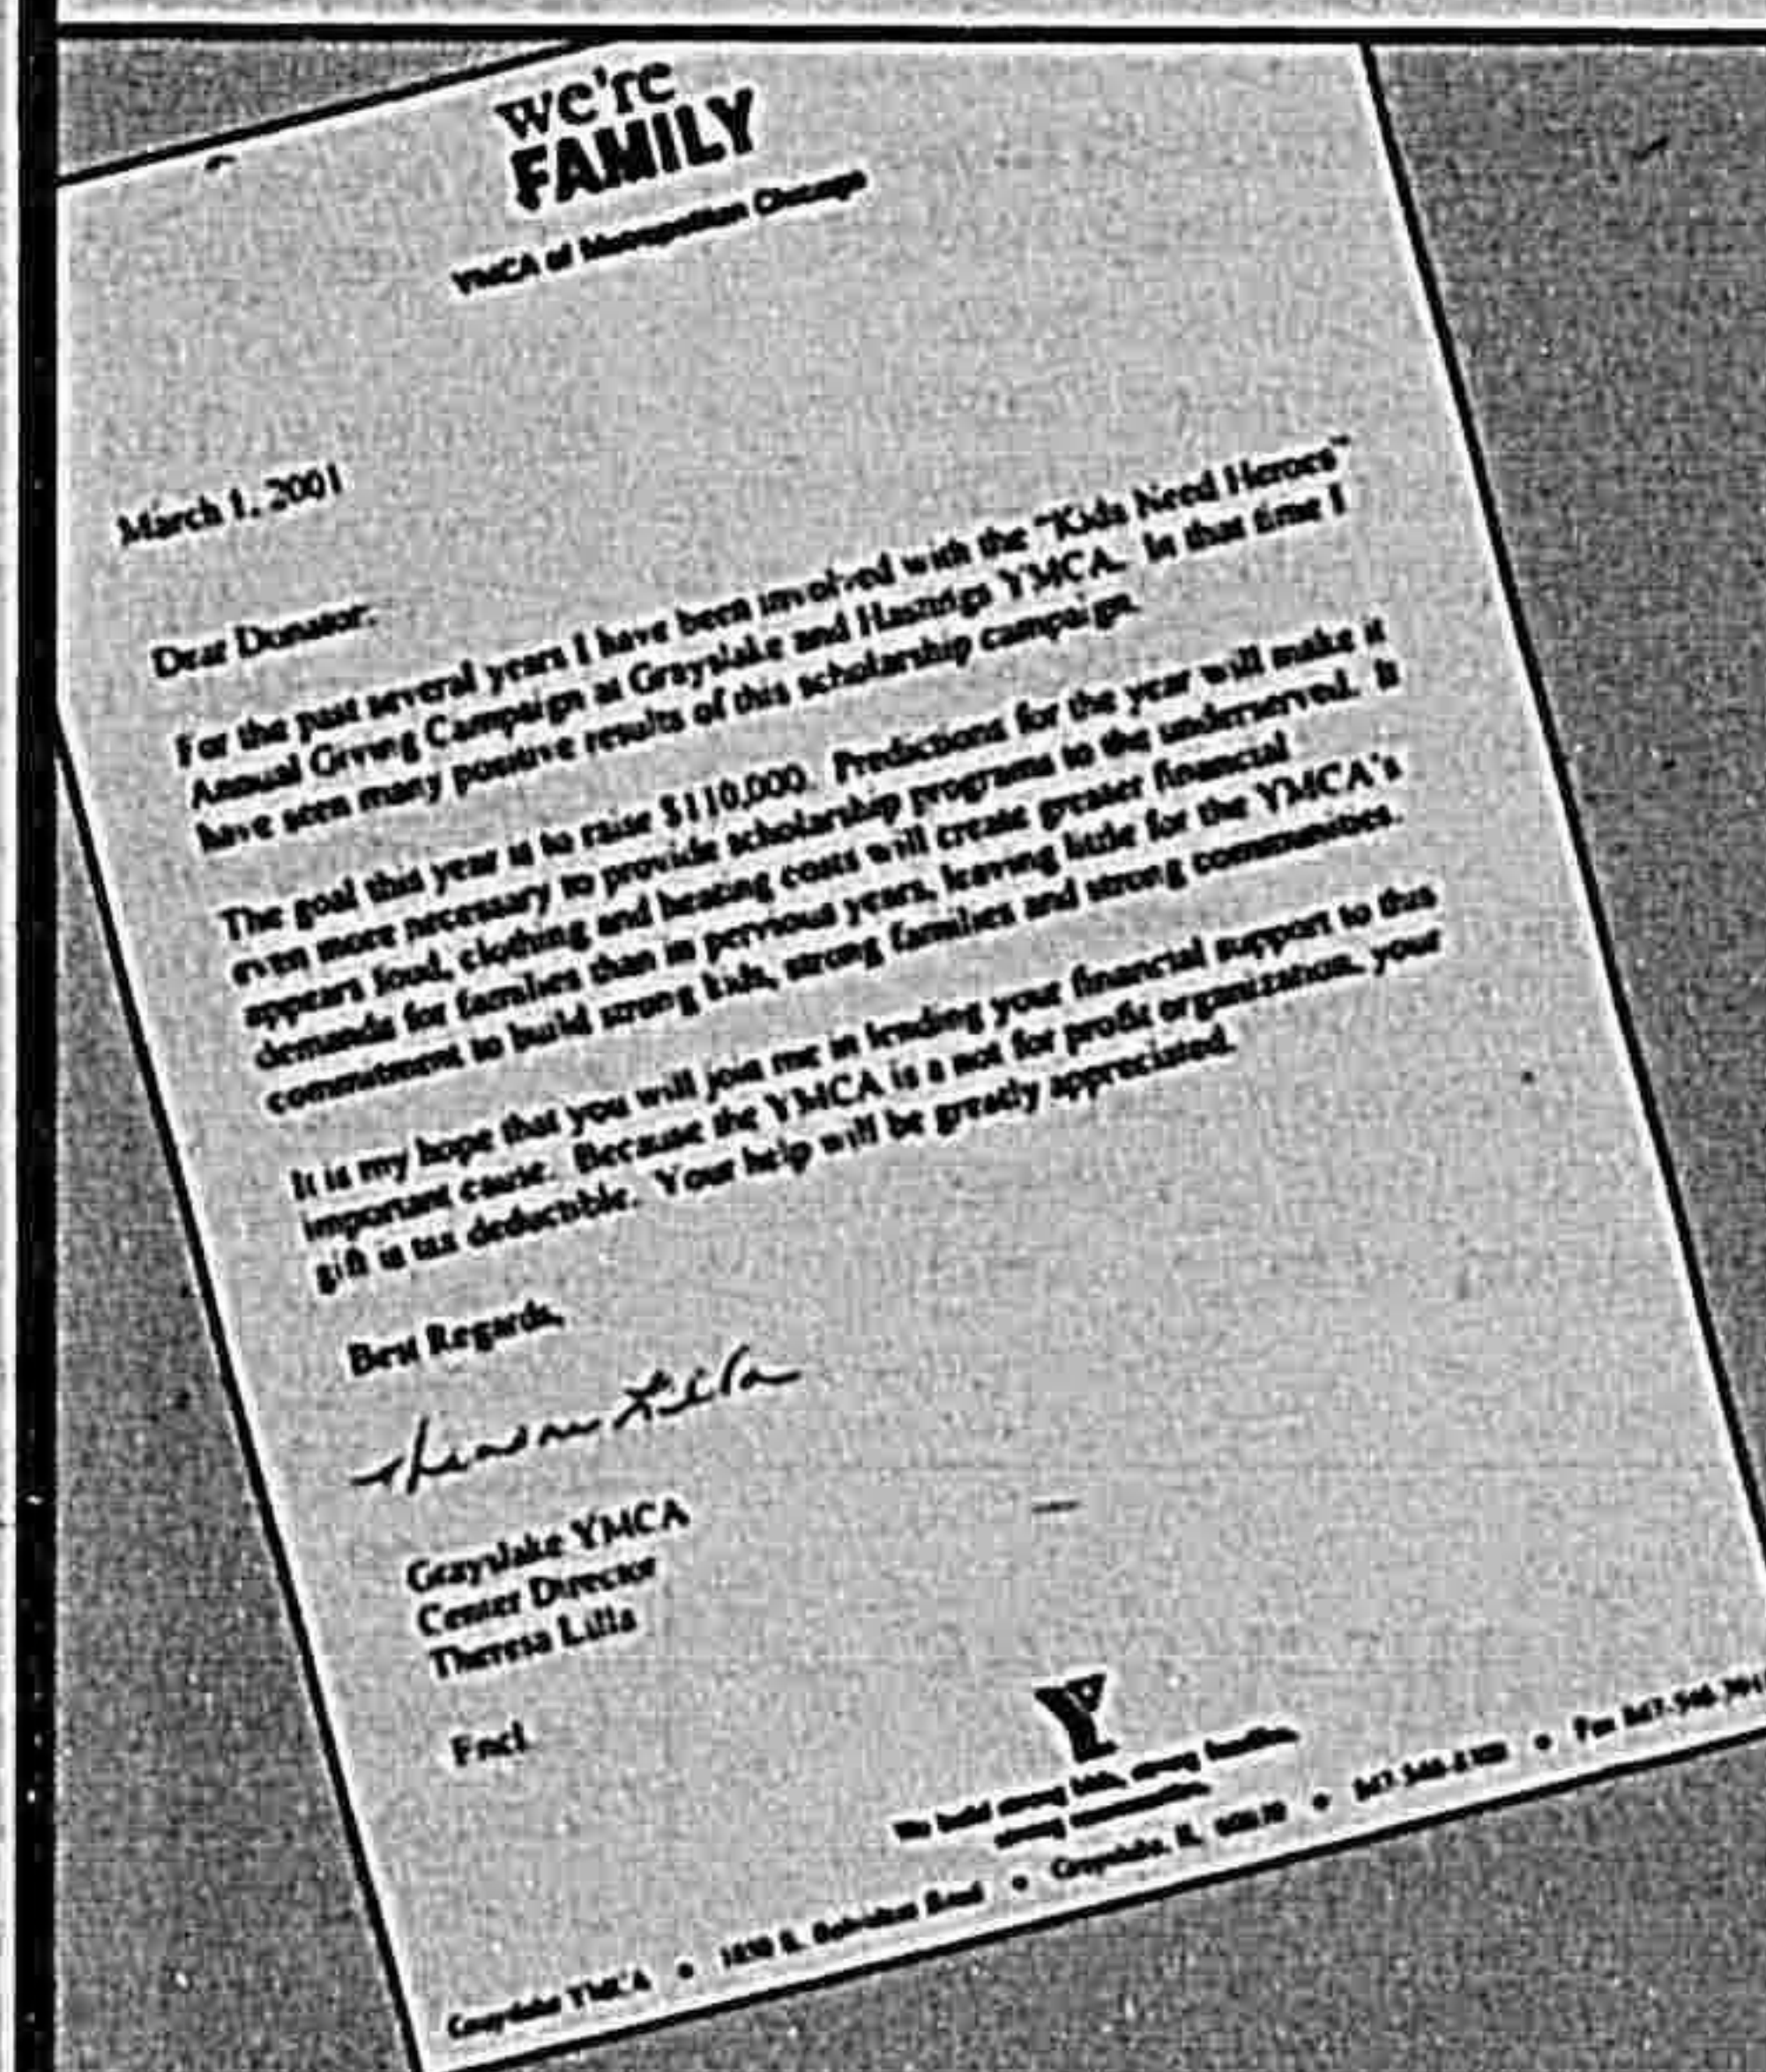

For additional information or an entry form for any of the tournaments, please contact Mark Garrigan at the toll free NAYS spring tournament hotline at (800) 787-3265 or tournament director Scott Burkett at (630) 879-4600, ext. 4817.

Dogpatch label dogs RV parks

Ever since County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) referred to them as "Dogpatch," it's been downhill for the recreational vehicle parks. Now the RV parks, most of them clustered in Antioch around the Chain O' Lakes, face stringent new operating rules.

County opposition didn't exactly sneak up on park owners, who capitalized on America's flight to nature following World War II by providing sites for weekend campers. Neighbors began complaining about them 25 years ago, according to County Board Rep. Judy Martini (R-Antioch). One of the complaints is that the RV occupants aren't campers, but permanent residents who don't pay taxes.

It makes no difference that, in most cases, the weekend campers arrived before owners of permanent homes. Being there first isn't much of an argument when urbanization is taking place. Witness the long-standing battle going on between O'Hare and neighboring communities.

Park owners, who are pretty near the truth when complaining that officialdom aims to put them out of business, don't realize how close they are to cashing in on our changing countryside. Like owners of Lake County's hundreds of small farms, in time they can recoup investments by selling their parks for development—or to the county for open space. Camper trailer residents might grumble, but they can pack up and move elsewhere. That's what attracted them to camping in the first place, the convenience of pulling up stakes and finding a new and interesting place to camp.

Vets shortchanged by Bush budget

Part of the soft underbelly of the Bush tax cut is a reduction in veterans' benefits. Locally, that plays out for continuation of efforts to downgrade the Veterans Administration Medical Center at North Chicago including closing the hospital.

While 10th Dist. Congressman Mark Kirk (R-Ill.) fights to save the VA Center in his district, Democrats are making hay with familiar party line assertions that the administration veterans benefit cuts are another example of how tax policy is geared "for the wealthiest one percent of all Americans."

Congresswoman Jan Schakowsky (D-9th) of Evanston used those very words in a letter asserting that she is opposed to the Bush budget because it shortchanges veterans. So goes life in the political arena. The facts are that $2 trillion in federal tax relief rubs against a House Veterans' Affairs Committee recommendation of an increase of $2.1 billion for discretionary programs. The Bush budget calls for only a $1.1 billion increase. The difference quite likely would be sufficient to keep the hospital operational, a facility relied upon by veterans both in Lake County and northeastern Illinois.

The Bush budget for veterans plays into the hands of long-standing bureaucratic efforts to shrink North Chicago VA. The downgrading goes on regardless of which party is in power. The shame of this stance is that it breaks the contract for health care made by our nation when men and women don the uniform of our armed forces. What does that say to prospective enlistees?

Sen. Peter Fitzgerald making noises — some GOP don't want to hear

What's with this guy, U.S. Sen. Peter Fitzgerald (R-Illinois) tackling with the honchos in the Republican Party?

Are we Democrats supposed to sit back and enjoy the show and hope that it continues? We really don't know until we find out what's behind it. I have enough trouble trying to figure what is going on with the Democrats, but I'll take a swing at it.

First, let's get to the bottom line. Sen. Fitzgerald has so much cash to back him, resources from his father's banking background, that he has more liberty to do just about what he chooses. The Republican big-wigs can say that he is a grandstander, which House Speaker Dennis Hastert did. They can say that he's not a team player, which they have, but who does that alienate but the heavy-hitters who want to manage the team? They can say that he has his own agenda, but is it that he doesn't follow their agenda?

SEEING

Abe Lincoln doesn't get much blame for anything anymore, but we can pin this one on him. It all seemed to start when Sen. Fitzgerald said he saw too many insider deals

VIEWPOINT

Rudny's style: open, patient

There are people all over Lake County, besides his backers in the spring election, pulling for success for Don Rudny, who will be sworn in May 7 as mayor of Gurnee.

They are former co-workers of Rudny at the Frank G. Hough Co., a Libertyville company that was so successful building front-end loading tractors that its trade mark, Payloader, became a generic name with a lower case p.

It was a job in Hough engineering that attracted a young engineer to Lake County after graduation from Illinois Institute of Technology. The mayor-elect and his wife settled in Mundelein in 1970, residing there for nine years before purchasing a new home in Country Trails subdivision where they still live today.

"We saw Gurnee as an up and coming community," remarked Rudny, a native of Chicago (Chicago Ave. and Pulaski Rd.) and a graduate of Weber High School. At Weber, Don was a classmate of Mike Krzyzewski, who went on to become the legendary Coach K of Duke University, 2001 national collegiate champs and a perennial basketball powerhouse.

"Duke won the championship on Monday and I was elected Tuesday," Rudny noted over a Saturday morning cup of coffee. "I told my wife, 'The Weber boys are doing pretty good,'" he chuckled.

Gurnee's aura of newness and urban potential in those days was largely the product of visionary Village President Dick Welton who was defeated by Rudny in last month's election. Welton worked tirelessly for more than two decades to shape Gurnee. Rudny is quick to dispel thoughts that his decision to run for mayor of one of suburbia's fastest growing communities in the 1980s and early 90s was over major differences with Welton.

Far from personal animosity, Rudy served 16 years on the village planning commission so he was part of the team that designed a community of 30,000 that has become known for a famous amusement park and at one time the world's largest outlet shopping mall. But as a village trustee elected two years ago, Rudny said he became aware of a changing attitude toward Gurnee growth, particularly on the part of newcomers. They were looking for a less hectic pace.

"Our differences are mostly style," Rudny remarked when asked to compare himself to Welton, the master of grand planning and a consummate deal maker who frequently forged ahead on his own. "I'm for more citizen involvement in the governmental process. I favor less residential growth as called for in our master plan. I favor bringing in office and light industry to improve our tax base," remarked the soft-spoken engineer who now is a partner in a consulting firm specializing in the automotive industry.

BILL SCHROEDER

Rudny, 52, who once served as chief engineer of International Harvester, is intrigued with his hometown becoming a corporate headquarters for major businesses. "We've got all the amenities. We're on a major highway and we're close to a regional airport."

Lake County's one time go-go village may become a go-slow community. Spoken like a true hometown booster, the mayor-elect exclaimed earnestly, "I love my town. This is where I want to be the rest of my life." And Don Rudy is patient. He admitted with a grin that he's a die-hard Cub fan. "I suffered major depression when the Cubs blew the pennant in 1969." Cub fans are born patient.

Who CARES?

Phil Mazur, the one-man task force to prevent the closing of the North Chicago Veterans Hospital, has produced a new definition of CARES, the acronym for the Dept. of Veterans Affairs project for Capital Asset Realignment for Enhanced Services which is the bureaucratic spearhead to close the hospital. Phil says CARES stands for Closing Already Reduced Entitled Services. To lend a hand to the effort to save the hospital for local and regional veterans health care, send support letters to Congressman Mark Kirk. Deadline April 30. Address: 1531 Longworth House Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20515

Keeps returning

Two Lake County events are on the "must" schedule of Doris McCloery, who maintains a busy lifestyle in Washington, D.C., where her late husband, Bob, served in Congress for many years. Doris returns every April for the annual Republican Federation dinner and she'll be back again in August for the GOP Blarney Island gathering on the Chain O'Lakes. McCloery's presence alone accounts for ticket sales for three or four tables at the big Federation fundraiser set for April 27 at Marriott Lincolnshire. "Put us at Doris' table. Or at least near her," political friends exclaim.

Dean back

Democrats are hailing the return of Tony Dean to elective politics. The former conservation chief under Gov. Dan Walker anticipates a smooth transition as the newly elected mayor of Long Grove. Dean, an active environmentalist, is a long-time foe of the extension of Rte. 53. Battling the proposed highway is a long-standing Long Grove policy.

U of I gift

Shoppers at Lisbon Interiors in Lake Forest were pleased to learn that co-owner Elisabeth Young Winter left a $1 million gift for the University of Illinois College of Liberal Arts and Sciences following her death last October. She operated the decorating establishment with her sister-in-law, Bonnie Ilten Young, following a successful career as a buyer for Carson Pirie Scott for many years. She also left an endowment at Kellogg Graduate school at Northwestern in memory of her husband.

Tamarack excluded

The Forest Preserve Dist. purchase of 391 acres in Fremont Township known as the Epstein farm does not include Tamarack, a rustic retreat off Gilmer Rd. Surrounded by pines, the log home was a favorite place to relax for the late John Epstein, who acquired more than 2,000 acres of land as owner of Grayslake Gelatin and the Epstein farms. Epstein was a noted outdoorsman and conservationist who resided in Highland Park. Tamarack, located on the shore of a man-made lake, was patterned after lodges in Aspen and Vail.

One man's family

After an evening of babysitting, gramps discovered the definition of a perpetual motion machine: a 10-month-old who is learning to walk. Grandson Tommy was a blur of activity: crawling, tugging, pulling, standing, grasping, gesturing, rolling, turning, tumbling, laughing, crying—all at the same time!

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKE LAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Dave, Bo show looms for Federation dinner

Congressman David Dreier (R-California) is considered to have the right combination of marquee value and political philosophy to attract an overflow turnout for the annual Lake County Republican Federation dinner Friday, April 27.

The fact that he might have actress Bo Derek at his side won't hurt attendance either at the big fundraising event at Marriott Lincolnshire.

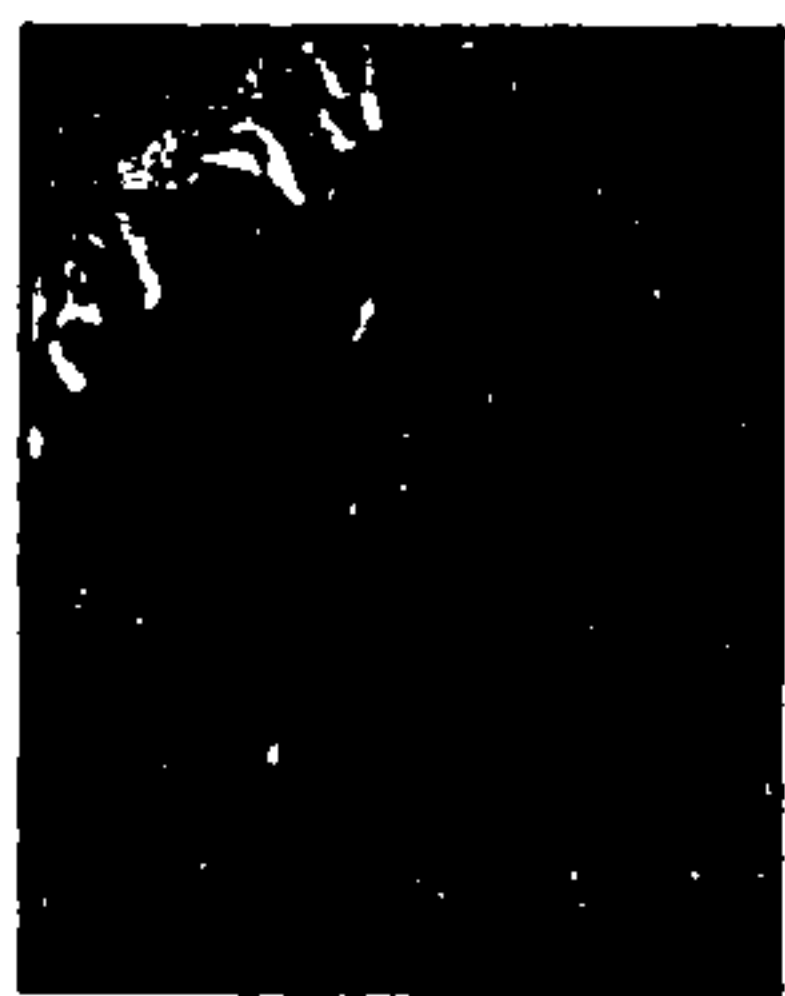

With Hollywood good looks and the chairmanship of the House rules committee, Dreier, 48, follows a long line of GOP notables addressing the dinner, considered the high point of the Republican year in Lake County.

Dreier hails from San Gabriel, solid GOP territory in the Los Angeles area. Not an ideologue or stiffly conservative, Dreier has built a reputation as a unifier and consensus builder. He is rated the most eligible bachelor in Congress.

Dinner planners won't know until the last minute whether Derek, who addressed the 2000 Republican nominating convention, will accompany the keynote speaker. "The congressman knows that he is welcome to bring a guest," a committee member stated.

Growth incentive

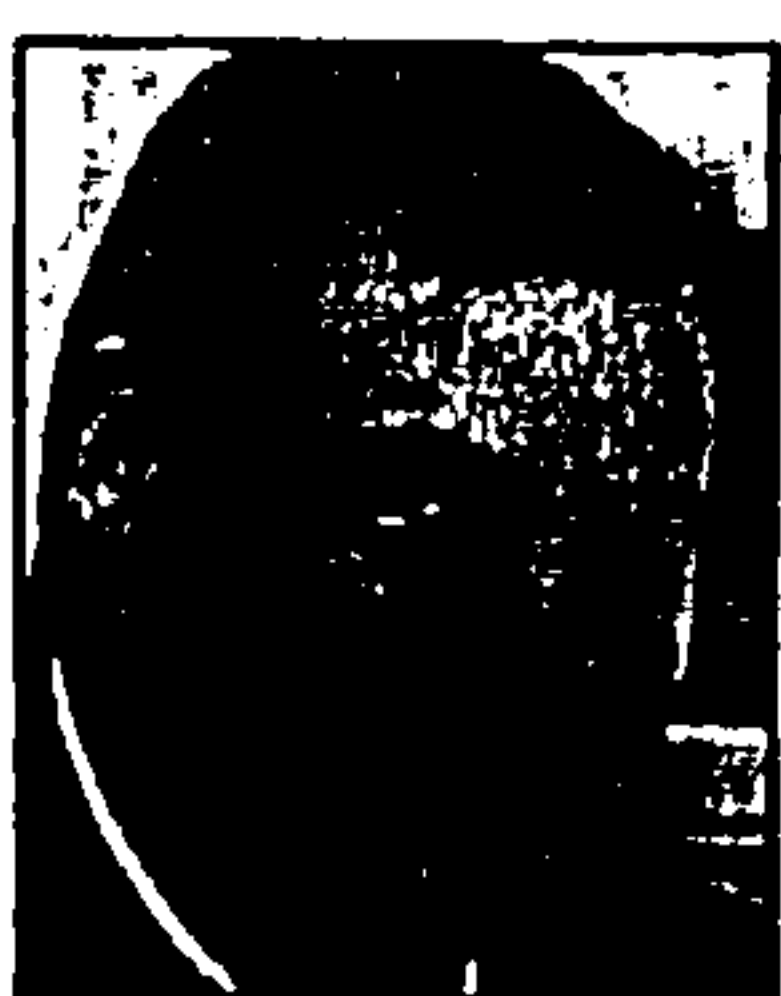

An outcome of the hotly contested Fremont Consolidated School board of education race will be an inquiry into the growth incentive portion of Supt. Gary Mical's contract. A bloc of anti-growth residents say Mi-

Derek: Raising campaign bucks in Lake County.

Schrimpf: Working at retirement.

Powell: Very expensive campaign backfired.

cal is too friendly toward developers. Board newcomer Arthur A. Weller is pledged to reigning in growth. Defeated board member Wendy Way attributed her loss to opposition to an education tax rate increase supported by teachers and growth advocates.

Critics reversed

Republicans in Waukegan Township are having the last laugh on State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) who led critics scoring County Clerk Willard Helander last year for her stand questioning provisions of the National Voter Rights Act that simplify voter registration. Democrats said Helander was targeting minority groups. GOP partisans said Link-led Democrats closely monitored minority registration in an attempt to influence the Feb. 27 party primary that nominated Dan Drew for Waukegan mayor. The federal act eliminates voter verification provided by deputy registrars.

Foreman boomlet

A group of Republican insiders has started drum beating for the election of Fred Foreman for Lake County Republican chairman. They like Foreman's leadership style and his connection with state GOP leaders. A former Lake County state's attorney and former U.S. District Attorney for northern Illinois, Foreman now practices law with a high profile Chicago law firm. Green Oaks Mayor Tom Adams continues to be mentioned as a possible successor to current GOP chief John Schullen. Foreman is a Gurnee resident.

No more running

After losing for Avon Township trustee, Carl Schrimpf has indicated he might be through with elective politics. Schrimpf served as mayor of Round Lake Beach, orchestrating much of the Rollins Rd. growth and development. His involvement in public service goes back to the days when police magistrates presided over local cases before court reform eliminated grassroots courts.

Big spender

Campaign spending for Steven Powell's bid for Mundelein mayor has been put at $70,000 for direct contributions and in-kind gifts. A major portion reportedly going towards direct mail campaign. That would make his losing effort Lake County's most expensive village campaign in history.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Winners are losers

Several political races in this last election had three or more candidates running for the same titled position. This resulted in the victors receiving less than 50 percent of the total vote cast for said elective office. That indicates the victors in such races squeaked in and had no mandate from the voters.

The Libertyville Township supervisor contest, a three person race, was won by Francis T. Graham who got only 45.5 percent of the total votes cast. This meant that 54.5 percent of the voters were for Graham's opponents and against the incumbent Graham's current policies and record.

Graham is quoted in local newspapers as saying by winning he has a mandate for his Open Space program which he also stated was the only real issue of his "Green Party" campaign.

The failure of the majority of referendums in this last election, plus the sagging economy and the dramatic rise in heating, electric and gasoline costs combined to sound a mandate cry from the voters for NO ADDITIONAL TAXING.

Apparently, the 54.5 percent of the voters who did not vote for Mr. Graham were not enthralled with the thought of Open Space referendums that push the Libertyville Township Taxpayers Property Tax bills sky high. I'm sure they will confirm this opinion if he tries for another Open Space Referendum. The results, most likely, will be the same as the February of 1999 referendum which lost by a two to one mandate margin.

What's in a name? Alphabet soup?

When Duke University won the national collegiate basketball championship recently a sports writer, trying to put a fancy spin on the story, began questioning Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski like this:

"You're a karma kind of guy —"
"No," corrected Krzyzewski. "I'm a Polish kind of guy."

Don't you like it when people are proud of their heritage, and treasure their family names no matter how hard they are to spell and pronounce?

My Polish-American pal Bill Sobol long has lamented that his father shortened their name from the more ethnically eloquent Soboleski.

Krzyzewski, the famous basketball coach, apparently appreciates the fact his ancestors didn't shorten Krzyzewski to Kay, or some other sawed-off surname.

But imagine how constantly his name has been butchered, and how often he has had to spell it out for people.

I have one of those tricky monikers, although not as difficult to decipher as Krzyzewski. As in many German names the "P" is silent, so I regularly must explain to spellers: "P" as in purple, "F" as in funny, etc. etc.

I happen to be the only Pfarr in our local

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

phone book, on the same page as Pfaffenbach, Pfanzelter, Pfitzenreuter, Pfefferkorn and others whose ancestors came over from Germany.

Pfaffenbach, Pfanzelter, Pfitzenreuter and Pfefferkorn. Now, those are what I call nifty names, even better than Pfarr.

I suppose our ancestors along the way could have dropped the "P's" but that would have spoiled the pfun.

Years ago, when I would phone for a pizza, I would have to spell out P-F-A-R-R. And the pizza person would ask something like, "Is that T-S-?"

"No," I would explain, "P" as in pretty, "F" as in funky."

Eventually, I decided to say my name was Arnold Palmer and a half-hour later go and pick up Arnold Palmer's pizza.

Not far from Germany, in the weird language of Wales, Bzjxdlwcp is pronounced Jackson. Go figure.

Generally, people treasure their names. If not, they change them. That's how Frances Gumm became Judy Garland, Allen Stewart Konigsberg became Woody Allen, Bernard Schwartz became Tony Curtis, Benjamin Kubelsky became Jack Benny, and Danielovich Demsky became Kirk Douglas.

The Pfarr name has come in handy at times. My Uncle Nick co-owned a gasoline station along with a fellow named Jim Neer. Their business became known far and wide as "Pfarr and Neer."

My father and four brothers also owned a gas station. Their slogan: "The Best by Pfarr."

In early Biblical times each person had only one name, such as Adam, Eve, Isaiah and Solomon. Family names caught on in England in the Middle Ages. There were so many Johns, Roberts and Thomases, to be specific people began referring to them by occupations, like John the smith, Robert the carpenter, Thomas the baker.

Marriage can alter the original name plan. If Olivia Newton John married Wayne Newton and then Elton John, she would be Olivia Newton John Newton John.

If actress Glenn Close married into my family, she would be Glenn Close Pfarr.

And then there's Elizabeth Taylor Hilton Wilding Todd Fisher Burton Warner Burton Fortensky.

naming U.S. Attorneys to "go soft on Ryan." Some of the newspapers editorialized against the scheme, if that's what it was. Because it went so far away from what has been traditionally done, there will be doubters in spite of Speaker Hastert's denial. On paper, it appears as though Sen. Fitzgerald won that round, but we'll wait until "the rest of the story" unfolds.

So, while Sen. Fitzgerald has been accused "by his own" of being a grandstander, he has been gutsy about taking a position of leadership within his party. I don't hear anyone criticizing other Republicans of grandstanding when they do everything but say they will run for governor. Will they be rewarded because they didn't "rock the boat?"

I may be a Democrat but I commend Sen. Fitzgerald who I believe thinks that if someone doesn't rock the boat now, the "whole political ship may sink together later." In the process, I believe that he has made himself politically stronger, whether the "team leaders" believe it, or not. Time will tell.

when he served in the state legislature and he wanted to guard against that. Now, if that is grandstanding, we ought to pack the grandstand with such openness, rather than attack it.

At the time, many insider Republican leaders seemed to say that the feud was a personality battle between Senator Fitzgerald and Governor George Ryan. That theory was strengthened when Fitzgerald admitted there was a problem between the two of them.

The senator went so far as to say that Gov. Ryan should consider not running for re-election. U.S. Senators are not in the habit of picking fights with governors of their own party. But, because of what has been called the "Secretary of State Scandal" that continues to haunt Ryan, hasn't Sen. Fitzgerald said publicly what many Republicans have been murmuring privately? Isn't Fitzgerald saying that, whatever Ryan does as governor, he will be perceived politically as "damaged goods" because of the media attention to the scandal?

"Round Two" in the "battle" surfaced when Sen. Fitzgerald wanted what U.S. Senators always have had when their political party wins the presidency, and that is to control who receives the strong positions of U.S. Attorneys within their state. It was clear the Speaker Hastert wanted a "big say" in this process.

Now, why this fight against Fitzgerald? As you know, U.S. Attorneys have been known to indict politicians for their transgressions. Some of the media picked up on this issue right away. Was this a "Friends of Ryan" team trying to get into the issue of

Shortage of healthcare workers continues to grow

Candidates for nursing positions even more rare

How widespread is the healthcare worker shortage?

This problem is a nationwide problem, not just affecting all the healthcare facilities in the area. With workforce shortages already a problem in healthcare, it was exacerbated the last couple of years by a surging economy and shrinking unemployment.

Duration of problem?

The shortage has been evident concurrently for at least four years now.

How has this problem been brought about by societal factors?

Contributors are aging population, lack of desire by the work force to enter the field, and the move from a clinical setting to the office setting for more financial reward.

Looking for right candidates.

Midwestern and other discerning institutions will hire top-performing candidates right out of school or with little experience if they meet "big picture" requirements. Locally, Gateway in Racine has an excellent two-year associates program for nursing. CLC in Grayslake has an excellent Lab Tech program. Only 1 percent of candidates meet standards for the facility in Zion. One percent of a shrinking candidate base is a real struggle. In fact, managers are beginning to get back into hands-on clinical care because the financial rewards can be greater in some specialties.

Avoiding the wrong candidates

What tends to happen when people hear of a shortage in nursing is they enroll for the money or a guaranteed job. There are some institutions who fall to temptation of hiring these people to fill positions with a body. Midwestern does not look at those candidates nor do they have a promise of longevity in healthcare because they pursued it for the wrong reason. Candidates must be in it for the desire and passion of caregiving. "We want a marriage, not a date," is the mantra for the top facilities.

Things change to attract talent.

No hospital is operating in a vacuum so in that sense, Midwestern's approach is similar to the industry. Midwestern is:

- Increasing visibility in schools, in the media with ads, and at job fairs.
- Becoming essentially sales-oriented in the sense that the candidate is interviewing the hospital while being interviewed themselves.
- Staying in touch with other HR departments that are not in direct competition.
- Accommodating personal schedules of candidates through more flexible part-time or convenience hours, then arranging full-time and regular part-time workers around those schedules.
- Giving instant signing bonuses to new hires.
- Beefing up employee referral with monetary awards.
- Embracing the Internet, broadening the message. Midwestern gets as many candidates off of monster.com as it does from any other single source.

Land mines?

The shortage of workers has brought to the interview table a number of otherwise unemployable people. They interview very well because they have become practiced in what HR people want to hear. Midwestern combats this in several ways including Talent Plus profiling and Top Grading. Both tests go deeper into psychological profiling of candidates to uncover candidates who are slick interviewers, but don't have the qualities to back up their talk.

HR woes?

By comparison to today, HR duties used to be simple maintenance. Today, it is an ongoing process of change on almost a daily cycle. Any employer resistant to change or "sweetening the deal" with incentives other than money is hurting more and more everyday.

What societal change will get us out of this dilemma?

Things that will help are: More participation of employers with schools, even more aggressive salary and benefit packages, training and intern programs or the "grow your own approach," student loan forgiveness program, incentive bonus and sign-on pay, continued flexibility in scheduling/time off/ work-life balance.

Hospice volunteers are needed in many areas

Hospitality and hospice have the same root meaning and include the ideas of kindness to others and of offering strangers refreshment and rest. Hospice of Northeastern Illinois (HNI) is looking for a few good men and women to serve as volunteers to offer hospitality and friendship to hospice patients and families. Due to the growing number of requests, hospice volunteers are especially needed in northern Lake County including Antioch, Fox Lake, and Grayslake.

Hospice volunteers serve in either a home setting or in a nursing home. Volunteers are like a "good friend" for the patient and family. They sit and listen, read to patients, run errands for the family, offer respite care, assist with special hospice programs such as memorial events, or offer support for family members following death. Volunteers are needed for daytime, evening and weekend hours.

Volunteers are also needed to work at HNI's Camp Courage, a day camp for children ages 6-12, who have suffered the loss of a loved one. The camp is held each July at the YMCA's

Camp Duncan in Ingleside.

All hospice volunteers receive extensive training and support. The volunteer training classes are held on a regular basis at various locations throughout the six county area that HNI serves. Volunteers must be at least 18 years of age and do not have to have any prior hospice experience or volunteer training. The classes provide training and information on the hospice philosophy of helping people with life-limiting illnesses and their families to live as fully and comfortable as possible.

The Hospice of Northeastern Illinois is a not-for-profit community-based organization specializing in meeting the needs of patients with life-limiting illnesses and their families in over 137 communities and six counties. HNI offers such programs as underinsured patient care, providing primary caregiver services for patients who wish to remain at home during their illnesses and bereavement programs.

For more information about the volunteer opportunities at Hospice of Northern Illinois, contact Jan Anstett or Janice Farrell at 381-5599.

Early treatment of eye problems is vital in children

Eighty percent of everything children learn is based on what they see. And one in four school-aged children has a vision problem. The good news: Early detection of problems may lead to successful treatment and development of normal vision because children's visual systems are still changing and maturing.

It is because of this rate of change in children's eyes that doctors recommend general eye exams be conducted by a pediatrician or family doctor in the hospital nursery, a repeat exam at six months and also at three and a half years. At this point, regular eye exams should be scheduled.

"For children, it is important to catch any vision problems as early as possible. After all, children don't necessarily know when they are not seeing properly," said Dr. Michael Lawrence Cohen, vice president, Professional Services, Sears Optical. "Undetected vision problems may affect their academic performance and possible further sight loss."

Problems can occur because children rely heavily of their visual systems. Eighty percent of everything they learn is based on what they see. Unfortunately, some vision problems in children may contribute to or be mistaken as a learning disability.

What is the likelihood that your child may have a vision problem?

- About 16 percent of all children suffer from inadequate visual skills
- Up to 94 percent of children with reading problems have reduced visual skills
- Amblyopia or "lazy eye," affects 2 or 3 of every 1000 people
- Strabismus, a visual defect in which the eyes are misaligned and point in different directions, affects nearly 4% of children in the United States. Even with the prevalence of vision problems in children, some parents don't see the need to take their children to an optometrist for eye exams because most schools provide vision screenings.

Some warning signs that your child may need vision correction include: Excessive rubbing of eyes, shuts or covers one eye, tilts or thrusts head forward, holds objects too close, squints or frowns, crossed or misaligned eyes, color photos of eyes show white reflection instead of red or no reflection, complaints of dizziness or headaches following close-up work.

Out of the mouths of babes!

Hi Dr. Singer,

We just recently had a large family gathering at our home. It was a dinner party and we had lots of relatives over. Our 5 year old son saw it as the time to tell our overweight cousin how fat she is and my very loud sister-in-law how loud she is and how my uncles cologne smells like dirty pond water. She cannot take credit for coming up with these things. These are things she has heard myself and my husband say about these people. We wanted to crawl under the table and just about did. How can we get him to stop saying these things to people? N.N.

Hi N.N.,

Ouch and double ouch! I don't think I have ever heard such a great reason for the old adage, "if you don't have something nice to say, don't say anything." Sometimes we forget, but our kids are like little tape recorders and they hear and pick up lots of things that we don't mean them to. Kids also don't really know what they are saying when they say things like that and they don't mean to hurt someone, especially at that age. Unfortunately, he just saw it as an opportunity to express what Mommy and Daddy had expressed so prominently in front of him. He probably thought he was being helpful.

The first thing I would strongly suggest is that you and your husband make an agreement that the only things you say in front of the child are nice things about others. I know we are all human and we all talk about others in not such nice ways sometimes, but we do need to limit that talk to when our kids are not around. I believe it is also a good thing to get into the habit of doing all the time anyway. When you spend your day finding the nice things about people rather than focusing on the things you don't like, it tends to make your relationships with people better and your outlook on life better in general! If you don't mention these negative things again, most likely, your son will forget them and not use them again. Just don't give him any new ammunition!

The second thing I would do is to call and

PARENT'S PLACE

apologize to the family members, assuming you haven't done that already. Most people understand that kids do say anything and everything, but if you want to make sure your relationship with these people is o.k., you may want to just do some follow-up.

Third, I would have you talk with your son and make sure to help him to see the nice things about people. I would not sit down and angrily tell him to never say those things again, because he won't understand and he will feel punished for nothing. Remember that he doesn't understand it now quite the same way you do. You may tell him that it wasn't nice of Mommy and Daddy to say those things and that it hurts people's feelings to say things like that. That is really all that needs to get said on that part of it. Next, start showing him how to look for the good and tell people nice things. These are very good social skills to teach him, because he will need them soon enough in school.

She regularly works in person with many readers of this column, helping them to significantly improve their kid's behavior and learning skills. Making a visit to the dentist easy — for children and adults

If a parent is nervous or anxious about their child's trip to the dentist, you can almost be certain that the young patient will be scared and the visit will be long remembered — and not positively.

A trip to the dentist requires a team effort involving the parent, child and dentist. To avoid conflict at the dentist's office, parents should do some advance planning, according to Alice Boghosian, DDS, general dentist.

"Parents can turn the visit into a positive experience by contacting the dentist ahead of time to discuss any concerns or anxieties, rather than waiting until the visit. As a result, the dentist can explain what is going to happen during the visit and the parent may be more relaxed on the day of the appointment," Dr. Boghosian added.

"I've had parents tell their children to 'be brave' or say, 'I'm glad it's you and not me' during a visit to my office. What they are doing is transferring their fears to the children — who pick up on things like this," said Boghosian. "I tell my patients upfront that this is going to be fun to help set the tone for the visit."

What can parents do to avoid conflict at the dentist's office? "Develop a relationship with your dentist that is built upon trust," said Boghosian. "It's imperative that parents trust their dentist's diagnosis and recommendations for treatment. Ask the dentists questions and peek in on the dentist or sit with the child during the appointment."

The Chicago Dental Society and Boghosian provide some simple advice to parents so that a trip to the dentist is painless for the child and the parents:

• Arrive on time for the appointment and don't be rushed or in a hurry. Kids need time to relax and be given the opportunity to learn — while not being rushed through the experience.

• Don't bring other children to the appointment. Make this a special day for you and your child. Plan a fun activity following the appointment. Build a positive experience around the dental visit.

• If you feel your child has a problem, bring in the child for an appointment. It is difficult for a dentist to make a diagnosis over the phone. The child must be seen so that the dentist can make a correct diagnosis.

• Don't show anxiety or fear in front of your child. Many kids are calm about the dental visits but pick up fear from the way their parents are acting — such as expressions on their faces, body language or comments.

• Let the dentist take control during the appointment. "Children need to have rules set by the dentist in a firm, yet positive way," said Boghosian. "Most dentists are very patient and know how to manage an overactive or unruly child." Sometimes the parent's presence can interfere with care, and the parent may need to leave the room. The dental appointment is a great time for children to learn to be on their own.

I tell my patients upfront that this is going to be fun to help set the tone for the visit'

• If you have a dental emergency, call the office immediately to discuss with the dentist. The goal is to make sure the child gets appropriate treatment and is not suffering from pain or experience an infection. If possible, call the dentist's office as soon as there is a problem so it doesn't turn into an emergency.

"Parents need to realize how important it is that a child have a good visit at the dentist," said Boghosian. "All it takes is one negative experience to leave a lasting impression on the child. If parents work with the child and dentist in advance, everyone will be happy and the dentist can deliver the best care possible."

Condell staffers help spearhead American Cancer Society fund-raiser

If the American Cancer Society's 2001 Relay for Life is as successful as last year's, Condell Health network again will play a key role. Condell staffers, as members of the American Cancer Society Relay for Life of GLMV (Green Oaks, Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills), helped the unit raise $400,000 net, the second-highest total in Illinois in 2000.

The Illinois Division of the Cancer Society acknowledged the GLMV team for its efforts, which resulted in a 47 percent increase over its 1999 production. Also recognized was the work of Condell nurse Andrea Herrick, RN, whose volunteer efforts helped educate 600 people through programs and activities at the GLMV Relay for Life.

Participants in Relay for Life represent families, neighborhoods, clubs, organizations or corporations. The teams walk or run on a track for 16 hours, relay style. When not taking their turn on the track, team members enjoy other activities, including education programs, games and entertainment.

The American Cancer Society expects two million people participating in 3,100 Relay for Life Events nationally to raise $188 millions this year.

The 2001 Relay for Life of GLMV is scheduled for June 9-10 at Libertyville Community High School. Other Lake County Relay for Life events are scheduled for May 19-20 in Lake Zurich; June 9-10 in Buffalo Grove; June 23-24 in Waukegan; and Aug. 4-5 in Grayslake.

For more information or to register a team, call the American Cancer Society at 432-0577.

Serving Lake County residents, Condell Health Network includes Condell

Medical Center, Condell Acute Care Centers, Centre Clubs, the innovative Condell Day Center for Intergenerational Care, Pediatric Alternatives in Creative Therapy (PACT), Condell Medical Buildings and Condell Home Health Systems.

CareCoach offers free alcohol screenings

Have you or a loved one ever had a drink to calm your nerves or to forget your worries, felt guilty about drinking or tried to cut back on your drinking but realized you couldn't? If so, you could be one of the nearly 14 million Americans who have an alcohol problem.

The CareCoach, Lake Forest Hospital's mobile healthcare unit, is here to help by providing free, anonymous screenings for alcohol problems. These will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Round Lake Community Center, 814 Hart Road and from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Wauconda Middle School, 215 Slocum Lake Road, on May 10.

Lake County residents who visit the CareCoach will be able to take a written test focusing on their own alcohol problem or the problem of a family member. After the test is complete, participants will have the opportunity to talk privately with a clinician about the results and take home free educational materials. For those who need further evaluation, referrals to local treatment and support services will be provided.

For more information about the alcohol screening or services, call 535-6709.

Being the last to buy first-rate strategy

When it comes to buying a home in a new community, there is no shortage of strategies that buyers can adopt to get the most for their housing dollar.

Some recommend buying as early as possible to take advantage of favorable pre-construction pricing. Others suggest delaying until a fair number of homes have been completed so they can get a better sense of how the community will look or tour models, but prices are still attractive.

A third strategy is to wait until a community is in its final phase, on the theory that you may pay a bit more but will know precisely what you are getting. Moreover, you'll minimize the noise, dirt and visual disruptions that accompany most construction sites.

Another scenario is to buy a home in a community that is virtually "sold out," suggests Tom Ryan, president of the Chicago division of Town & Country Homes.

"Typically, a builder will start selling model homes and closing down its sales operation at a new community when there are about 10 homes remaining."

Often what remains at that point, notes Ryan, is a handful of homes, usually completed and ready for occupancy. Those homes can present a great buying opportunity. With the community sales office closed, a builder will often list the remaining homes with a real estate agent.

Not long ago, said Ryan, many builders kept a sizable inventory of completed homes for buyers who wanted immediate occupancy. But that isn't true any more because the cost of carrying those homes on their books made it an inefficient strategy for builders.

"These closeout homes may be the best opportunity buyers today have to purchase a newly built single-family home for immediate occupancy. Along with the benefits that come form a quick move-in, closeout homes offer several financial benefits too," Ryan asserts.

• Because the community is mature, homes usually have appreciated in value enough that the builder's final prices may be below the market. Further, the builder is "a motivated seller."

• A closeout home gives you the opportunity to lock in an attractive mortgage interest rate the day you sign the sales agreement, so there are no financing surprises.

Ryan also points to several non-financial benefits of buying a closeout home. For example, professionals (at no added cost to you) will have selected the interior finishes, which are already complete in a closeout home. In addition all the community infrastructure and landscaping usually will be in place.

"That latter point is important because it means you get to fully enjoy the community from the first day you move in," said Ryan.

Zale marks 50th year

Buffalo Grove-based Zale Homes is celebrating its 50th year as one of the premier residential builders in the Chicago area.

Since 1951, Zale Homes has developed numerous communities throughout the Midwest, including Gregg's Landing, a 1,100-acre master-planned community in Vernon Hills.

"Our building philosophy has always been 'Nobody Makes You Feel More at Home' than Zale. That commitment to quality and customer service is evident in every home and community Zale Homes has built," said Leon Joffe, president of Zale Homes.

"Over the last 50 years, homebuyers have realized they get a great value with Zale Homes, and now we look forward to 50 more years of building homes and relationships with buyers."

Raised beds make gardening easier

For most people, gardening is a relaxing, outdoor activity, as much anticipated as the coming of spring. But for those of us without the requisite 'green thumb,' the stress of tending to a garden and generating flourishing produce or flowers can be a daunting task. Still for others, the simple action of bending down for a long period of time deters them from enjoying their spring pastime.

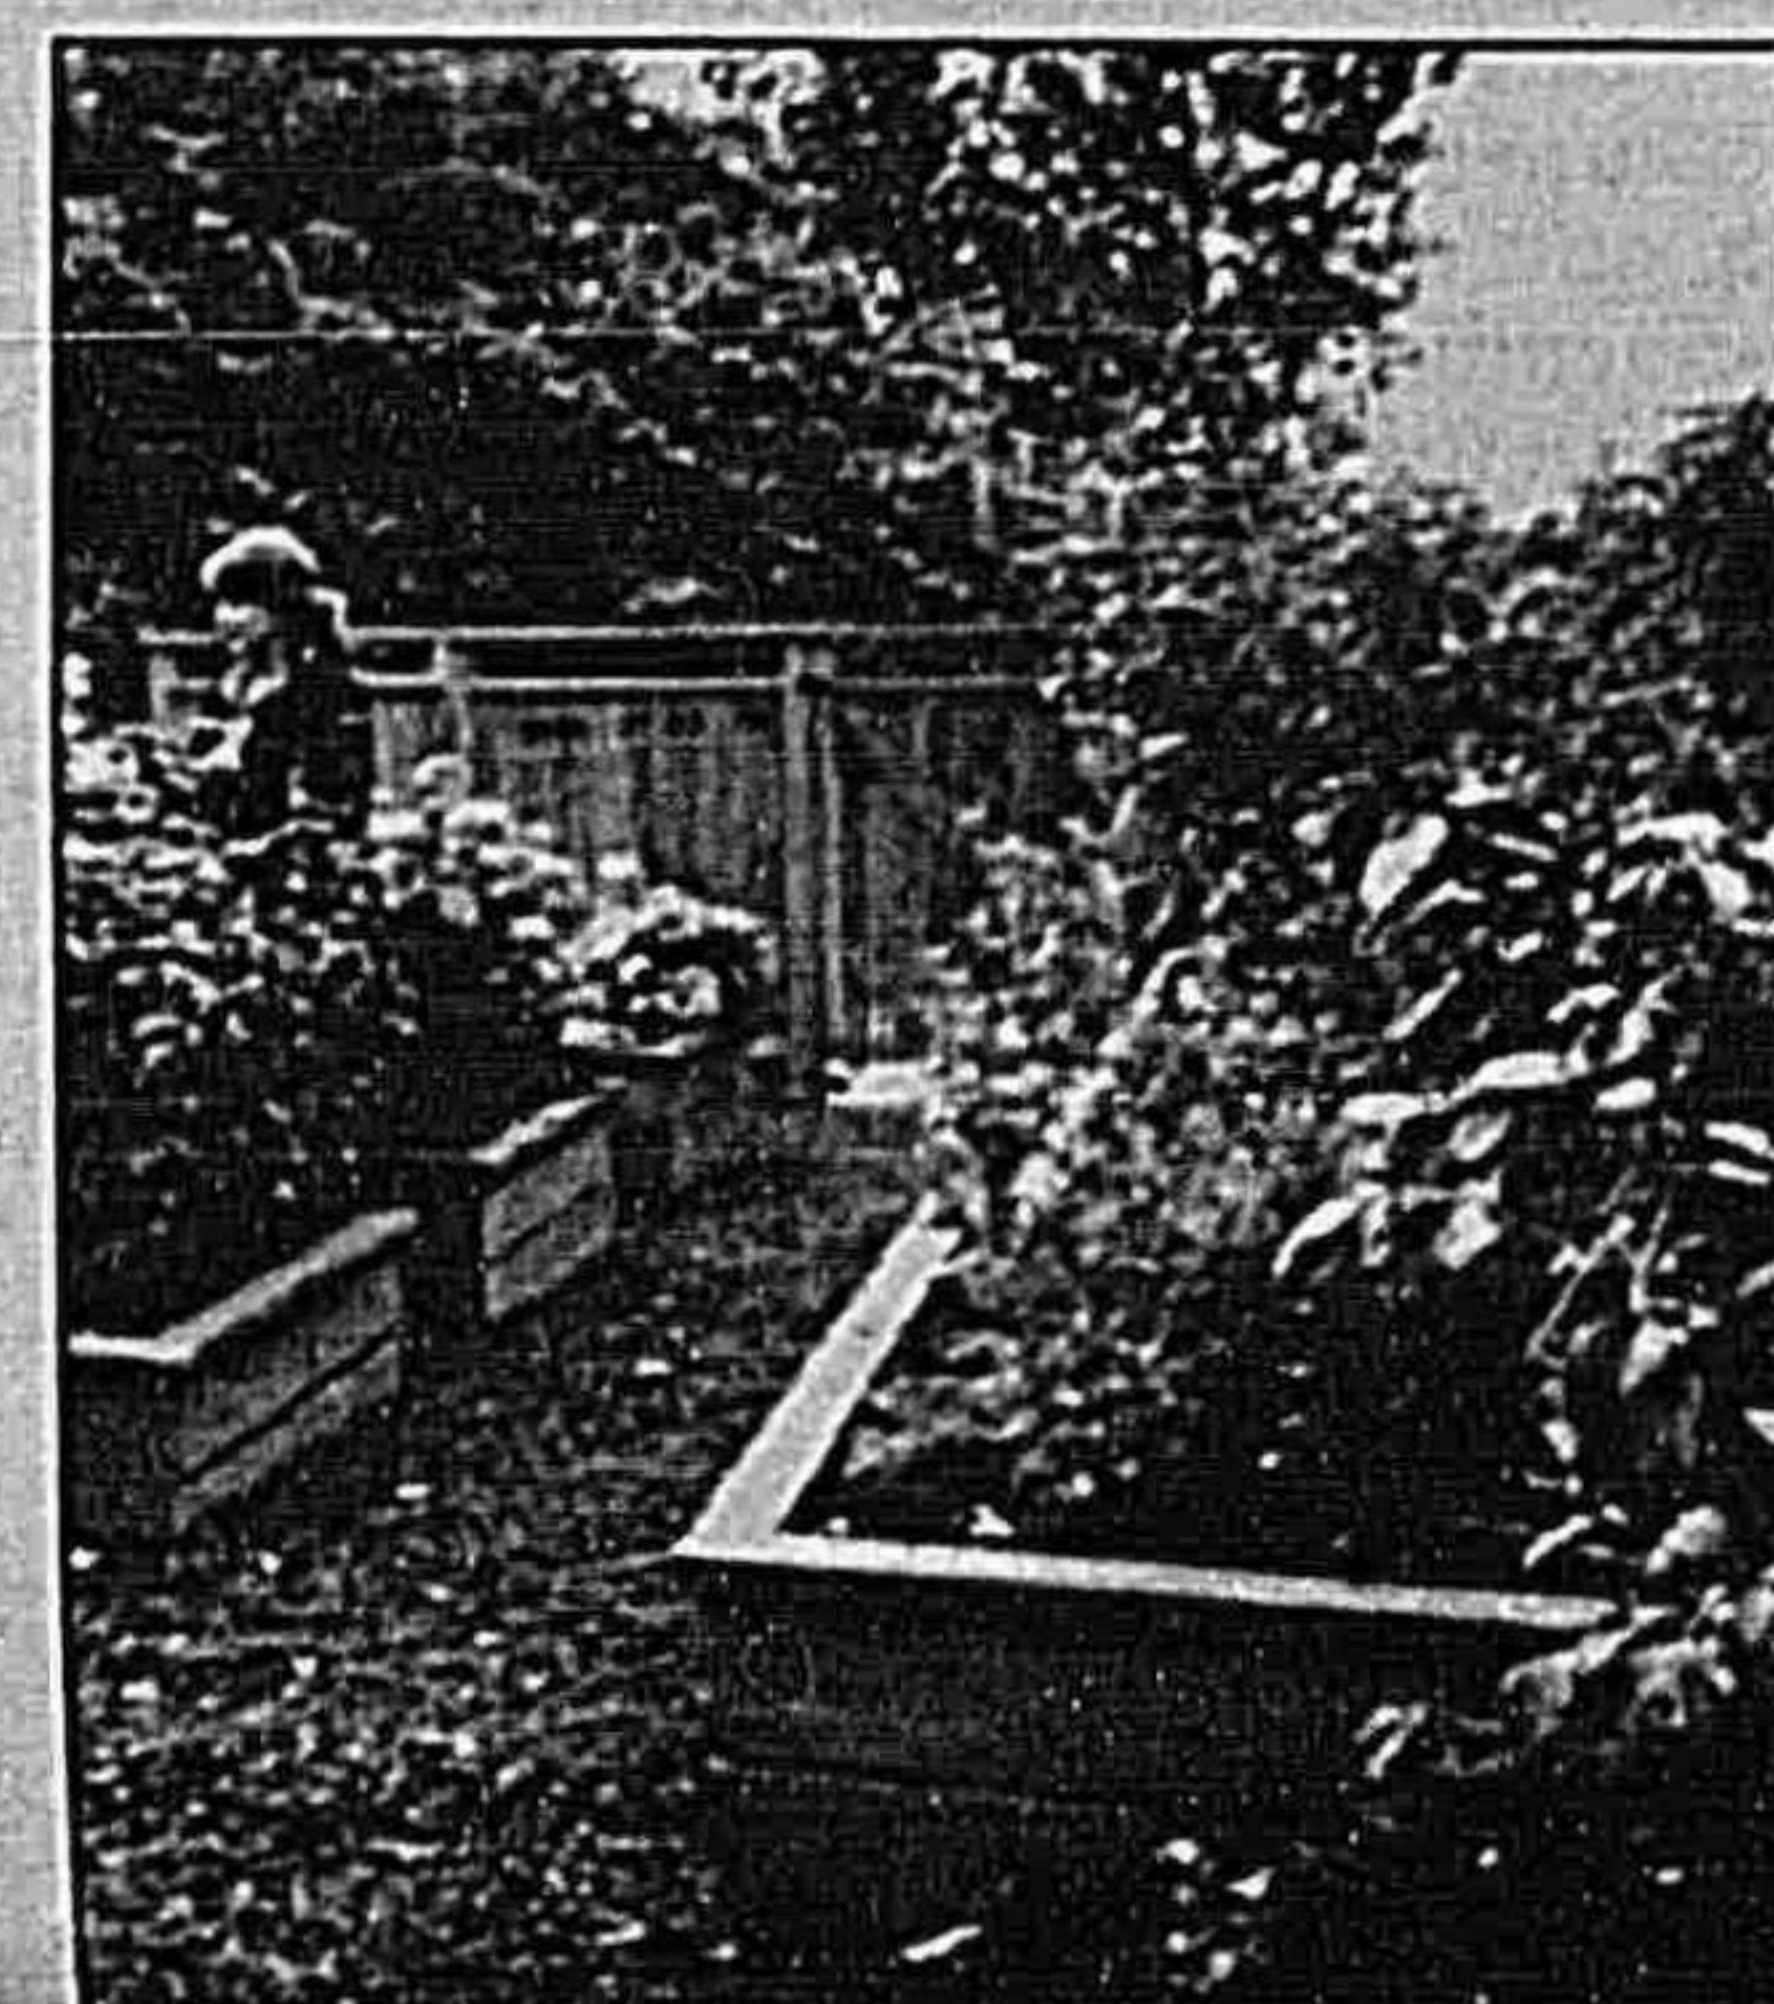

Now, a different method of gardening, called raised-bed gardening, is increasing the enjoyment for gardeners everywhere, and making this sometimes strenuous activity productive and fun. Raised-bed gardens offer gardeners a number of advantages over conventional gardening.

Because you can easily supply your own soil mix, raised beds enable you to improve the quality of the soil where it naturally has a high clay content. The raised bed can also give you a head start on planting because its soil warms earlier than ground soil. You can work in wetter weather without getting your feet muddy or compacting the garden soil, and you can do less bending as you tend your plants and pick your vegetables.

A typical raised garden consists of long beds six inches to three feet high. The beds should be no broader than you can reach, but they can extend as far as your property lines allow. The path between beds can be as narrow as 12 inches or so. To prevent mud, you can top the path with gravel or build a preserved wood walkway.

Preserved wood is an excellent material to use when building raised beds. Because of its long life and ability to resist termites and decay, pressure-treated wood is ideal for the garden.

"Some organic gardening publications have objected to the use of preserved wood in gardens because of the chemicals used to pressure-treat the wood," said Mel Pine, manager of communications for the American Wood Preservers Institute

A different method of gardening, called raised-bed gardening, is increasing the enjoyment for gardeners everywhere, and making this sometimes strenuous activity productive and fun.

(AWPI). "But research conducted by extension agents and academics in Texas found no cause for alarm."

Nevertheless, Pine added, gardeners who are concerned may line the wood with heavy-duty plastic. A plastic drop cloth normally used for painting might be one inexpensive source for the plastic liner.

Once the walls of the raised bed have been constructed, you can fill in the beds with soil and compost. Then you're set to plant.

With the efficiency of your raised-bed garden, it's likely that you'll have produce for yourself and your family, with plenty left over to share.

Gurnee Judo Club takes numbers at MAJIC

The Gurnee Judo Club, an offering of the Gurnee Park District, took home the Illinois team trophy at the Mid America Judo Interstate Championship (MAJIC) held in Fond-du-Lac, Wisc..

MAJIC is an annual competition involving 200 competitors from six states; Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, and Minnesota.

The team trophy goes to the judo club in each state with the most medals. This is the second time the club has competed at MAJIC. Gurnee Judo had more than 20 competitors in about 15 age and weight classes. Some fighters participated in more than one age or weight class. More than 30 medals were won by Gurnee Judo club members.

A form of martial art originating in Japan, Judo is an Olympic sport similar to wrestling. During a match, two opponents are matched by age and weight, going head-to-head in a grappling match that can last up to five minutes.

Particularly noteworthy was Waukegan resident Stephanie Parelo's performance. As a 16-year-old, she fought in multiple divisions, both youth and adult, taking first-place in each.

Undefeated Pat (Bone Crusher) Bokor of Gurnee thrilled the crowd with numerous big and dynamic throws. North Chicago resident Jorge Mohica, 22, a judo student only for the last three months, made his debut in tournament competition. Although legally blind, Mohica fought in the mens novice middleweight division, taking a hard-earned second-place. He won his first match with a powerful forward take-down and his second match by way of submission, choking his opponent.

Complete results included:

First Place

Robby Schultheis, boys 8-and-under light heavyweight
Michael Delima-10-and-under middleweight

Igor Fedorva-boys 12-and-under lightweight
Adam Buckley-boys 10-and-under middleweight

Stephanie Parelo, Gurnee Judo Club participant, accepts the MAJIC Illinois team trophy from Gurnee Park District Director Chuck Balling.

Atoms Food Drive a success

Lake County Atoms hockey players from the Lake County Youth Ice Hockey Association (LCYIHA) held a food drive to collect non-perishable food items to donate to the food pantries operated by Catholic Charities Lake County Services and Christian Outreach of Lutherans (COOL). An estimated 300 pounds of food was collected, with boxes for the collection donated by Pick 'N Save grocery store in Waukegan.

Numerous families in the organization made generous contributions. In addition, during the Power Play Tournament hosted by the Atoms, the nine visiting teams, some from as far away as Champaign, Rockford and Milwaukee, contributed non-perishable food items in lieu of admission to the games. The visitors thought it was a unique approach that was a unique approach that was well received.

"We think it was very successful, especially for a first attempt," commented Food Drive organizer, Noelle Kischer.

LCYIHA offers a variety of learn-to-skate and ice hockey programs for boys and girls ages 4-18. Atoms participants come from all over Lake County and southern Wisconsin. The Atoms home rinks are Lake County sports Center in Waukegan, and Rinkside sports in Gurnee, at Gurnee Mills. For information about LCYIHA or the Atoms, please visit their web site at www.atomshockey.org or call Lake County Sports Center at 336-7444.

CLC NOTES

Mousetrap boat contest

Engineering students at the College of Lake County will be challenged to construct a boat powered only by a mousetrap at the "Mousetrap Boat Competition" on April 18. The contest will begin at noon in the main lobby of the Grayslake Campus.

Winners will be determined by the maximum distance each boat travels in a 2.75-meter water trough. Although the contest is primarily designed for students, the competition is open to everyone. Cash awards, ranging from $50-$100, will be presented to the first three finishers in the CLC student category, and gift certificates in the open division.

The event is designed to spark creative thinking and bring engineering theories to life. The engineering club has sponsored other competitions, including the popular mousetrap car contest, pasta bridge building contest and the egg drop contest.

Viewing of the event is open to the public. For information, call 543-2044.

World religions featured

"Religions of the World" will be the theme for the 2001 Cultural Day of Sharing hosted by the College of Lake County's student activities program board on April 16. The program will be held from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. in the main lobby of the Grayslake Campus. The event is free and open to the public.

The highlight of the program will be a presentation at 12:15 p.m. by guest speaker Ron Miller, chairman of Lake Forest college's department of religion. The topic of his speech is "Religious Differences and Commonalities: How they impact our lives." Following his presentation, Miller will join CLC philosophy faculty members Edwin George and Leslie Hopkins for a follow-up panel discussion. The event also will include information tables representing different world religions, including Native American, Judaism, Buddhism, Catholic, Church of Jesus Christ of latter-day Saints, Orthodox Christian, Islam and Jehovah's Witnesses.

For information call 543-2290.

Native-American Pow Wow

The College of Lake County will host the seventh annual traditional Native-American pow wow from 11 a.m.-7 p.m. (grand entry at noon) April 21 in the Physical Education Center, Building 7, at CLC's Grayslake Campus.

Activities will include lectures on Native American culture, dance demonstrations, an arts and crafts show, storytelling and sampling of Native-American food. Tickets are $4 for adults, 42 for children 6-12 years old and free for children under age 5 and for senior citizens over age 65.

Shakespeare's birthday

Live music, poetry readings, dance, costumes and a birthday cake will be the highlights of the celebration of William Shakespeare's birthday at the College of Lake County from noon-4 p.m., April 25 in the atrium of the Grayslake Campus. Admission is free and open to the public.

Sponsored by CLC's literary arts club, the program will include guest performer Stacey Hicks and videos from "King Lear," "Romeo Juliet," "Shakespeare in Love," and "A Midsummer Night's Dream." A display of books, costumes, recipes, photos and models of the Globe and Curtain Theatres will provide a glimpse of the Elizabethan era. Community residents are invited to share their favorite bit of Shakespeare with the audience. Costumes are encouraged. For information, call 223-0398 or 543-2287.

Trip to Alaska

The student activities office at the College of Lake County will sponsor a 10-day trip to Alaska from June 1-10. Titled "Alaskan Adventure," the trip will be led by Ron Riepe, a geology professor at CLC.

Trip activities will include a boat excursion to Prince William Sound to see 26 alpine and tidewater glaciers; a bus and hiking tour of Denali National Park; hiking to the Matanuska glacier; and visits to the Alaska Native Heritage Center, Iditarod headquarters, Hatcher

Pass Gold Mine state park, Anchorage Cultural Museum, native guild shops and more.

The cost is $1,700. A deposit of $850 must be made by April 26, with the balance due by May 10. The cost includes round-trip air transportation on United Airlines and lodging at the University of Alaska-Anchorage dormitory and cottages near Denali National Park. Meals are not included in the cost.

For more information and to receive an application, contact Riepe at 543-2491 or e-mail to riepe@clc.cc.il.us

Big Band Jazz Concert

The College of Lake County's Monday and Tuesday Night Jazz Ensembles will present an evening of big band jazz music on April 25. The free concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Mainstage Theatre on the Grayslake Campus. The program also will feature vocalist Heather Hayden of Zion. The concert will be directed by music instructor Bruce Mack. For information, call 543-2300.

Continuing workshops

Seats are open in three workshops offered by the continuing education office at the College of Lake County in April. They are:

April 21 - "How to buy and sell a horse" from 9 a.m.-noon at Windrose Farm, 11801 120th Ave., Pleasant Prairie, Wis. Equine expert Dawn Atlas will cover all the requirements needed for buying and selling a horse. She will cover boarding and stabling a horse, home-based care and common misunderstandings. The cost is $25.

April 28 - "Handwriting analysis" from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at CLC's Grayslake Campus. Through the study of handwriting, you can discover unique characteristics and aptitudes regarding yourself and others. The cost is $39, plus $15 for the textbook.

April 28 - "Buying and selling a home" from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. at CLC's Grayslake Campus. The workshop will cover information you need to know about purchasing and selling a home, including purchase qualification, negotiation, attorney selection, closure, competitive pricing, preparing your home for sale, working with realtors and appraisers and more. The cost is $35.

To register by phone, dial 223-1111. For course information, call 543-2726.

Importing seminar

Small business owners and international buyers can learn about the legal, technical and business aspects of importing in a seminar titled "Importing into the U.S." from 8:30 a.m.-noon, April 26 in Room C003 at the College of Lake County's Grayslake Campus. The cost is $30. For information call 543-2033.

Department/Community Health Center encourages County residents to become more aware of their water resources, especially their drinking water. The Health Department encourages all users of private water wells to take this time to have their drinking water tested to see if it meets drinking water standards for bacteria and nitrates.

"We encourage well owners to have their water tested annually," said Dale Galassie, executive director of the Health Department. "What better time to do it than during Drinking Water and National Groundwater Awareness Week."

As an incentive, from May 1 through 15, the normal $14 analysis fee for drinking water testing will be reduced to $10, though no one will be refused due to an inability to pay.

People can pick up sterile test bottles to be filled and returned for analysis at specific Health Department offices. Results of water sample analyses are ready for homeowners in approximately three working days. If people are uncomfortable with collecting samples themselves, Health Department staff are available to go out to homes to collect the sample for a $40 fee, which includes an inspection of the well and the lab analysis. Other tests available are fluoride, iron and total dissolved solids.

Test bottles are available at the following Lake County Health Department offices:

3010 Grand Ave., Waukegan. Phone 360-6740. 118 S. Main St., Wauconda. Phone 526-1125. 121 E. Grand Ave., Lake Villa. Phone 356-6222.

For further information on water testing, call the Health Department office closest to you. All offices are open from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday-Friday.

procedure, OUI enforcement, first aid and CPR and firearm qualification. Utilization of this training by Marine Unit deputies during the season has enabled them to effectively enhance enforcement efforts on the various waterways patrolled by the Unit.

The deputy personnel man and operate four patrol boats based on the Chain, two on Lake Michigan, and two others which may be transported by trailer to other inland lakes on a rotational or as needed basis. To supplement these patrol boats, six personal watercraft were utilized throughout the season. These watercraft were obtained on governmental loan agreements with the SEA, Polaris and Outboard Marine (OMC) Corporations.

The specially trained deputies operating these watercraft conducted 200 service calls, 90 safety boardings and issued 70 citations during the 2000 season. This specialized training allowed Marine Unit deputies operating personal watercraft to apply other law enforcement skills to accomplish the overall mission of the Lake County Sheriff's Office Marine Unit—to ensure the safety of all users of the waterways in Lake County.

FACILITY

The integrated approach allows health-care workers to more easily share insights and resources.

This consolidated approach is noteworthy because, according to Dave Schanding, Director of Behavioral Health Services, "About 50-70 percent of those with mental illness are also substance abusers."

Schanding talked about the progress that has been made in treating the mentally ill, as well as the need for vocational services to be readily available to those who have been under treatment.

"In the past, if someone (with mental illness) was considered doing well, he would sit home, smoke cigarettes and watch TV," he said. "If he was not doing so well, he would sit home, smoke cigarettes and have hallucinations."

Because of fears about the clientele, there was some difficulty in obtaining building permits from the City of Waukegan. After the health department made its case for the facility, backed by the support of the Lake County Board, the permits were granted.

"Consolidating services is good for the clients and it's good for the local tax base," Galassie noted.

Galassie expressed his thanks to the County Board for its financial vote of confidence in the project.

Suzi Schmidt, County Board Chairwoman, was on hand at the building dedication on April 11.

The day treatment and vocational programs are expected to relocate into the facility by the end of April, while the residential services are expected to be operational by mid-May.

sign-language interpreter, audio-taped services.

Accessibility—The changes of faith community made or is making so that their physical building is more accessible for persons with disabilities. Examples: accessible parking; ground floor meetings; accessible bathroom; ramp to altar/chancel/bema.

To enter, write a one-to-two-page essay about the nominated place of worship's inclusion efforts, and indicate which of the three categories these efforts address. Each entry must include the name, address and telephone number of applicant's place of worship; name of the faith community's religious leader; and applicant's name and title. Entries should be e-mailed to kelli_moore@pathwaysawareness.org, faxed to (312) 701-3039 or mailed to Pathways Awareness Foundation, 123 N. Wacker Dr., Suite 900, Chicago, IL 60606. Entries are due by 5 p.m. on Friday, June 15.

The Open Hearts, Open Minds, Open Doors inclusion movement was started by Pathways Awareness Foundation five years ago in partnership with the Chicago Roman Catholic Archdiocese. The movement now reaches all faith communities. For example, Pathways works with the Council of Religious Leaders, a Chicago interfaith organization, and the Chicago Board of Rabbis.

Pathways Awareness Foundation began in 1988 as an educational and informational arm of the Pathways Center, which provides physical therapy for children with movement differences such as cerebral palsy. The Foundation's mission is to heighten public and professional awareness about early detection, early intervention and inclusion of children, youths and adults of all abilities. For more information, call Pathways at (800) 955-2445 or (312) 701-3050.
